Savings Banks.

The Post has always advocated Savings Banks, and has given statistics showing the almost magical gain of compound interest. As deposits from ten cents and upwards are received at these institutions, no one is excluded. In a short time, a new candidate for public favor, the "Wilmington Trust Company and Savings Bank," will commence operations, and we invite attention to its claims for patronage.

It is a home enterprise. This, to our mind, is a great and paramount argument in favor of any institution or manufacture. If we had our way, there would be far less importations from Europe, and far less articles brought here from the North. It often surprises us to see men who are persistently "damning the Yankees," pass by their own brethren and send North for their manufactured articles. The principle is the same in banking. We are to have a Savings Bank in our midst, managed by men of high integrity and known wealth, and that guarantees the financial soundness of the institution. Being successful business men, they are skillful enough to engineer the affairs of the Bank through the dangers such business often encounters, and as it loans its deposits in our midst it proves of twofold value to our people.

The system of credit is at best a very precarious one, and the Bank that receives the earnings and little savings of the widow and orphan should be so completely above suspicion, and so thoroughly guaranteed by its managers, as to command the confidence of every man, woman and child in the city.—Such a one will be opened for business in a few days. We believe that our Savings Banks, above all others, should be home institutions, and managed by people perfectly well known, who are not borrowers, and who will loan the funds in our midst. By this means, the funds of the depositors will be—though drawing interest for their benefit—still in circulation in our midst. A Savings Bank, which sends its deposits North for investment, while it may work benefit to its depositors, is a detriment to the people at large. We need every dollar we can raise to transact the business of the city, and we most sincerely dislike to have the money deposited here in small sums sent out of the State for investment, thus reducing our volume of currency, and being of no practical benefit to the people at large.

This is a subject of great importance, and to which we invite careful attention. Will we deposit our money in an institution managed and guaranteed by capitalists in our midst, or will we still send our earnings to be invested in another State, and under the direction of men unknown to us financially? We do not wish to be understood in the slightest degree as doubting the solvency or integrity of other Savings Banks, but as a plain, business proposition, we believe it to be our interest to patronize the home institution.

Brutal Murder.

The Greensboro' Patriot tells of the murder of an old man named Henry Clapp seventy years old in Guilford county, by two men named Peter Staley and Alson Staley. It seems that on Sunday, March 20th, the Staleys met Clapp in the road, and a quarrel ensued, when Peter Staley felled the old man with a stick and Alson Staley stamped him severely, and then left him in a disabled condition. They met a colored man, whom they requested to go to the place where Clapp was and take him home, which he did, the poor old man being in an unconscious condition. Physicians attended the injured man, and in about two weeks he had so far recovered as to be able to get about a little, though with much suffering. On the 18th inst., he was seen in the woods near his house, after which time he was not seen again. Search was made day night a party carrying torches were attracted by the barking of a dog belonging to the old man and which always accompanied him, and upon reaching the place where the dog was, they found the dead body of Clapp, within four hundred yards of his house. The faithful dog had evidently remained by the side of his master all the while. An inquest was held on the body, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the foregoing facts. The murderers are still at large.

EDITORIAL BUDGET.

—A letter from Siency, Nebraska, dated the 22d instant, says: Sixteen Indians dashed into Moore's herd and stole thirty head of horses and mules. Mr. Moore and fifty mounted men, with Captain Handley in command, started in pursuit.

—Over three-fourths of the railroad bridge at Kendall's Mills, Maine, was destroyed by fire April 23d. It is supposed to have caught from a freight train which had passed over it a short time before. The loss is estimated at $100,000. All the telegraph lines that run on the bridge are destroyed.

—Secretary of War Belknap, General Phil Sheridan and party left Ringgold barracks, 120 miles above Brownsville, La., for that place Wednesday. They are expected to arrive to day. The city council has tendered them the freedom of the city, and has appointed a committee to meet and escort them into town. Preparations are being made to extend a hearty welcome to the distinguished persons by the people generally, without distinction of party.

—A correspondent of the Daily Champion, writing from Arkansas City, says a man named Thompson arrived there on the 20th instant, who states that on the 11th he was robbed by a band of Indians, near Medicine Lodge creek, and his four companions killed. The party consisted of himself, John and William Mitchell and William and James Fullerton. The party arrived at Medicine Lodge creek, near the south line of the State, on the 8th instant. They had with them a span of horses, wagon, camp equipage and $1,000 in money. On Friday, the 11th instant, Thompson was about a quarter of a mile from camp, when he saw three or four hundred Indians surround it, and shortly afterwards heard firing and saw the Indians using tomahawks on his comrades. He supposes they were all killed at the time of the attack. Part of the band took him prisoner and robbed him of all he had, but finally let him go. He arrived at Caldwell about noon of the 14th, and while there was told that nine others were killed at Medicine Lodge creek by the Indians about the same time his camp was attacked.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The First Comptroller has not yet received a copy of the opinion of the Supreme Court concerning the twenty per cent. claims, and when received an important question will arise as to how the claims shall be paid. There is no appropriation for that purpose.

