A Baton Ronge paper mentions that a gentleman residing at levingston Parish, La., has a very singular plant in his garden, which appears to be a sort of con-necting link between the animal and vegetable world. The plant is about three feet high, and its stems reach the ground. At the end it is armed with a smal and sharp substance, with which it pierces insects, and then lifts them into the ealys, where they are grasped by the plant, and appropriate d to its support.

The Union Whig and American national committee, have resolved to increase their number to a number nave resolved to increase their number to a number equal to the electoral votes—that is, 25%. The object of this measure is to have means of communication with conservative men in every part of the Union. Measures are to be taken to fill up the list, and institute a general correspondence between the friends of the movement. Members of the committee state that though the time is recent when the movement was commenced, it has made rapid progress, and that let-ters have been received from all parts of the country expressive of strong sympathy with it.

When the family of Bishop Odenheimer, lately removed from Philadelphia, took possession of Riverside near Burlington, the residence of the late Bishop Donne, they found the pantries crowled with everything that either housewife or cook could desire—a barrel of sugar in one, of flour in another, with other im-mediate necessaries in profusion—the surprise offering of Episcopalians there. Then came a purse of $200 from Episcopalians in Mount Holly, to bear the expense of removal from Phitadelphia. These donations offered some manifestation of the affection al-ready entertained for Bishop Odenheimer.

.... ALABAMA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION .- The "Harmo-ALABAMA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—The "Harmonious" of Alabama assembled in convention at Montgomery on the 11th, and opened in a stormy manner.
Gen. Bulger, of Tallaponea, was requested to act astemporary chairman, but the motion was opposed by Mr. Yaney, who moved that H. D. Smith, of Lauderdale, should act as chairman. Both of these gentiemen took their seats upon the speaker's stand, and both put the motions to the Convention at the same time, amid great noise and confusion. Finally a compromise was effected, and Frank S. Lyons, Esq., was time, and great noise and contraint. Finally a com-promise was effected, and Frank S. Lyons, Esq., was selected as temporary chairman. He is an old Union man, but now attached to the Yancy wing. After an organization had been effected, the Chairman appointed a Committee, composed of Yancy men, to decide the rights of the double delegations from Mobile and Montgomery. Mr. Lyon was afterwards appointed President of the Convention. At night Mr Yancy made a "tremendous speech" before the committee on credentials. On the 12th, Mr. Scott, of Monroe, introduced a series of resolutions, asserting the rights of davery in the Territories, and its protection there by Legislative and Congressional enactments. The delegates to the Charleston Convention were instructed to insist upon this right; and, if it was repudiated by that body, the Alabama delegates are to withdraw from it, and a min call together this Concention. On the 12th, the Forsyth delegation from Mobile obtained their seats. Before the Convention adjourned sine die they adopted a platform taking the highest possible Southern ground. It insists on Territorial protection to slavery, and demands that all the powers of the Government shall be employed if necessary, in its protection. It negatives Douglasism in all its forms. Mr. Soutt's resolutions were also adapted.

GLORIOUS NEWS FOR OLD BACHELORS .- On Sunday, the 15th inst., while sitting by a good fire meditating on past events, and not having thought, for the first time, of its being leap year, I cast my eyes out at the window of our log cabin, and beheld a company coming from towards Mason & Dickson's line—the bride elect, Martha Jane Sikes, with her horse and buggy, and by her side was Mr. Archibald Harris, whom she brought to be united in haly wedlock. As I am ready to comply with requests in any such matters, I complied with hers in uniting her to him in the shortest time. May her example lead many to do likewise.

Mn. Jso. S. Fonn, of Rutherfordton, states that his partner in the coach business, Alex. M. WHAT THE WEST CAN MANUFACTURE-One great source of power in a country is its manufacturing in-terests, and a country which can be at the same time a large manufacturing and producing country is proof against all financial crises, and must become powerful and prosperous. Such is the case with West-ern North Carolina. Producing within her mountain borders almost every necessary of life, but cotton, rice and coffee; she has, too, water power sufficient to drive the machinery of a world. With such facilities, then, what can be here manufactured with profit? First,

These manufactures can be carried on now, and there is no contingency as to a railroad to be put in. There are other articles, when we shall be blessed with the means of egress to the world, that will demand the attention of our people. The manufacture of iron and iron utensils must then be carried on. The Cranberry iron it said to be the best in the United States or the world, we can easily infer what excellent nails and tools it would make.

And when we have a railroad, cotton factories, paper mills and various other works can be put up and carried on profitably. One thing is certain, that if we are to be independent of the North, the South must manufacture for itself; and when that is to be done, western North Carolina will present as many attractions to the eye for the builder as any other section of the country or the earth .- Asheville

It is a common observation that there are more sufferers from debility, among Americans, than can be found among any other civilized nation. The reason is obvious. [For the Argus. THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, &C.

Mr. Editor: I am glad the communication of "Filius Agricoleo" has called forth an article from the pen of an intelligent "Farmer" of Anson. And I would that all the honest yeomanry of our county and State were truly awakened to their interests, and support no man for any public trust who was not truly the farmer's friend. friend. Is their not some agriculturist of our State who will holst his colors and throw them to the breeze, with Agricultural Collegeand Experimental Plantation for North Carolina biazoned thereon, and neither cease or abate his efforts till the government of North Carolina shall have provided for the planters and mechanics of the State a college and experimental plantation? ics of the State a college and experimental plantation?

