THRONGS PAY TRIBUTE TO DR. MATTHEW ANDERSON

By Daniel W. Chase.

Philadelphia, Pa., January 17.—Solemn and impressive were the funeral ceremonies held over the remains of the late Dr. Matthew Anderson, D. D., who died Wednesday morning, January 17th. The services were held in the church which this noted pastor founded and over which he has presided for almost fifty years. Rev. Anderson was 80 years old.

Every available seat in Berean Presbyterian church was taken by persons who knew the Rev. Anderson in life and honored him in death. Floral tributes were many, and letters and telegrams of condolence were received practically from all over the country; many from persons high in the business, social and religious life of the nation.

Majestic quietness filled the church as the casket bearing the last mortal remains of this "mighty man in Israel" was brought in the church. Randolph Smith, Mus. B., was at the organ and played "Ase's Death" (Grieg).

The Rev. Lewis B. Moore, Ph. D., formerly dean of the Teachers' College, Howard University, but now pastor of the Faith Presbyterian church, had charge of the ceremonies and paid a most fitting tribute to the life-work of Dr. Anderson. Two of the favorite hymns of the deceased, "Work for the Night is Coming" and "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing" were sung. Rev. George B. Bell, D. D., of Patterson Memorial Presbyterian church, gave the invocation, while the Rev. J. Campbell Beckett, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, pronounced the benediction.

Irvin W. Underhill, Jr., representing the younger branch of the ministry in the Presbyterian Church, and who acted as assistant to the late pastor, read the Scripture lesson. The obituary, which showed the wonderful triumphs of Rev. Anderson, was given by the Rev. Charles S. Freeman, pastor of the First African Presbyterian church. Rev. Freeman stressed the wonderful Christian character of Dr. Anderson and remarked:

"Who knew him loved him, for he was a soul that women could touch. He gave largely of his store, said Rev. Freeman, and he fought well. Rev. J. Gray Bolton, pastor of Hope Presbyterian church, and Rev. Henry L. Phillips, Archdeacon of the diocese of Pennsylvania, paid fitting tribute to the lamented dead. A message was read from Rev. Dr. Francis Grimke, pastor of Fifteenth Street Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., who was a staunch friend of Rev. Anderson.

Julia Gilbert Singa, Miss Gilbert, Philadelphia's favorite contralto, was soloist, and rendered O'Hara's "There is No Death," and moved the large audience by her rendition of "Going Home" (Fischer's arrangement).

As the remains were being borne from the church Randolph Smith played on the organ "The Dead March in Saul" (Handel).

Many persons from out of town were present. Bethesda Presbyterian church, of Pittsburgh, Pa., sent its pastor, the Rev. C. B. Allen, as a special delegate to the funeral.

The pall bearers (intimate friends of Rev. Anderson and prominent in the city's affairs) were Dr. John P. Turner, Dr. R. Wright, Jr., Albert Giddings, John T. Gray, William H. Brown and S. A. Shackelford.

The remains of the late pastor of Berean Presbyterian church, the founder and Principal of the Berean Manual Training School, and the founder of many other notable and constructive works, were placed in a receiving vault at Eden Cemetery. Burial rites will be held upon the arrival of Mrs. Helen Vera Walker, from Panama. One other daughter, Miss Margaret M. Anderson, and his widow survive.

EVANGELISTIC MEETING AT DANVILLE, VA.

Thirteen Accessions

Miss Deerah C. Beavers

Ever since the Christmas holidays our church has been alive with the evangelistic spirit. Our pastor, Rev. T. B. Hargrave, preached a wonderful sermon from Joel 2:25, "I will restore to you the year that the locust hath eaten." A large crowd of visitors were present.

The pastor announced that on the following Wednesday night there would begin a series of meetings. After the first sermon on "Christian Unity" all the officers met in the dining room of the manse and a social prayer was held. The following nights the spirit was high and new converts began to flock in.

The second Sunday was Communion day and the church was full. About one hundred and twenty-five communed. All visitors were welcomed to the holy feast.

