For instance, it is known that in Great Britian Masonry contributed greatly to the restoration of the monarchy destroyed by Cromwell, and Charles II. ascended the throne of his fathers through the influence of the British Masons, specially of those of Scotland. But in Brazil Masonry has been almost useless to politics. It has kept entirely apart, peaceful and neutral, so that politicians of all creeds meet with the utmost fraternity at its meetings. If it is accidental it is certainly very remark-able, if designed, the object is or would seem to be very apparent.

But as if with the purpose to add insult to njury, and in the same lofty and arrogant bearing that characterizes the Commissioners and the Sheriff, the Edutor of the Times newspaper, published in New-Berne, in full sympathy with the Commissioners and their coadjutors, and with none for an oppressed and insulted people, has the audacity to insert in his paper of to-day, that the committee of ten have him.
