

It has been contemplated for some time, on the part of leading Southern Republicans, to establish a newspaper at Washington which shall give more special attention to Southern affairs. The demand for such a paper at present is the greater from the fact that the Washington Republican, a newspaper of that city, claiming to be Republican in politics, is constantly misrepresenting Southern Republicans. That paper was never known to discuss a public question with any ability, and it has no principles above its own interest. Last winter its proprietor desired the contract for printing the Congressional Globe, but because a large majority of the Senators, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, voted that the work should be done at the government printing office, the Republican (so called) has declared war on them. Among these is Senator Pool, whom it is attacking ostensibly for something connected with the labor movement, but really because he did not see fit to vote to give its proprietor a grab at a hundred thousand dollars net profit out of the Treasury. This sheet is a snake in the grass, and we warn all Republicans against it. It is true it is conducted feebly, and is chiefly devoted to its own petty interests, and has about the influence of a garrulous fish-woman. It is better for respectable people not to countenance it.

A COMMISSION has been appointed to try the captured murdering Modocs, and it is hoped they will soon receive the reward they so richly merit and their bodies be placed where they will do the most good. We have urged the extermination of this band of savages, for they have been a trouble to the government and a curse to the settlers for many years. But at the same time, we can find no terms strong enough to express our disgust for the outrageous murder of some of them while riding in a wagon in charge of Fairchild, as heretofore published. We are no advocate of assassination under any circumstances, and we yet hope to chronicle the trial of the scoundrels who committed the dastardly act. This outrage does not deter us from desiring a full and lasting settlement of the Modoc question. Let the punishment be short, speedy and decisive, and every Indian on the plains will know of it in less than thirty days and a lasting peace be thereby secured.

SUPREME COURT.—Appeals from the 4th district were taken up and the following cases argued:
State vs. M. McJ. Tatom, et al., from Bladen. Attorney General and W. M. L. McKay for the State; no counsel for defendants.
Willis P. Barnes et al., vs. W. J. Brown and wife et al., from Robeson. Nat McLean, W. M. L. McKay for the plaintiffs; Robert Strange, Giles Leitch and N. A. McLean for defendants.
State vs. W. H. Harrison, from New Hanover. Attorney General and Edward Cantwell for the State; no counsel for the defendants.
State vs. John T. Speight, from New Hanover. Attorney General for the State; Mauger London for the defendant.
State vs. Jno. Devine et al., from New Hanover. Attorney General for the State. Motion to dismiss for want of appeal bond. (?)

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Propositions have been made to Postmaster General Creswell, with a view to effecting the establishment of a postal treaty between the United States and Japan.
All the outstanding three per cent. certificates but $30,000 have been redeemed by the Treasury. In November, 1870, when the first call was made, $45,000,000 were outstanding.
Second Assistant Engineer E. H. Rhoades has been ordered to the Junata, to relieve First Assistant Engineer B. F. Wood, who has been detached from that vessel and ordered to the Yantic, Asiatic fleet.
The First Comptroller of the Treasury reminds United States marshals throughout the country, that another of the annual settlements of their accounts for expenses of courts must be made as early in next month as possible.

The President has forwarded the following appointments from Long Branch: Joseph G. Moore, of Mississippi, consul at Trinidad de Cuba; Walter Watson, first lieutenant revenue marine service; Fred A. O'Connor, second lieutenant revenue marine service; Fred L. Roche, third lieutenant revenue marine service.
A Dubuque man took quicksilver as the last resort for rheumatism. It was the last for him too.

EDITORIAL BUDGET.

In the West murder case the jury returned a verdict, at 6 o'clock Thursday, of not guilty, on the ground of self defense.

It is looked upon as an extraordinary act, and one which causes wonderment, how the survivors of the Polar ice could remain on an ice floe from October until April, and float from Northumberland island down to the coast of Labrador, a distance of 1,500 miles. Yet a similar act occurred a few years ago from an expedition to the North Pole, fitted out under German auspices. Parties composing that expedition were wrecked, and remained on the ice from October until June, having floated during that time from the northeastern extremity of Greenland down to Cape Farewell.

