On the contrary, if time permitted, it would be a pleasing as well as a grateful task, whilst awakening the slumbering energies of the one, to canonize the virtues of the other. We have had-we now have Patriots, lows : Statesmen, and Orators, whose love of country, talents, and eloquence, would render them ornaments to any State; but, in selecting objects for the peculiar devotion of their patriotism, and in choosing theatres devotion of their patriotism, and in choosing theatres for the exercise and display of their talents and eloquence, they have, in my humble judgment, commitquence, they have, in my humble judgment, commitquence, they have, and that error I shall sumted a most grievous error, and that error I shall summon the boldness to expose.

There exists in this Republic the singular, yet, as time has shown, consistent anomaly of two Governtime, and intended to work harmoniously in the same system-one domestic, acting directly upon the im- ted over John M. Botts, whig. mediate interests of its citizens, in the protection of their persons and property-the other chiefly foreign, having its powers defined by express delegation, and entering the domestic circle only in specified instances, where that invasion is necessary to consummate the Ninth District. James F. Strother, whig, elected main and principal purpose contemplated in its creation. The discussion of the extent and nature of the powers thus delegated to the latter, and of the pro- ted over Bedinger, democrat. priety of their exercise under various circumstances, has originated political parties, organized with reference to these questions. Such parties, when founded upon principle, arraying men who honestly differ in opinion on opposite sides of questions of national policy, and, when confined to the legitimate purpose re-elected without opposition. of advancing issues thus made, are eminently conserand no patriot can regret their existence, or will re-fuse connection and affiliation with them. Solon ining every man to take one side or the other in the discussion and ultimate decision of public questions, in order to secure the wisdom and counsel of virtuous men. These questions of a national character are tence of Constitutional liberty itself, and, in such emergencies, they demand the highest consideration from every citizen in the respective States; but they are oftimes mere ephemeral issues, creating a momentary excitement and then passing away, having affected, in no serious respect, the general welfare. In no instance, however, can the internal regulations and local interest of any one of the States be made subordinate and inferior in the scale of importance, to questions and issues pertaining to the Federal Government, without retarding the progress and endangering the future welfare of the particular State whose public sentiment may be thus misdirected. statesmen, and leading men generally, have given to 1852. national issues, whether momentous or ephemeral, apparent precedence in their regard. By speeches, essays, and personal appeal, they have directed the attention of our people so habitually and constantly to these subjects, that many of our citizens regard them as the only questions demanding peculiar consideration; and believing, from the prominence always accorded to national politics, that the Federal head at Washington is the only source of life and vitality to our system-that our national councils is the only true medium of wise legislation-and that national glory is the only altar at which a patriot should offer oblations, they have ceased to manifest that anxious zeal for the local prosperity of their State, which untutored nature itself would otherwise have prompted them to feel and exhibit. By the example of her Statesmen, our young men of genius and talent, as they respectively enter the grand drama of life, turn aside from the paths of Literature-desert the investigations of Science-forsake the cultivation of Art-repudiate the homely avocations of Commerce, Trade, and Mechanical Industry, and seek political life as affording and opening the only sure avenue to fame; or those pursuits alone are chosen, which may eventually lead the young aspirants to political honors.

Under the instruction of her Patriots, the patriotism of our people has been extended over a wider surface, but it is wholly ineffectual for good, because the strength of their local attachments has been impaired. Her citizens abandon their homes and firesides with-out regret, with positive indifference, and, carrying with them wealth, intelligence and virtre, learn, in some more favored State, to feel and cherish a devotion to the immediate government which protects them, that would have had no kindred feeling here. The wealth thus abstracted is enriching every soilthe intelligence thus lost is enlightening every cabinet-and the virtue thus removed is adorning every social circle, in this wide-spread Union. Not only is our State thus impoverished by a continuous ebbtide of the principal elements of prosperity, but she has not even the consolation of knowing that she will retain the affections and sympathies of her departing sons; for the only testimonials furnished us, after their departure, that the land of their birth holds a place in their memories, are numerous epistolary suplications, imploring their friends whom they leave chind to follow their footsteps, and abandon a State that has no sufficient public spirit to gain and maintain such a position as will secure the affections and command the allegiance of her people.

Our leading men hear, without rebuke, the State pride of an adjoining State denounced as presumption five, and the Isabella Catholica with four. and arrogance, and although it may be esteemed by fastidious persons to be somewhat overweening, yet even they must concede, that it has thrown her population in advance of their unpretending neighbors. They hear, without reproof, the "boasted chivalry" of our brethren in another State ridiculed, and the spirit which prompts its display condemned as weakness and vanity, whilst it is apparent to the most casual observer, that, however objectionable may sometimes be the manner of its exhibition, their pervading love and devotion to their own State have ele-Valed their characters and improved their condition.

