

goods. They have been doing a large and safe business, and we believe them to be in every way, honorable and worthy.

We call the attention of our mercantile friends to the card of M. T. Leach, of N. C., with Weld, Kneeland and Andrews, of N. Y.

The Bookstore of E. J. Hale & Sons, has been removed from the Fayetteville Hotel building, to the store between Kyle's and Smith's Drug Store.

Mr. George H. Haigh is now in charge of the Bookstore and will be pleased to serve all who want articles in his line.

This Local having been confined strictly to his business, in town, for two years, but having been informed by the negro Legislature, that he is no longer a citizen of Fayetteville, he applied himself to an invitation to attend a wedding party at Mr. Moses'

He was appointed one of the Judges of the Superior Court by Governor... and the appointment was confirmed by the Legislature of 1858-59.

As the music commenced, the command "balance all" was given, and quick as thought the aforesaid Colonel gracefully led to the floor a beauty with curls, and the ball was opened.

The beautiful form of an Italian flower girl, of the days of Pompeii, richly attired in white and scarlet, in Oriental brilliancy, tripped gaily along

At 10 o'clock precisely the order was given to unmask, which being accomplished, the laughing grew loud and merry.

the "inner man" was not forgotten. At 11 o'clock supper was arranged, when the company moved into the dining room and regaled themselves to their full satisfaction.

One of the results of the new order of things in the South will be anticipated, a material improvement in the character of our cotton, and especially in respect to length and fineness of staple.

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

COMMUNICATED.

FOR THE EAGLE.

I venture to give you a short sketch of a novel and here, unusual entertainment, which I had the pleasure to witness a short time since, thinking that some of your readers might perhaps find interest reading something in regard to "social life" in Fayetteville.

Thursday evening, the 7th inst., a party of ladies and gentlemen concluding to pay homage to the God of Terpsichore, assembled at the residence of Geo. Brandt, Esq., on Haymount, to while away weary hours in a masquerade ball.

Here was a Scotch nobleman playing the "agony" to a young shepherdess from Switzerland. A "bonnie lassie" from the Highlands was chatting with the hero of many a hard fought battle.

Brother Jonathan, from the Green Mountains of Vermont—favoring social equality—was talking love to a "wooly-headed" Miss, from a cotton-field of South Carolina.

A gay young "Tar," belonging on board of one of Uncle Sam's Ironclads, listened eagerly to a tale of his future life, from the lips of a Gipsy fortune-teller, who seemed well versed in the mystic art of looking into that "which is to be."

A lively woman, rather homely, but nevertheless of a good understanding. No. 10s.—and a waterfall in proportion, was seen flirting with a fashionable and fine-looking "sport," of fifth avenue.

A gaily-dressed, almond-eyed "Japanese Princess" seemed agreeably surprised to find "Shakespeare" so intelligent, and yet pay so much attention to "Shiney up, for ten cents."

the "inner man" was not forgotten. At 11 o'clock supper was arranged, when the company moved into the dining room and regaled themselves to their full satisfaction.

FROM THE CHARLESTON COURIER.

COTTON CULTIVATION.

One of the results of the new order of things in the South will be anticipated, a material improvement in the character of our cotton, and especially in respect to length and fineness of staple.

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

the "inner man" was not forgotten. At 11 o'clock supper was arranged, when the company moved into the dining room and regaled themselves to their full satisfaction.

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

the "inner man" was not forgotten. At 11 o'clock supper was arranged, when the company moved into the dining room and regaled themselves to their full satisfaction.

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

the "inner man" was not forgotten. At 11 o'clock supper was arranged, when the company moved into the dining room and regaled themselves to their full satisfaction.

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"

marked, "two great events in your life,—attending a ball and reading a novel." This reminded us of the exclamation "I am ruined!"