Besides the liberal education afforded by such an institution, it would necessarily have under its care

all the enemies and diseases that infest our crops and stock—to investigate their origin—and the necessary preventitives and remedies to insure success to the planters. Then and only then will that class of our people whose labor and industry lies at the foundation of all national prosperity, be represented in our State

What claim has the President of this great Republic open its planters and mechanics?-he who vetoed the only bill that has passed the Congress of our country, in my recollection, if ever, for the direct benefit of that class of people, the bone and sinew of any country; and strang; to say the Southern members, if my memory serves me right, generally voted against h Farmers think of this.

Permit me just here, Mr. Editor, to annex an ex-

rect from the pen of an editor whose brain was occu-pied with something else besides politics and plunder: "What a sovereign man is the intelligent, industri-ous farmer! Within his own realm of earth, he wields a sceptre to which all must bend. The balance of the world's life and comfort he holds in his stalwart hand. Neither courts, nor camps, nor armies, nor fleets, can exist without his sid. He is the feeder and the garmenter, virtually, of the race. Cities springing from the traffic in the products of his industry. Commerce is born at his bequests. Of the State he is the "first estate." Lord of the land, no man has firmer hold of the essential title of nobility; and he must be no plod-der because he is a farmer. The day is past when the soil tiller was confounded with the clod turned by his plow. The soil is his servitor; he smites it, and lot the harvest comes forth. The hoe and the sickle make him music braver than dulcimers, and sound the march of a triumph grand as it is peaceful and blessed. But he is not forever in the furrow. For him are broad-est field of study—fairest field of delight. For him are honors linked to beauties and wisdom; for him periods of communion and rapture, of which the birds, the flowers, the streams, the stars, and all wondrous things of the universe may bear witness. A brave man art thou, wielder of the mallet and the plane; and thou, skilful worker of webs; and thou, deviser of all machines whereby the labor of man's handis speeded or abridged. But ye are all second to the farmer. He is master of the needfulest of toils, and the most serviceable products. He can live with out you, but you cannot exist for a day without him. Honor to the farmer; may his sphere widen and his statue be exalted; and honor to all honest toils, for of such are the fruits that form the crowning clories the world." On the 16th of December, 1859, Mrs. ELIZABETH MASK, wife of James G. Mask, of Anson, North Carolina, in the 88th year of her age. She was born in Sussex county, Va., on the 1st of October, 1771, and joined the Methodist Church when very young, and she lived and died strictly adhering to the tenets of the church of her choice, though often deprived of the privileges on account of circumstances, altogether lo-cal and beyond her control; and for the last ten or twelve years she was confined mostly to the house, and for the last nine weeks closely to fifth bed; during which time her sufferings were great, but borne with great christian fortitude and patience, and when asked of her future prospects, would always express her perfeat readiness and willingness to depart. With her husband, she has for many years past had long and agreeable discourses on the subject of religion, and would generally end it by saying that "the greatest grief she had in the world was that she could not love and serve the Lord enough. On the morning of the 16th, she spoke the first line of her favorite hymn. 'Have pity Lord, O Lord forgive." Her husband caughtfup the hymn book and gave it out, and all present joined in singing it. While doing this it be-came evident that she was rapidly passing away. After the hymn was sung, all joined her husband in prayer, m which he rose to see her arraw her, last breath, and receive her last farewell. | Southern Christian Advocate and Jackson papers

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, IMPORTERS AND Jobbers in the city of Charleston, in view of the present excited state of the country, down in proper to bring to the notice of the interior Merchants the claims we have to their putronage and custom. The majority of us have been long established in business, and from our experience are well acquainted with the wants of this section of country. All of us hold sentiments in common on the agitating question hald sentiments in common on the agitating question of the day—sinvey; and all of us desire, as far as practicable, to become commercially independent of the North. We have abdesire to underrate the energy and enterprise of the Neceanats of Northern cities, but we claim to be able to supply goods in our respective lines, on as favorable terms, but we can pective lines, on as favorable terms, both as to price and credit, as the merchants of any city in the Union. We have facilities for obtaining goods from Europe not surpassed by any, and our impactations from abrend are very large, notwithstanding the reports to the contrany, circulated by those who have no knowledge of what they affirm, or whose interest prempt them to American goods we obtain from the manufacturers on as favorable terms as any Johbing Merchauts of the Northern cities. Why then should we not be able to sell on as favorable terms as others? We are able and determined to do so, and all we esk

we are able and determined to do so, and all we saw of you is, to try this market, lay aside the prejudice—for it is only a pre-diadice—that your customera prefer goods fram, New York to those from Charleston, and build up and encourage your own Scaports and your own Merchants. If we cannot do what we proess, you will be subjected towery little inconvenience, opportunities of leaving by railway or steamers are offered every twelve hours.
Our Stocks will be complete by the 1st of February next, and it remains to be seen how many of those who have heretofore purchased all their goods in orthorneities will give Charleston a trial this Spring. Charleston, S. C., December 12th, 1859.