We are thus taught to respond to no suggestions of patriotism within our own bosoms, unless it embraces within its scope an entire continent, and comprehends within its sympathy twenty millions of people. And is it surprising that, whilst thus stationary, awaiting the growth and full development of an expanding love of country, our "Way of life is fallen into the sear,

The yellow leaf," and that the impulsive energies, which alone build up a State, should be nipped by the frosts of age before our affections to be not a state of the baren of our affections and sympathies can attain the haven of a world-wide patriotism?

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26-p. m. The United States mail steamer Pacific has arrived, having made the ENGLAND. At latest advices the frigate Misssissippi, with Kossuth on board, had not reached Gibraltar, and no tidings of Kossuth had been received in England since he sailed from Marseilles up to the evening of the 14th inst. The flood of emigration from Great Britain, espe- SI cially from Ireland, was beginning to excite the serious apprehension of government. A demand for the repayment of money advanced to the Irish Unions during the famine was causing much stir throughout Ireland, and some downright repudiation had taken place.

The leading event in London was the final closing of the great exhibition, on the 11th inst. Much less good order prevailed than might be expected. The building was overcrowded, and the closing rather tumultuous, and distinguished from the closing of previous days only by partial attempts to get up cheers for the Queen and Prince Albert, and to perform " God save the Queen" in chorus. The building was open to exhibiters on the 12th and 14th, and the award of prizes took place on the 15th. FRANCE. SPAIN. Ministerial changes were spoken of at Madrid. The Cologne Gazette publishes a letter from Madrid, which states that, at a cabinet meeting held on the 8th, a proposition was made by Murillo to sell Cuba and Puerto Principe to England for the sum of $150,000,000, which sum he said represented the capital of the revenue Spain received from these islands. Letters from Madrid announce that General Armairo had resigned his office of Minister of Marine, and would probably be succeeded by M. Darral.

The frigate Guatemala, with 116 Cuban invaders on board, has arrived at Vigo, Spain; the Venus with The widow of General Enna had also arrived at Vigo.

The Queen of Spain had summoned the Cortes for prompt assemblage—it was presumed to take action with regard to the American prisoners.

A reconciliation has been brought about between Sir Henry Bulwer and the Spanish Marshal Narvaez. Quarter Sessions, to be held for the County of Franklin This estrangement was of a political character only, Sir Henry being too liberal for Narvaez on the then condition of Spain. Narvaez, while in London, made personal explanations to Lord Palmerston, which

THE MARKETS. The English cotton market was freely supplied, at prices favoring buyers.

Cotton has declined &d. on lower qualities. The sales on Monday and Tuesday were 12,000 bales, of which exporters took 5,000.

TO MY FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

HAVING made arrangements to leave the State, at furthest by the first of December, and having disposed of my interest to Isaac Procter, (my partner for the last eight years,) I take pleasure in recommending him to those who have stood by me so long, as a gentlemen every way worthy of their confidence and support.

I look upon Mr. Procter, without attempting to dis-parage others, and what I say now must be believed, (being totally disconnected with him in business) as being the very best cutter I ever saw. He will be assisted by Geo. L. Gould, a pupil of mine, who has been cutting all the Coats made up for our customers for the last fourteen months, and has no superior in that department. I have left in the concern all the patterns I have of my customers scattered all over the State, and they may rely upon being as faithfully served, having their cloths, as well cut and made, and the quality of the ma-terials just such as would be furnished, were 'The BUG, present in "propria persona." I have laboured hard to build up a business in North Carolina, and desire that those who have patronised me should continue to uphold my late partner, particularly when assured by me, that they will be as well served as they were under the administration of OLIVER & PROCTER.

PORTIS' GOLD MINES FOR SALE. ON Saturday the 20th day of December next, on the premises, I shall offer for sale, by virtue of a decree of the Court of Equity, entered in the matter of Thomas J. Portis and others, heirs at law of John Portis, deceased, the celebrated and far famed Gold Mrnes, known as the PORTIS' MINES The said mines are situated in Franklin County about thirty miles from Halifax town, twenty miles from Warrenton, and eighteen from Louisburg. The tract of land contains about 1300 acres, lying immediately on Shocco Creek, and for farming purposes alone, is a valuable estate; but its agricultural value is completely eclipsed by its immense value as a There have been few instances in North Carolina, where an estate of such vast magnitude has been offered for sale publicly.

These mines have been worked about 18 years, and it is estimated that a milion of dollars have been dug out of them—and there are parts of them now as rich as the sands of the Sacramento.

A large portion of the lands—the very choice parts, were carefully reserved by the late proprietor, which he always called his "POCKET BOOK."

The value and richness of these reserves are beyond all human calculations. An effort will be made to divide the mining lands, so as to bring the lots within the limits of individual enterprise—very few men being able to purchase the whole estate. To the enterprising capitalist here is a most inviting field-even the portions that have been worked still abound with the precious ore, and those huge piles of rock and sand, by the ignorant thought valueless, under the control of scientific men, would yield unnumbered thousands, after paying the cost of machinery and
