What Horace Greeley Knows about unmeasured. The Army of the Pctom- themselves. We do not believe a nation War.

May 14, 1864.

We have fought and been beaten. God forgive our rulers that this is so : but it is true, and cannot be disguised. The Cabinet recently expressing, in rhetoric better adapted to a love letter, a tear of being drowned in its own honey, is now nearly drowned in gore, while our honor on the high seas has only been saved by one daring and desperate negro, and he belonging to the merchant marine. The sacred soil of Virginia is crimson and wet with the blood of thousands of Northern men needlessly shed. The great and universal question pervading the public mind is: . Shall this condition of things contine ?' "

"If we are ever to put down the rebellion we shall do it within a few months. We have more men and more means wherewith to attack and overcome the rebel armies than we shall have a year hence, should the war continue so long. And since we need every dollar we have or can raise for present pressing use, we protest against spending one dollar for arms that are not to be in the hands of our soldiers before the 1st of May, If we should want more arms after the rebellion is put down, let them be provided for; for the present. et us use every dollar where it will tell in the present conflict." - Tribune, Janwary 31, 1862.

"Such was the well carned fame of Kentuckians-Colonel Nimrod Wildfire, then representative before the footlights, being represented as so spoiling for a tight, having been inhumanely deprived of that luxury for the intermediate space of ten days, that he would have to 'kiver himselt in a salt barrel to keep,-that we have been wondering how many invading rebels would be required to show a front in that State for the space of ten days, have concluded that nothing less than one hundred thousand would answer.

" The Democratic party of to-day is simply the Rebellion seeking to achieve its essential purposes within and through the Union. A victory which does not enable it to put its feet on the necks of the black race seems to the bulk of its adherents not worth having. Its heart is just where it was when it regarded Slavery and the Constitution as two names for one thing. It hates the Generals who led the Union Armies to Victory, and rarely misses a chance to disparage them. It clings to that exaggerated notion of State Rights which makes them the shield of all manner of wrongs and abuses. It takes counsels of its hates even more than of its aspirations and will be satisfied with no triumph that does not result in the expulsion of all active, earnest Republicans from the South.-Tribune, March 23, 1871.
