THE NEW TRINITY.

A GREAT DAY FOR TRINITY AND DURHAM.

The Laying of the Corner-Stone of the College With Imposing Ceremonies—A Great Crowd of Distinguished Men Do Honor to the Occasion.

Yesterday was a day which will always be marked as a notch in the calendar of the history of Trinity College. It was the day upon which the old book of history was opened and its Genesis written.

The laying of the corner-stone of that noble institution which is to be transplanted from its present field of usefulness to one of broader and wider possibilities was an event fraught with both profound and tender interest to the Methodist people of North Carolina. That interest was manifested by the outpouring of the people who love the institution which was witnessed at Durham yesterday. The pillars of the Methodist Church were there, the trustees and members of the faculty of the institution and even the young men who are students and expect to be students, all drawn there by a simultaneous impulse to witness the launching of Trinity upon the new ocean of her career. Durham was filled to overflowing and the greatest interest was taken in the occasion especially by the good people of Durham.

VISITORS FROM RALEIGH.

The morning train took a good delegation from Raleigh, the party arriving in Durham at 9:30 o'clock. Among those on board were Hon. D. W. Bain, Hon. S. M. Finger, Rev. Dr. F. L. Reid, Rev. Dr. W. S. Black, Messrs. William Simpson, Jos. G. Brown, J. A. Jones, H. M. Cowan, D. S. Waitt, J. C. Beavers, Rev. Dr. J. B. Bobbitt, Capt. Blake, R. H. Bradley, Hon. John Robinson, Mr. L. O. Lougee, Mr. Josephus Daniels, Mr. Greek O. Andrews.

GOVERNOR JARVIS

had arrived the night before and Gen. Vance and a number of other distinguished gentlemen came down on the noon train from Greensboro. Among those present were Grand Master S. H. Smith of the Grand Lodge of Masons, Hon. Paul C. Cameron, Hon. J. M. Leach, Hon. Kemp P. Battle, Prof. Geo. H. Winston, Dr. B. F. Dixon, Prof. N. C. English, Rev. Dr. M. L. Wood, Prof. O. W. Carr, Rev. M. V. Sharp, Rev. W. S. Davis, R. T. Gray, Esq.

TAKING A GLIMPSE OF DURHAM.

The programme having been arranged for the exercises to begin at 1:30 o'clock, the visitors spent the morning in going over the sights of Durham which was well worth the time. They were courteously shown through the great enterprises which make Durham famous the world over.

As the hour approached for the procession the crowd began to collect on Main street and brilliantly uniformed organizations began to fall into the line.

THE PROCESSION.

About 2 o'clock the line of parade was formed and moved off along Main street toward the college campus, which is about three-quarters of a mile distant beyond Duke's factory, and just to the right of the North Carolina Railroad.

The procession was headed by the Chief of Police, Chief Marshal Jas. H. Southgate and his staff mounted. The Durham band followed, gorgeously uniformed and discoursing inspiring strains. The Durham Fire Department, which made a most splendid array, came next. They were followed by the Masonic and other organizations as follows: The Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina who were in charge of the ceremonies of the day, the two lodges of Odd Fellows of Durham, the lodges of Knights Templar of Durham, Raleigh and Greensboro, the order of Knights of Pythias of Durham. All looked splendid in their brilliant and showy uniforms. The procession was brought up by a large number of carriages containing the speakers of the day, distinguished visitors, officers and citizens and ladies of Durham. The procession was half a mile long and made one of the handsomest parades ever seen in North Carolina.

The parade moved out Main street past Duke's factory to the campus, where a large elevated platform had been erected around the foundation of the building at the corner at which the corner-stone was to be laid. The platform was soon crowded and many who could not get places upon it stood around.

THE CORNER-STONE LAID.

The crowd at the corner-stone laying was immense. The gathering was made up largely of ladies who had come out in carriages by scores, the weather being beautiful. The number present at the ceremony of laying the corner-stone was variously estimated at from 2,500 to 4,000 people.

When the crowd had fully assembled the ceremony began.

The officers of the Grand Lodge of Masons who were present and participating in the ceremonies were as

ADORNED WITH A WREATH.

After the Masonic ceremonies Miss Lalla Carr gracefully placed a beautiful wreath of flowers around the corner-stone and on behalf of the Methodist Female Seminary invoked the blessings of heaven upon Trinity College.