Our pastor preached a touching sermon from Joshua 2:21, "And she bound the scarlet line in the window." This was a dramatic gospel sermon and 6 were baptized.

During the meetings the following persons joined the church: Mrs. Tyler, of Brooklyn, N. Y., by letter; by confession, Edward Steele, Jessie Pullam, Mrs. Eddie Motley, Mrs. J. Clarke, Marion and Lillie Finley, Marion Penn, Josephine Pullam, Ardell Henry and Ruth Ivy. We have also had eleven baptisms for the New Year.

The members of the Junior Mission Band presented to the church beautiful flowers. This organization is attractively carried on by the junior members of the church. This gift was very much appreciated.

We were very glad to see so many young people home for the holidays. We wish them much success as they take up their work again.

Among the visitors were Mr. Ellis of Calvary Presbyterian church, Wilson, N. C., Mr. Desverney, Mr. Orris Jones and Mr. Chas. H. Flack. Mr. Flack rendered two beautiful selections at our morning service.

Industrial High School

Our school is continuing with great enthusiasm. The basketball team made a nice showing notwithstanding we lost the services of our coaches, Mr. Rudolph Renfrow and George Merritt, stars from Hampton.

After winning a fine moral victory at Reidsville, Industrial High met A. & T. College before a crowded house. The final score was 44-17 in favor of A. & T.

We meet Mary Patter at Oxford, N. C., February 3 and again February 3rd in Danville.

The school work is progressing nicely and we are expecting great good to come out of the future.

BARBER COLLEGE NEWS

By Joetta Stinson

The Barber Young Women's Missionary Society met in the Chapel Sunday evening. The meeting was in charge of the prayer circles, sponsored by Misses Collet and Fox, and directed by Miss Johnson. The program was based on National and Foreign Missions, and so the school had a chance to hear something about itself in addition to other National Mission fields. China was the chosen foreign field. The map talks and discussion were interesting. Two special numbers were: a solo, "I've Done My Work," sung by Dorothy Williams, and a piano number, "Sparkles," played by Aray Marshall. At the beginning of the meeting the President presided over the devotions and the Secretary read reports for the last meeting.

On Monday evening during Y. W. C. A. hour the Sophomores presented a pageant, "The Women of Bible Times." Miss Burritt, sponsor of the Y. W., was the narrator. This pageant was very simply but artistically done with costumes ably representing Sara, the wife of Abraham, posed by Mamie Taylor; Rebecca, wife of Isaac, Mabel Nance; Deborah, the woman leader, Thelma Christmas; Ruth and Naomi, Gertrude Davenport and Addie Mattison; Esther, Azle Lee Ellis; Mary and Martha, Nina Pruitt and Eselle Taylor; Mary Magdalene, Ruby Leabour; Mary, Mother of Jesus, Ainslee Jones. These different types of ancient women could well be compared with the modern women of today who, underneath the sometimes deceiving surface, has the same modesty and virtues of the Biblical women. The whole school was present at this meeting.

Wednesday afternoon, Miss Elston, Matron, and also school nurse, visited Miss Lillie Mae Wynn, who has been ill a few days at the home of Mrs. A. W. Rice. Miss Wynn is a member of the Junior class and it is hoped by the class and other friends that she will soon be well and able to return to school.

Wednesday evening College and Senior High School students, with the faculty, attended the baritone concert of Prof. Carl Diton, Negro musician, who is touring America prior to a trip to Europe. This program had a very rare quality. The music was of a distinct operatic style. In the Italian, German and French numbers, Mr. Diton evidenced remarkable dramatic talent. His English numbers were especially pleasing. The spiritual, "Somebody's Knocking at Your Door," was the favorite spiritual. By request Mr. Diton played Prelude in C Sharp Minor, by Rachmaninoff, and one other number with skill, bringing out of the humble piano marvellous musical tones. Mr. Diton was assisted by local talent. His accompanist was Prof. Tomgee Du Bose, director of music at Talladega College, also an artist at the piano.