Drs. J. B. G. Baxter, of Wisconsin, N. F. Graham, of Minnesota, Wm. Greusted, of Missouri, and W. L. Worcester, of New Hampshire, have been appointed to positions upon the staff of the medical referee of the Pension Bureau, after the usual competitive examination.

It is stated that an important statement will soon be made public regarding a gigantic scheme said to be already nearly matured, to obtain control of the entire transportation traffic in the United States. The scheme has been carefully concealed and attempts made to involve members of Congress to prevent adverse legislation. Advances to subsidize a well known Senator from the West, by a proffer of stock at par, are reported as the cause of the impending exposure.

The advertisements for bids for furnishing boilers and other machinery for the new sloops of war will soon be issued. The specifications for this work have all been made, and the Secretary of the Navy will, as soon as the pressure of business relaxes somewhat, scrutinize them, and upon his approval, bills will be requested. Contractors can send in their own plans, which will be examined by the Department, the Secretary of the Navy not being entirely guided by the plans of the Government engineers.

The Secretary of the Treasury has notified collectors of customs that certain so-called plain glass chimneys returned by appraisers as cut glass, by reason of their having undergone a process of grinding, is held to be dutiable at 40 per cent. ad valorem, under the provision for "glass cut" in section 9, act June 30, 1861, less 10 per cent. under section 2, act June 6, 1873. The Secretary states that the rule that articles of glass are to be classified as "cut glass" by reason of the fact that the whole or some parts thereof have been smoothed or polished by grinding, is of long standing, although never published.

Captain S. R. Franklin has been detached from the naval station at New London, Conn., and ordered to command the Wabash, in the European fleet. He will sail for Europe on the 31st of May. The Navy Department is in receipt of letters from the flag-ship Lancaster, South Atlantic squadron. That vessel left Sata Cathencia April 1, for a week's cruise, and would visit other ports, and, after a short cruise, go to Montevideo and return to Rio as soon as yellow fever abates. The health of officers and crew, and generally throughout the fleet, is good. Lieutenant Commander Roderick S. McCook was examined for promotion.

The sensational reports regarding the alleged purchase of appointments to be commissioner from this Government to the Vienna exposition have no foundation whatever in fact. Charges have been made by Minister Jay based upon unsubstantiated rumors to the effect that some of Gen. Van Buren's assistants have used their authority with him to procure privileges and licenses for the keeping of restaurants, &c., in the American division of the exposition; but no charges have been made, except from irresponsible sources, that the appointment of commissioners was corruptly procured. Certain interested parties have made public assertions that some of the honorary commissioners directly concerned in sewing machine and other patents, but close investigation disproves these assertions.

A respectable young man in Worcester has been inhumanely treated by his landlady, and finally ejected from her house, where he had all the refinements of a home for three dollars and a half a week, merely because at the breakfast table the other morning he averted her in the presence of the other boarders, and sent the butler to a hairdresser and sell it for a wig. It seems as if some people never could take a joke.

A revolutionary soldier deposited his pension in a New Hampshire bank forty years ago. Neither principal nor interest has been touched, as the soldier died soon after making the deposit.

A beautiful Indiana school girl, thirteen years old and six feet one inch high, is causing a general rupture among the suspenders of the short boys who try to kiss her.

 F. M. KING Cashier.

DIRECTORS:

Silas N. Martin, Donald McRae,
 Edw'rd Kidder, E. E. Burruss,
 George Chadbourn.

This Institution will commence business on Thursday, May 1st, 1873, at its Banking House on Market street, North side between Front and Second streets.

Deposits of ONE DIME and upwards, will be received.

Married women and minors, by the provision of the charter, can deposit money in their own name, subject to their own control.

INTEREST, at the rate of SIX PER CENT. PER ANNUM, allowed on all deposits of FIVE DOLLARS and upwards, remaining in the Bank three months and upwards. Interest is payable semi-annually—when not drawn out, the amount will be added to the principal money, and is entitled to interest the same as a regular deposit.

Loans will be made upon first class real estate and collaterals, at reasonable rates.

It is intended that this Institution shall supply a long felt want in the city of Wilmington. It offers a safe place for the deposits of the savings of the people, however small. It will add to the sum deposited and give an impetus to business by retaining and employing the capital where it is accumulated.

The patronage of the public is solicited.