The corner-stone was then laid in its proper position and the following documents and articles were deposited in it:

The Masonic Code of North Carolina, proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Masons of 1890, a copy of the NEWS AND OBSERVER of November 11th, 1890, a copy of the State Chronicle of November 11th, 1890, a copy of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, a copy of Turner's Almanac of 1891, programme of the graduating exercises of Trinity College 1890, Trinity College catalogues for several years, blank diplomas of Trinity College, report of President of Trinity College to the North Carolina Conference 1887-88, official blanks in use at Trinity College, address of Trustees, invitation to laying of corner-stone, copy of State Chronicle containing account of Trinity commencement of 1890, sundry papers, documents and coins.

The stone was laid in the presence of a vast multitude. Messrs. J. S. Carr and W. Duke, the generous donors of the site and the building, and many others of Durham's generous people who had contributed to bring Trinity to Durham stood by to see the impressive ceremony performed.

Immediately after the corner-stone was laid Col. E. J. Parrish introduced Dr. J. F. Crowell.

GEN. VANCE'S ADDRESS.

Dr. Crowell, in appropriate words, introduced the first speaker, Gen. R. B. Vance, who delivered the Masonic address. Dr. Crowell said he was glad to see such an outpouring of the people present on this occasion. It meant more than idle curiosity. It meant that a warm interest was felt in this occasion, which was one of momentous import for Trinity College.

Dr. Crowell then presented Gen. Vance. He said that he was glad to have the opportunity of addressing this audience. Such an audience was an inspiration. At almost made him feel like shouting.

The speaker congratulated Trinity College upon the great interest that had been manifested in her today.

He then proceeded to deliver a learned, ornate and polished address on Masonry, its operations and its functions. He said that its foundations were dug from the foot of Mount Moriah.

He spoke of the history of the great order from its ancient origin down to the present time. His description of the Temple of Solomon was classic and beautiful.

His words of panegyric and eulogy of the Masonic order in closing were eloquent and beautiful. He characterized Masonry as the handmaid of religion. His illustrations were appropriate and pathetic and his language ornate and well chosen.

GOV. JARVIS' ADDRESS.

Dr. Crowell presented Gov. Jarvis who he said had for years been a builder up of the State. He also mentioned that the site where the building would stand was the gift of Mr. J. S. Carr and that the building was the gift of Mr. W. Duke.

Gov. Jarvis said that the materials of which this building would be constructed would be durable but they were perishable. But the good work done in it would last forever. The work of Craven, of Crowell, of Duke and of Carr would be seen by good fruits for time immemorial. Youth will come to this institution from palace and cottage to be taught and instructed. The teaching of these untutored youths is a great task but the result is priceless. We give deserved praise to architects, sculptors and artists. But they only give form to inanimate matter. How much more should we give praise to those who shape the mind.

May the time come when they will be the most beloved and honored of our fellow-citizens. Among the educators of the past, Braxton Craven stood in the front rank. He gave Trinity his life work, and when he laid it down crowned with honor and success, a Crowell was found to take it up. Noble and patriotic friends came to his rescue. The names and deeds of these good men will always interest the friends of Trinity and form an important part of its history.

The Old Trinity of Randolph has done a great work. But a feeling has grown up among its friends that its field of usefulness may be enlarged by moving it here, and we are here today to transplant this noble institution.

Gov. Jarvis appealed to those who had opposed the removal to join now in carrying on the great work started by Craven among the hills of Randolph. Those who assisted with their means were helping to break the shackles of ignorance and to lift up their fellow men.

In consequence of generous gifts Wake Forest was enabled to send out an increased number of trained and educated young men. What has been done for Wake Forest may be done for Trinity. I appeal to our Methodist friends to gather around their college and make it a great institution. All should give according to their means. It is within the power of the Methodists of North Carolina to richly endow this college. It only requires a united and determined effort.

Gov. Jarvis closed with a powerful appeal for Trinity, urging that North Carolina ought to have a great Methodist College. He urged that all Methodists should give and continue to give till the good work of this institution should grow to proportions that would live long after this corner-stone had crumbled and been scattered to the four winds of heaven.

At the close of Gov. Jarvis' address the vast crowd dispersed just as the beautiful autumn day was closing—a day that will long be remembered in the annals of Trinity College and of Durham.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The Durham Knights Templar, in full uniform, acted as escort to the Grand Lodge of Masons, and presented a handsome appearance. Among those who appeared in uniform in the procession were Messrs. J. S. Carr, J. H. Southgate and E. J. Parrish. Mr. J. H. Southgate was in command of the order.

All of Durham took a holiday in the afternoon for the big occasion, and all stores and places of business closed their doors.