The college was very glad to have as visitors Thursday Mr. C. J. Calloway, Secretary of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools; President Trenholm of the State Normal School at Montgomery, Ala.; Prof. Moses, of Anniston, and Mr. Wesley, a member of the Senior class at State Normal. Each of these guests gave a brief talk in the dining room. They are visiting schools in Alabama and hoping to build up and unify the school systems in the State. They also visited and looked over the different classes and departments. It was very interesting to receive at this time an invitation from the Tuskegee basketball team for Barber to meet them in a game some time this year.

Monday Wednesday, demonstrations in cooking were made by Mrs. Shepherd, advertising agent of the Rumford Baking Powder Company, to the High School and College Home Economics classes. Many delicious biscuits, pastries and cakes were made at this time. Each girl was given a Rumford notebook with written recipes, measuring spoons and a thimble.

The High School students have been having mid-year finals the latter part of the week and consequently are wearing a haggard appearance. The girls have been having six weeks tests and were not particularly happy.

Miss Gertrude Davenport, of the Sophomore class, was called home Friday morning because of the death of her father. The students and faculty extend their deepest sympathy to Gertrude and the family.

Dr. J. F. Scherer made a hurried business trip to Atlanta Friday morning, returning to Barber about 7 o'clock P. M.

Thursday night, Miss Smith, head of the Barber teacher training department, gave a lecture and demonstration to the faculty on the use of the Keystone "600 Set" Stereographs and Lantern Slides. Miss Smith emphasized their value in motivating and interesting pupils by giving them realistic experiences through visualization, which add to their knowledge and make easier the retaining of learning. Visualization helps the student to find expression both in speech and written composition. There is also a cultural value in developing a love of beauty and appreciation of art which can be utilized both in learning, and in enjoyment of leisure time. The "600 Set" provides material for all departments of the curriculum, and is classified by subjects in the catalogue. Miss Smith was assisted by Miss Tumeay, teacher of Domestic Science in the High School, who gave a very interesting demonstration lesson with the lantern slides on "Home Building, an Expression of Racial and Environmental Characteristics."

JOHN HALL CHURCH.

By Mrs. Pearl M. Blue Reporter.

John Hall church at Carthage raised $124.35 in Sunday School Christmas day! The total for the church was something like $190 including expenses. Rev. P. W. Toney was with us on the second Sunday and preached one of the most soul-stirring sermons we have listened to in a long time.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Goins a lovely daughter, Pauline Gloria.

Misses Tarbel and Mattie Belle Tillman, who recently attended the funeral services of their father at Lancaster, S. C., are back after a trip of several days.

Sunday past was an ideal day. We were fortunate in having among our many visitors Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richardson and children of Charlotte. He assisted in raising the contribution. The amount realized in the Sunday school was $51; church, $43.25. Come again, Mr. Richardson. Thus closed another illustrious day.

Mr. Richardson and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Goins.

THE CHURCH'S BATTLE AGAINST INTemperance

By Rev. J. Burton Harper

"The signs of the times" still prove that the Church and its remedy yet remain the one great power for reforms and the cure for the ills of humanity. The nation's greatest foe is still strong drink. The shot gun, pistol and king alcohol are slaying their thousands over this our broad land and on the high seas. Man is determined to rule and control and on the other hand, man is determined not to be ruled or controlled, and hence a battle.

During the past five years more than five thousand men, women and children have fallen by the shot gun nest and around the places of illicit manufacturing and selling of strong drink. The officers of the law have died by the distillers' fire; and makers of whiskey have been surprised and killed too often in cold blood, when both the law agents and law breakers felt they were doing their duties.

The evil of intemperance is consuming much of the energy of political parties while regulations best for the people are being agitated for their peace and safety. The Church only is the remedy for the nation's dilemma. The Sunday schools, and all other auxiliary forces working in the Church with keen vision over the young, perhaps in four generations can conquer the foe to prosperity and Christianity. Christ commands us to "Go ye into all the world and preach my gospel." It appears that Jesus was and is depending upon his gospel to rectify the ills of the people and save them to the world and to His Father. The burden, therefore, is heavy upon the Christian Church to eradicate sin by dealing with the hearts and consciences of men everywhere through the appealing persuasion of the gospel of Christ.

