THE NORTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE.
 [Condensed from the News.]
SENATE.
 TUESDAY, Jan'y 28, 1873.
 The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock, Lieutenant Governor Brogden in the chair.
 The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Messages Received
 From the House of Representatives transmitting several bills, which were appropriately referred, and a resolution authorizing the General Assembly to send for persons and papers in the matter of the impeachment of Solicitor Henry, which was, on motion of Mr Merrimon, laid on the table.
 The hour having arrived for the Special Order, which was the consideration of the Amnesty and Pardon Bill, a long debate ensued, in which Mr Harris, of Wake, replied to Mr Scott in defence of the charges made by Senators against his own color and their connection with the Union Leagues. He caused to be read the oath of the Invisible Empire, and also the League oath. His speech was in defence of the orders of his party with a concluding exhortation to the opposition to remain firm in their purpose to vote against the bill.
 Mr Seymour was glad to see the spirit that had been exhibited by the Conservative members on this floor since the discussion of this bill, and while he regretted to see the harmony disturbed that has characterized the session of the Senate, yet it becomes a necessity now. He regarded the bill, as it was, an insult to the members of the Union Leagues, Heroes of America, &c., in associating them with the various Ku Klux organizations, and sent an amendment to the Clerk's desk proposing to strike out the names above mentioned from the bill.
 Mr Seymour proceeded at some length in support of his amendment, in which he charged sixteen octavo volumes of crime on the Ku Klux, &c., and said that the Conservative party could pass this bill, but the responsibility would be on their shoulders. He did not wish to be understood as making a charge on any member of the Senate, but against the party.
 More heavy shots from the Democratic side, favoring the bill, when the question of postponement came up, which caused considerable discussion and several votes, which failed.
 Mr Ellis, of Catawba, offered the following amendment:
 "That this act shall not apply to those who may be guilty of murder by actual participation, or by advocating the same, unless such murder was committed in retaliation for the crime of murder, rape or arson."
 In favoring his amendment, Mr Ellis said he was unwilling to vote on the passage of the bill in its present shape. He had seriously considered it in all its phases, and must say that it had caused him deep concern. He represented the largest democratic majority of any Senator on the floor, and that constituency he must and would respect. He would not vote for pardon to the murderers of Honeycut and the Foscoe family. He hoped his amendment would pass, if so, he would vote for the bill.
 Pending the vote on the amendment, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
 Pursuant to adjournment, Mr Speaker Robinson called the House to order at 10 o'clock.
 By Mr Turner, a resolution in regard to internal improvements. Referred.
 By Mr Abbott, a bill to compel owners of stock to mark the same.
 By Mr Lloyd, a bill concerning the inspection of tar in New Hanover county. Referred.
 By Mr Dickey, a bill declaratory of chapter 181, laws 1871-'72. Referred.
 By Mr Bryson, of Jackson, a bill to amend the act relative to private examinations of married women. Referred.
 By Mr Shaw, a bill to establish the sale of spirituous liquors in Carthage. Referred.
 By Mr Gray, a bill to prevent the sale of liquor in certain townships of Dare county. Referred.
 By Mr Dudley, a bill to amend charter of the city of New Berne, N. C. Referred.

Calendar.
 House resolution authorizing the Judiciary committee to send for persons and papers relative to the impeachment of R. M. Henry, Solicitor of the 12th Judicial District, passed.
 House resolution on requesting North Carolina Representatives in Congress to use their influence to have the tax on liquor and the bonds of distillers and tobacco dealers reduced, was taken up and on motion, laid on the table.
 House bill to protect the agricultural interests of the State, was read.
 The substitute recommended by the Judiciary committee, was read.
 A long debate ensued during which Mr Brown, of Davidson, moved to indefinitely postpone, which motion was voted down, but the bill failed to pass its second reading.
 The resolution to remove the disabilities of W. W. Holden, next came up.
 Mr Houston moved to indefinitely postpone the resolution.
 A long debate followed and many speeches were made, among which was Mr Morrisin's, which is published in full in the News. We give enough of the concluding portion to show the animus of the whole. He said:

 "There is no act of the State of North Carolina of which her sons should feel more proud than of the impeachment of Gov. Holden—I say it not as a partisan, but as a citizen, a lover of the sacred principles of magna charta and habeas corpus. It is time our people have won glorious laurels on every field where intellect, wisdom and valor can avail. Geo. E. Badger and Nathaniel Macon could have with honor worn the statesman's toga in any age or land.—The genius of Leonard Henderson and Thomas Ruffin would have done credit to the woolsock of England; and in the late civil-war our soldiers, lead by Branch, Pender, Pettigrew and my own county's chivalrous Dodson Rameur, worked out for themselves a name and a fame in history to be honored as long as virtue and courage have a place in the hearts of men. But when the representatives of the people assembled in 1870, and undaunted by threats of federal bayonets, determined to punish a Governor who had trampled every principle of Republican freedom under his feet, in my opinion, they added lustre to every other page of our history, and proved that they were not unworthy sons and grandsons of the heroes of 1776."
 Pass this resolution and you stultify their action completely, and you render barren of fruit one of the greatest victories ever gained by popular rights over the encroachments of Executive tyranny.
 Mr Badger argued at length in favor of the resolution, but there is no report of his speech published.
 After considerable debate, the question on Mr Houston's motion to indefinitely postpone, was put and carried in the affirmative by the following vote:
 Yeas—Messrs Anderson, of Davie, Anderson, of Clay, Ballard, Bennett, Blackwell, Brown, of Mecklenburg, Bryson, of Jackson, Bryson, of Swain, Bryson, of Sampson, Bryson, of Alleghany, Ballard, Byrd, Carter, Craige, Dickey, Freeman, Gant, Gilmer, Grady, Gudger, Haynes, Hinnant, Houston, Johnson, Jones, of Caldwell, Jones, of Orange, Jones, of Tyrrell, Joyner, Johns Lindsay, Luckey, Marler, Maxwell, McGeece, McNeill, Mitchell, Moring, Moss, Morrison, Norment, Presson, Shaw, Shinn, of Iredell, Shinn, of Cabarrus, Shackelford, Standford, Stowe, Todd, Turner, Warlick, Waddill, Watson, Waugh, Webb, Wiley, Whitmore and Woodhouse—57.
 Nays—Messrs Abbott, Badger, Bean, Blythe, Bowe, Bowman, Browns, of Davidson, Bryant, of Pitt, Bryson, of Wilkes, Brooks, Bunn, Carson, Copeland, Corson, Cox, Darden, Davis, Dudley, Dula, Ellison, Fletcher, Foster, Godfrey, Gorman, Goodwyn, Gray, Guyther, Hampton, Heaton, Hughes, Jones, of Camden, Jones, of Northampton, Jordan, King, Lloyd, Lutterloh, McLaurin, Miller, Michael, Patrick, Paschall, Perry, of Bladen, Perry, of Wake, Reid, of Randolph, Rhodes, Scott, Sharp, Trivett, Winslow, Wheeler and Whitsent—50.
 The bill to amend the school law was taken up on its third reading.
 Mr Johnston offered a substitute therefor.
 Pending its consideration the House adjourned.