The street cars were put on extra double duty, and did good service in carrying the crowd out to the college site. The track runs out to that point, and cars ran at intervals of about five minutes, and all of them were packed and jammed.

The Durham lodge of Knights of Pythias is one of the most handsomely uniformed organizations that we have seen. Their costumes are showy and stylish and their helmets and plumes are strikingly handsome. Altogether they are an exceptionally handsome set of fellows.

Mr. Billings, formerly of Raleigh, is now in charge of the Hotel Clairborn at Durham, and extended a warm welcome and hospitality to the Raleigh visitors yesterday. He is conducting a first-class and successful hotel.

The assistant marshals to Col. J. H. Southgate were Messrs. T. B. Fuller, R. D. Blackall, R. E. Carr, H. J. Bass, W. M. Morgan, J. F. Schenck, R. C. Cox, J. F. Wiley and L. A. Carr.

The following is the inscription on the Trinity corner-stone: "Trinity College, founded 1859, removed 1891." The stone is of green granite from the quarry of Mr. R. E. Lyon, near Durham.

A beautiful plan of the main building was exhibited on the speaker's stand by Mr. S. L. Leary, the architect. The dimensions of the main building will be 50x208 feet. It will have three stories and a basement.

The principal streets were all a-flutter with gorgeous bunting, flags, ribbons, streamers and decorations. Durham took stock in the occasion all over and did the thing right.

The writer had the opportunity yesterday of going over those mammoth and world renowned industries, the Blackwell Tobacco Factory and the Duke Cigarette Factory. Each is a marvel and a hive of swift, lightning-like activity.

At the Blackwell Factory, Mr. Ed Heart, Mr. Jule Carr's gentlemanly private secretary, showed us all over the building and initiated us into the details of its wonderful mechanism from top to bottom. Here the whole process of manufacturing smoking tobacco may be seen from the gigantic piles of 150,000 pounds of the ground weed down to the machine that makes bags faster than you can pick them up and the boys who tie up the packages quicker than a cat can wink its eye.

At the Duke cigarette factory the wonderful sleight-of-hand performances which are carried on every day were witnessed in full blast. Here between three and four million cigarettes are made daily and they are all handled and packed by the hands in the factory with marvelous skill and expertness. A room full of girls are engaged in putting up the cigarettes in packages of ten, but they never count them. They pick up a hand full and tell by the weight and feeling whether they have the right number or not. Then they shove them into the package, when they are turned over to the small boys who chuck them into pasteboard boxes of fifty each so fast that it makes your head swim. The machine which makes the cigarettes is a most wonderful invention, and there are twenty-eight of them in operation. The Duke factory made one hundred and one million cigarettes during October.

The Trinity foot-ball team was on the ground, including Tom Daniels and some of his brag players, but as it was late before they could begin playing they did not play their game out. The boys are in fine trim and have bookings to play some fine teams at the north shortly.

EVERY ONE IN JAIL.

All the Peace Officers in Graham, Texas.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—A dispatch from Graham, Texas, says: Every peace officer in this county is in jail, having been indicted by the United States grand jury for participation, either actively or passively, in the famous mob which assaulted the jail to hang three murderers. The trial of three members of the mob is going on. Twenty-five special United States deputies guard the jail, but the town is full of determined citizens armed with Winchester's, who say the United States Court may convict but their neighbors shall not suffer the penalty. The riot will be precipitated by conviction.

The Sugar Trust.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Judge Pratt this morning appointed as receivers for the sugar trust, Gen. Henry W. Slocum, Henry O. Havemeyer and S. V. White.

The court orders the trustees to absolutely desist and refrain from any further management or interference with the business or prosperity of the trust, and also from exercising any power over corporations composing the trust. The court forbids the removal from the stand of any property of the trust, except in ordinary course of business of said corporation, severally and respectively. The bond is $500,000 each, with two or more sureties.

Judge Pratt directs that the trustees deliver to the receivers every book of account, entry or memorandum relating to the property or business of the sugar trust, and their servants are commanded to transfer and deliver to the receivers muniments of title, evidences of indebtedness, evidences of rights, certificates of stock, books of account, entries and memoranda; the servants are also directed to make full and complete statements. The court continues in force the original injunction restraining the Central Trust Co. from reorganizing the trust.

LA LIBERTAD, San Salvador, via Galveston, Nov. 11.—On the evening of the 9th inst. a part of the garrison at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was incited by Gen. San Salvador has, up to the present time, remained neutral.