I believe that if one-fifth of the money that is used otherwise in trying to check the evils of strong drink could be given to the Church to supplement the poor salaries of the preachers, for more good could be accomplished. We read some days ago where an illiterate minister was engaged in the sale of strong drink to augment his living conditions. This man had never formed any habit of the use of liquors, but was apparently led away by the need of the dollars which need, of course, was no excuse for his tampering.

A rounding up of the children in every home not missing one, by the forces of the Church can destroy king alcohol in five generations, applying only the power of the gospel. The problem here is getting hold of the children, but the solution is far more easy than getting hold of the man by rum raiders and other law devices. It is the Church's battle and the world is depending upon the Church for salvation from all evils here in this life; for of a certainty we shall be safe when in heaven.

HARBISON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE NEWS.

By E. B. Potts

Although we have not written about our Bible class in several months, we are proud to say to our many friends that the Bible class is still moving on splendidly under the efficient leadership of the President, Mr. T. H. Davison.

Sunday morning we all enjoyed a very thoughtful and interesting discussion, "What Does It Mean to Be a Christian?" Mark 7:23, 9:50. All took an active part.

The Y. M. C. A. of Harbison College is doing great work also. Messrs. Fortune, Griggby and Belton attended the State Y. M. C. A. Convention which was held in Columbia this week.

DAVIE STREET CHURCH, RALEIGH.

Each Sabbath morning the pastor, Rev. J. W. Smith, brings to us a thoughtful and inspiring message, filled with food for thought. Sunday he spoke to us from Luke 15:17-18, "And when he came to himself he said, 'I will arise and go to my father.'" He stressed the fact that most of us need to come to ourselves, make a decision, and do the things we find to do.

Death Claims Mrs. Mary Noble.

The week before Christmas, after a brief illness, Mrs. Mary Noble, one of the oldest members of the church, passed away. She was staunch supporter and lover of her church. She leaves to mourn their loss a daughter and five sons.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Rogers a son.

Sunday, January 15th, we were pleased to have Miss Mary Solomon, of S. Bloodworth St., to unite with the church.

Recently we were pleased to have Miss Lucille Baker and several other teachers from the Berry O'Kelly Training School at Method worship with us.

Among those home for the holidays were Miss Lucille McRae, student at Fayetteville Normal; Miss Margaret and Mr. Nichols Lightner of Mary Patten and Mr. and Mrs. Lightner, who are teaching at Pittsboro.

The Woman's Missionary Society and the Woman's Auxiliary are continuing to make progress. The former recently installed a stove in the Sunday school room, and the latter had the floor of the church painted and waxed.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary a beautiful Christmas tree was had at the home of the President, Mrs. Ernest Noble. A large audience was present and each person present was made happy with the beautiful gifts received. The pastor and family wish to thank those of the membership for tokens of remembrance at Christmas time. Several nice purses were given.

The Sunday School, under the superintendency of Mrs. Dorothy Lane, continues to grow. Instead of having a Christmas tree, each pupil was presented with a bag of fruits, nuts and candy.

Master Baxter Farrar, a member of the Junior Department, who early in the fall, sustained a broken leg, continues to improve.

The Tuxis Girls' slogan is "On to Wilson February 4th to the Tuxis Rally."

Sunday morning, January 15, at the 11 o'clock service, Mrs. Susie Yeargan, who has been laboring in South Africa with her husband, Mr. Max Yeargan, Student Y. M. C. A. Secretary in South Africa, made a very inspiring talk on South Africa and conditions there. Her thoughts centered around these words of the Master, "Other sheep have I which are not of this fold." The conditions in South Africa as portrayed by her are very touching and the large audience that heard her is more intelligent as to the real facts. In a few weeks Mr. and Mrs. Yeargan will return to their work in South Africa. We wish them much success. A collection of $8.50 was given her to be used there in her work with the natives.
