S. A. ASHE, T. R. JERNIGAN, EDITORS.

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1891.

THE NEWS AND OBSERVER has a larger bona fide circulation than any other newspaper published either at the Capital or elsewhere in the State.

The telegram sent out from Winston that Col. Andrews had been appointed first Vice-President of the R. & D. R. R., system is a mistake, and we are glad to know that Col. Andrews, who has been so very active in railroad building in North Carolina, is still to have his headquarters here.

THE farmers of North Carolina will not believe that they have been ruled by "political bosses." Those who wish to confess their own servility should be careful not to impute to our sturdy people a condition of servitude. There can be no congeniality in being associated with any man who publicly acknowledges that he has worn the yoke of political bondage in this free State of ours.

THE Republicans of Ohio begin their State campaign with a clean cut issue on the tariff question. There is no qualification of their position on the subject. The speeches of their candidates and the platform adopted squarely and unconditionally commit them in favor of high protection.

WHEN Senator Carlisle was recently interviewed, by some members of the late Cincinnati Convention, on the subject of the government owning the railroads, he asked one or two questions himself which presented the whole subject very forcibly.

THE REPUBLICANS OPPOSE BOTH. The fact that many Democrats believe that the tariff question should be given the greater prominence in the Presidential campaign next year, should not be accepted as equivalent to the opinion that the free coinage of silver is not also a question of great importance.

THE opening of the new Federal Court of Appeals in Richmond last week was an event of national importance. The creation of this court makes a more radical change in the Judiciary department of our government than any made during the century.

IN calling attention to the report of the committee investigating the affairs of the University, we wish to say, what we have proposed to say at greater length hereafter, that the report accords with our view of the affairs of that Institution.

THE Turnings and Twisting of the Treasurer. The turnings and twistings just now of Secretary Foster, the Treasurer of the richest country in the world, to add ever so little to his stock of available funds, form one of the most curious spectacles in financial history.

CHRISTINE Nilsson entertained at dinner not long ago, the two divas, Patti and Albani, and the three queens of song were attired in the sumptuous simplicity of the Valois or Tudor period.

LARGE MEETING IN MORGANTON

In Honor of Jefferson Davis--Hon. Thos. W. Mason and Col. T. S. Kenan the Speakers--Veterans in Line.

Cor. of the NEWS AND OBSERVER. Responsive to Gov. Gordon's call the Burke folks at once moved in behalf of the people's monument to the late President of the Confederacy, and at a preliminary meeting held some weeks ago, arranged to give all Confederate veterans who should attend on the 18th of June a good dinner, and for speakers on the occasion extended invitations to Hon. Thomas W. Mason and Col. T. S. Kenan.

Col. Samuel McD. Tate was marshal of the day and in command of the veterans, who numbered about sixty. S. A. Bristol, the worthy Postmaster of the town, was in immediate command and gave the marching orders. The ladies without whom this community does nothing worthy of note were present in full force and occupied the bar of the court house.

Mr. Mason was the first speaker and held the crowd for more than an hour, speaking from full notes or by an occasional glance at prepared manuscript. He greatly pleased and impressed the people and at once was put in the list of Burke's favorites among the public men of the State.

His manner and pose is not unlike Ransom's; though he does not so well as that speaker understand the value of the pause in oratory. Owing to this fact, he does not seek applause, Mr. Mason does not receive from his audience that reciprocity of feeling which they have under his glowing words and which they were but too glad to show were he but to signify by proper pauses that they might do so.

Yet frequently they took the bit in their teeth and out ran him in the sentence, cheering vociferously his fair and noble praise of the dead chief--valiant fighter, staid statesman, chery comrade, patient sufferer that he was.

SUMMARY OF HIS SPEECH. He opened with a pleasant allusion to the connection of Mr. Davis with the city of New Orleans, where he died and is buried. It was there he took command of that celebrated regiment, the Mississippi Rifles, whose conduct and discipline saved Taylor's army at Buena Vista.

Mr. Mason reviewed the pregnant points of his hero's life from the Mexican war till his death, his record in Congress, his race against Quitman for Governor, his rare executive ability while holding the portfolio of war under Pierce, his service as Senator, his career as President and prisoner.

The speaker drew a beautiful picture of Mr. Davis' life at Briarfields burningish the sword, he said, which afterwards pierced Seward and smote the pretensions of those who declared the Constitution hell born into the very dust.

Here luxury dethroned herself and went in homespun that the silk attire might wave in banner over the heads of sons and brothers who had marched to the fight, while the pure hearts of the owners were given to God in prayer.

Mr. Mason more than satisfied a highly-wrought expectation. Chaste in thought as in speech, he is worthy to speak of a stainless man. He is an honor to our culture and deserves to be known on the Watanga as he is on the Roanoke.

Col. Thomas Kenan, who followed, is an old favorite with the Burke people, having soldiered "in durance of the war" along with our boys, and since peace having summered in our mountains to stay the growth of the gray hairs, which have come, however, in defiance of our potent climate.

He did not come to make a speech, but to renew acquaintance, and to look upon the face of mother nature. Yet he said many sprightly and pertinent things in "asking the blessing," so to speak, upon the meeting, and his words are like to bear fruit in securing a history of Burke county, and what she has done in peace and war.

He referred to the organization of the Chair of History at the University, and of the future value to the State of the work likely to result therefrom.

He made a striking allusion to the beneficent exemption the South enjoyed from Dagoes and Hungarians, and welcomed the fleeing Northerners, who were in search of a pure Saxondom. He good humoredly twitted the veteran on the marvellous tales they were wont to tell of their prowess in war times, and quite won the hearts of the ladies by his courtly references to them.

Burke is always glad to see Col. Tom, and treats him as I have done just as if he were home folks. After speaking, the "Vets" had their dinner, and the committee went to gathering in shokels for the monument. They have not yet reported, and hence I cannot state the amount.

La Grippe Again. During the epidemic of La Grippe last season, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who use it confirm this statement.

The Prince of Wales has an income of a million dollars that the British public pays for the support of himself and his family. The Queen, in addition, gives him an annual allowance of about a quarter of that amount.

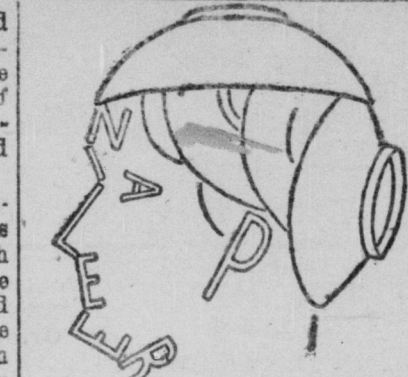

For Over Fifty Years Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once, and produces natural sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button.

Some English manufacturers are bleaching paper, without impairing its strength, by an electrical process. A solution of magnesium chloride is used, which is decomposed by a powerful current, with the evolution of chlorine and oxygen.

NOT ONE SORE NOW. Baby Afflicted with Bad Sores and Eruptions. No Relief. Permanently Cured by the Cuticura.

Sore from Waist Down. I had three of the best physicians in Paducah, and they did me no good. I used my Cuticura Remedies, and the sores cured the same and well. I was sore from my waist down with excruciating pain.

Cuticura Remedies. If the thousand of little babies who have been cured of scalding, itching, burning, bleeding, and other skin diseases could write, what a host of letters would be received by the proprietors of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.