Ten persons were killed and eight injured.

A Correction.

Cor. of the News and Observer.
TAYLORSVILLE, N. C., Nov. 10.
I noticed in your daily of one day last week giving Senators and Representatives that were instructed by their conventions to support Senator Vance for re-election you give the name of Senator White with Senator Turner of his 34th Senatorial, but say that our Representative, Thos. F. Murdock, Esq., was not instructed. This is a mistake. He was instructed by resolution passed in the county convention nominating him, and he accepted, and made county canvass, stating this instruction, and said he would take pleasure, if elected, in carrying this out.

I want correction made for him—that he was instructed and will cheerfully support Senator Vance.

Was there ever such a victory before? We elected our entire county ticket by between 400 and 500 majority, while we have had an Independent Clerk Superior Court for eight years and an Independent for Sheriff four years. Our county gave the judicial ticket near 500 majority.

A MONEY CRISIS.

A SERIES OF FINANCIAL CRASHES IN NEW YORK.

Failures of Members of the Stock Exchange and Prominent Business Houses in New York—Banks in Tight Places and Getting Shaky.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Wall street, 10:30 a. m.—Charles M. Whitney, a prominent member of the Stock Exchange has just suspended. The firm is composed of Chas. M. Whitney, Edwin S. Larchar and Frank M. Larchar. The assignment was made to Geo. W. Gunlard. No preferences. The firm represents here the Whitney National Bank of New Orleans and other Southern financial institutions.

There is a preference in favor of Maria Louisa Whitney, as guardian of Morgan Whitney, to the full amount of her claim, which is not stated.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—In answer to an Associated Press inquiry, the Whitney National Bank has issued the following statement with reference to the Whitney failure at New York:

The President and Directors of the Whitney National Bank officially state that the suspension of C. M. Whitney & Co., of New York, only effects the Whitney Bank to the extent of two hundred and thirty-five dollars and sixty-one cents.

The Whitney Bank is not now, nor has ever directly or indirectly been interested in the firm of C. M. Whitney & Co., or their transactions. A small complimentary account has been kept with C. M. Whitney & Co., the National Bank of Commerce being the New York correspondent of the Whitney National Bank. C. M. Whitney is a large stockholder in the bank which although comparatively a new one, has been one of the most successful here. Whitney is also interested in the Whitney Iron Works, and the Banker, Stoo & Co. saddlery firm, but both concerns claim that they are not affected by the failure.

The failure of John T. Walker & Son, importers of silks and furs, 81 Pine street, was announced today. The cause was the inability of Nightingale Bros. & Knight, of Paterson, N. J., silk manufacturers, to liquidate their liability to the firm. According to Assignee Ryles, the Paterson firm owes the estates of Walker & Son $410,000, of which $100,000 is over due. The active capital of Walker & Son for the past two years has been about $300,000, so that they were unable to withstand the loss arising from the non-payment of Nightingale Bros. & Knight. The firm has been carrying this heavy load for the past four years, and whenever the Paterson firm was unable to meet its obligations it was taken care of. Owing to the light money market and the suspicion concerning silk "paper," caused by several recent failures, the firm was unable to get its usual accommodations and suspended payment. The liabilities are about $1,100,000, and the normal assets about $1,300,000, composed of $500,000 in merchandise and $500,000 worth of accounts and bills receivable, of which over $400,000 is due from Nightingale Bros. & Knight. The firm is composed of John T. Walker, John W. Combs and Jos. Walker. Wm. T. Ryle is the assignee.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 11.—The stock brokerage firm of Narr and Friend, of this city, suspended today. They say that their embarrassment was caused by the continued drains produced by the active market of the past ten days.

Failure of Decker, Howell & Co.
By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Just after 2:15 p. m. the failure of Decker, Howell & Co., of 44 Broadway, was announced on the Stock Exchange. They made an assignment to Wm. Nelson Cromwell. The firm was one of the largest on the exchange.

It is estimated that the liabilities of Decker & Co. are about ten millions, and the assets at present market price largely exceed that sum.

The failure of David Richmond was also announced on the stock exchange.

Banks in a Tight Place.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Rumors of trouble among the banking institutions were current all day, but no one paid much heed to them, thinking that they were the usual emanations of the bear minds. After the close, however, it was learned that three banks which were members of the New York clearing house association were unable to settle the claims of other banks against them. There was a balance against bank of North America of $1,400,000, which it was unable to settle. Other banks are in straits, thought to be due to the failures today.
