ROME, ITALY, August, 1871. I must confess that my knowledge of the Catacombs around Rome was very limited. I never liked caverns of any kind, much less those that have been converted into burial places.

These subterranean passages the Christians in the first and second centuries sought refuge from their cruel oppressors. They were hunted down like wild beasts and tortured, strangled and burnt.

MORNING PAPER PRINTERS.—Morning paper printers are considered by the world in general as a sad set. They resemble the sailor in prodigality.

WHAT ENERGY AND PERSEVERANCE WILL ACCOMPLISH.—Some few years ago two printers, well known in the community, put their purses together, and upon a very small scale, opened a family grocery.

ALBANY, New York, has a female brass band, composed of twelve young ladies. An exchange says: They put on more "airs" than they can play.

Business is Business.

The editor of the Colorado Herald had occasion to leave town for two or three days, and he committed his paper during his absence to the charge of a young man, a novice in journalism, whom he had just engaged as an assistant.

LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION.—A gentleman advertised for a boy to assist him in his office, and nearly fifty applicants presented themselves to him.

THE COURSE OF M. THIERS does not appear to be at all satisfactory in France. "Everybody agrees," says a Paris correspondent, "that there will be trouble soon after the Assembly meets."

HAMBURG, Germany, whose commerce was seriously injured by the late European war, imported in 1870 to the value of about $238,650,000 in gold.

BUTLER DEFEATED.—Worcester, Mass., Sept. 28.—The result of the vote on the nomination for Governor in the Republican Convention, was for Washburne, 643; for Butler, 468.

MURDER IN SAMPSON.

We received information yesterday to the effect that a colored man by the name of Measus Herring had been murdered in Sampson county. It seems from what we can gather that Herring, in company with Gabriel Rials, Archie Jacobs and Anthony Boykin, all colored, were returning home from Clinton, where they had been on a visit, on Saturday evening last, from about two and a half miles from that place, near the residence of Dr. Holmes, they were suddenly fired upon by some one in ambush on the side of the road.

THE RADICAL PROGRAMME FOR THE SOUTH.—A Washington letter says: "The political managers who are just now arranging a programme for the South. An organ of the Southern Republicans is to be published in Washington, and the subsidized carpet-bag papers in the South are to receive more Federal patronage to keep them alive in the Grant interest."

THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL OF 26th inst., says: "A white man by the name of Hayes, hailing from Bladen county, was taken from a rail in this place, on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 28, and conveyed to the City Hospital. He died yesterday and a jury of inquest, held over the body, pronounced that he came to his death from natural causes."

CURE FOR AROUK.—We wish to give a very simple remedy for fever and ague, and wish to emphasize it by saying that it has, to our knowledge, proven very efficacious. It is simply common salt. A teaspoonful taken in water, and a teaspoonful deposited in each stocking next to the foot, as the chill is coming on. That's all there is of it; but, knowing that it had been efficacious in "breaking" the chill, and perfecting a cure, we put it in our editorial column, where no bludge remedy shall ever find a place, if we know it.—Cleveland Herald.

THE MASSACHUSETTS men-women were somewhat shabby treated by the Democratic State Convention. They sent a memorial to that body, signed by Julia Ward Howe, Chairwoman of the Executive Committee, asking the Convention just to pass a resolution "affirming the right of woman to the elective franchise;" but several delegates were negligent enough to laugh at it, and the Convention scandalously sent the document to a committee that killed it quickly and quietly. If the Massachusetts women ever get the franchise we shall expect (if we live so long) to see them retreating in some way on the Democrats—refusing to marry them, perhaps, or making them do the housework.

THE atmosphere at Cordova, in the Argentine Republic, is said to be so dry, that a bowl of milk, left uncovered in the morning is dry at night, while ink vanishes from the inkstand and becomes "hick almost by magic."

WASHINGTON Irving once said of a pompous American diplomatist: "Ah, he is a great man; and, in his own estimation, a very great man, a man of great weight. When he goes to the West, the East tips over."

WANT OF SUCCESS IN JOURNALISM.

