TELEPHONE No. 54.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1913.

We are printing in this issue an article from the Charlotte Observer on Wide Tires. The article from which the extracts are taken, was written by J. B. Von Cannon of West End, Moore county and we believe he is exactly correct in his conclusions. There is no question but the narrow tires and poor drainage are the chief destroyers of good roads. With these two evils eliminated the problem of good roads would be solved. Now the question is how to remedy these evils. The proper location and grading of the roads will not be a very large job in many parts of the county and with the state furnishing the engineers to locate and superintend the work, it looks like Caldwell should have much better roads in a short time. But how about the Tires? This is a more difficult problem to deal with. Men say they will not work and it would be too expensive to force people to replace their present narrow tires with wide ones. We are inclined to think they over estimate these difficulties. There are a few broad tires used in the county mostly on the farms and they in nearly all cases are satisfactory. Then the expense of changing the wagons need not be burdensome. We are told that an ordinary two horse wagon can be changed from a one and half inch tire to a four inch tire for ten dollars or less. This being true we believe the commissioners should be empowered to levy a tax of 50 cents per wheel on all two horse vehicles carrying loads of 1000 pounds or over, that use tires less than four inches wide and all one horse vehicles carrying loads of 500 pounds or over, should be taxed 25 cents per wheel on all tires under three inches wide and tires three inches wide or more exempt from taxation. These taxes to be turned into a road fund for the upkeep of the roads in the county. As we say above we are convinced that bad location, bad drainage and narrow tires are responsible for bad roads and we believe further that the remedy suggested will correct these wrongs to a great extent in a short time and eventually eliminate them altogether and these measures are right here within our own grasp if we will only apply them. Of course the more general the broad tires are used the sooner the roads will be made good.

We have people in this county, who say they are interested in better roads, yet they do not come out and favor any plan for getting them. What is the matter? Are they waiting to see how the majority is going to act in the matter and then say "me too", or will they have and express an opinion of their own on the subject?.

Caldwell county can get good roads by two or three ways, one by a bond issue, one by direct taxation and one by wide tires. Of the three, we are convinced the wide tires is the cheapest and best. It will take united effort though to get them in any way and the Good Roads Association, recently organized should meet and decide upon some plan of work and get at it in earnest. Talk will not build them neither will individual effort, no matter how well directed.

Broad tires improve roads; narrow tires make good roads bad.—Greensboro News.

Davenport Recital.

The recital given Wednesday evening at Davenport College by Professor Birmingham, Director of Music and a class of his pupils, was well attended, regardless of the sharp winter pinch in the evening atmosphere. A program consisting of half a dozen select numbers was rendered in an unusually artistic and talented manner. The participants were especially clever in all their parts and elicited hearty applause. Mr. Birmingham was particularly happy in his renditions of the "Chariot Race" and the "Vagabond Prince." These selections seemed especially suited to his talents and style and every intonation, poise, gesture and expression; was well timed and appropriate.