Some people have a mania for publishing papers, and think that to be able to write and have a certain amount of capital, is all that is necessary to make a successful newspaper. The history of our most eminent journalists contradicts this theory. They will tell you that they owe their success rather to their knowledge of the practical than the theoretical or esthetical branches of their business. Bonner, for instance, is not a writer, still he has accumulated great wealth, and has succeeded in establishing a paper which is remarkable both for circulation and literary ability. Printers now in this city, who worked at the "ones" with him, state that he was not only a quick and clean compositor, but was noted for his regular habits, for never varying in his hours, and for working hard, early and late, to attain the object he had in view—the accumulation of sufficient capital to start in business for himself. Henry J. Laymond toiled for years as a reporter, working a portion of the time at a salary of seven dollars per week, and it was only after years of trial that he had advanced, step by step, to the position he occupied at the time of his death.

Our best newspaper man, it is said, those who commenced their career at the "ones, and who gained information while setting up the articles of others. There are no better judges of an article, whether it be a political leader or a classical essay, than practical printers. Some of our best authors place more dependence on them than they are willing to concede. Printers have a way of smoothing and making intelligible an ambiguous sentence, which is peculiarly their own; the result of the closest attention to detail.—Bowell's Reporter.

CONDITION OF SOUTH CAROLINA.—H. H. Jones, of the editorial corps of the Maton Telegraph, on a trip eastward, after having passed through the once proud and chivalrous State of South Carolina, writes back to his paper in the following strain: "The people of this unhappy State are dispirited and cast down by the failure of their crops, and the terrible tyranny and taxation entailed by Radical rule. Dilapidated, sombre-looking Hamburg, once the proud rival of Augusta, which first comes under review after crossing the broad Savannah, is a fitting type of the entire State. Columbia, once so beautiful and flourishing, rallies but slowly from her ashes. In short, taxation, public theft, and demoralized labor, all the result of iniquity of universal suffrage, have reduced to a negro principality the chivalrous Carolina of the olden time. And this must ever be the result where ignorance and vice usurp the reins of government. The fate of Jamaica under black domination should point a moral never to be forgotten by the South. The Anglo-Saxon owners of the soil must retain their sovereignty, or what is it?"

From the report of the Agricultural Department it is represented that the corn crop is favorable, except in Ohio; wheat reports less favorable, except in Ohio. Taking 100 as the average, the condition stands: Virginia, 79; North Carolina, 59; South Carolina, 53; Georgia, 52; Alabama, 63; Mississippi, 94; Texas, 84; Arkansas, 70; Tennessee, 79; West Virginia, 93; those above the average are New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Michigan. The aggregate decrease is two per cent, which is partially offset by the decreased area. Barley is generally reported below the average—New York, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin showing best. Buckwheat is 10 per cent below the average. Rye is nearly an average crop; the heaviest depreciation being in New York. Hay is reduced in quantity but better quality, Georgia and Arkansas, being above the average crop; sweet potatoes fall between New York and Virginia but below the average in the Southern States. Thirty per cent on the average crop of sugar may be expected.

On Thursday, the 23th inst., the Wilmington Daily Journal entered upon its twenty-first annual volume.

THE COURSE OF M. THIERS does not appear to be at all satisfactory in France. "Everybody agrees," says a Paris correspondent, "that there will be trouble soon after the Assembly meets. M. Thiers has become unbearable. He refuses to let any minister take any step without his approval. Three days ago he spent five hours discussing with building contractors the details of some wooden houses for the troops. So it is with everything. His haughtiness and intolerance to depths is intolerable. There are a hundred indications that the storm is brewing." This sketch of the situation may be overdrawn, but all the signs are, nevertheless, that the course of M. Thiers will soon lead to serious trouble. Frenchmen, of all mankind, are least qualified to submit to arrogance, and Thiers has shown that he is not by any means deficient in this.

HAMBURG, Germany, whose commerce was seriously injured by the late European war, imported in 1870 to the value of about $238,650,000 in gold, of which $140,700,000 worth came by sea and the rest by land, and on the Elbe river goods from the United States were imported to the amount of about $51,450,000. Of the 4,144 ships which arrived at that port last year, twenty-four bore the American flag.

BUTLER DEFEATED.—Worcester, Mass., Sept. 28.—The result of the vote on the nomination for Governor in the Republican Convention, was for Washburne, 643; for Butler, 468. Butler declares that he accepts the action of the Convention as final.