The opinion of the Attorney General, turning the Modoc Indians over to a military court-martial for trial, raises the question in the mind of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and others connected with the Indian service, why the Government should in one instance treat Indians as wards of the nation, then as an independent nation, and again as a foreign belligerent. Such expressions as the above comprise about the only comment in official circles concerning the forthcoming trial, and any real opposition to the course to be pursued by the commission toward the Modocs is not apparent, nor has any protest to this effect been received at the Indian Bureau.

Because of the refusal of Second Auditor French to receive ladies in his bureau who had successfully passed the civil service examination required of Treasury clerks, and their non-appointment elsewhere in the Treasury because of a vacant place to which they were suited, the impression is quite general that the Secretary of the Treasury has made it a rule not to appoint ladies to positions where the salary is above $900 per annum. The Secretary states that such is not the case, and that he is willing to appoint ladies to any grade of clerkships where they successfully pass the required examination and are otherwise qualified to perform the duties required. The duties in many of the bureaus of the Treasury women can not well perform, but of course the Department can not prevent them from competing when general vacancies occur in the Treasury Department.

The case, from an American stand point, which will be presented to the International Patent Congress at Vienna next August, by Hon. J. M. Tatcher, Assistant Commissioner of Patents and Commissioner from the United States to the above Congress, is now being prepared. As the main object of this Congress is to originate an international system of patents, the effort will be made to have that system conform as near as possible that of the American system, which is more generally appreciated in the various nations than any other one. The question of allowing a patent taken out in one country to be registered in another upon application, without first submitting said patent to an examination, will be one of the principal topics to be discussed by the International Congress. As all civilized governments have been asked to appoint representatives to officiate in this Congress, the discussions that may arise big fair to be very thorough.

The Treasury Department advises all United States attorneys, clerks, and commissioners that their accounts for services in each fiscal year, ending on the 30th of June, when payable from the appropriation for expenses of courts, are payable only from the appropriation made for the year in which the services are performed; and no account should contain fees earned in different fiscal years.

Collector Crowley, of New York, who has been sued by the New York Central Railroad Company to recover taxes paid under compulsion to the United States, was at the Internal Revenue Bureau on Thursday, and held a consultation with the Commissioner concerning the trial. The case will come up for a hearing before Judge Hunt, of the United States circuit court, at Canandaigua, N. Y., in the latter part of this month, when Collector Crowley will be defended by Government counsel.

The force of habit is fully illustrated in the case of a retired milkman, who says he never sees a can of water without putting an almost irresistible desire to put some milk into it.
A witty man of leisure says that one difference between a doctor and a lawyer is that while the one sometimes gains his object by blustering the other works his case by blustering.

Before falling eight feet upon a pile of stones, always take a reef in your tongue. If Mr. Sells, of Louisville, had taken this simple precaution, he would not have bitten off that useful member.

A Dubuque man took quicksilver as the last resort for rheumatism. It was the last for him too.

WAIFS.

The Boston Post believes that there are one hundred doctors in that city who would be a success as teamsters.

Mrs. Knott, of Oregon, claims to have raised Captain Jack. The next thing that is likely to raise him is a noose.

A Charleston father gave a young man who had saved his daughter from drowning a two year old steer and a shot gun.

The average business of the New York pickpockets is said to amount to from fifteen or twenty thousand dollars per week.

A most remarkable cure of the desire for tobacco is that of an Indianapolis alderman. He was thrown from his buggy sometime ago, and since then has loathed the foul weed.

The Boston Transcript says that persons who send poetry to the newspapers should always retain copies. If most of them would retain the originals, perhaps it would be just as well.

ENTERS UPON ITS SECOND VOLUME with indications of enlarged future usefulness. The past year has demonstrated that a

DAILY REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER can be made self supporting, and that it is consequently independent of all rings or combinations. THE EVENING POST will labor for the welfare of this portion of North Carolina with renewed vigor.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS Calculated to improve the condition of the people, and strongly favorable to as its course during the past year has shown, and it commends itself to all the people now on earth who believe in PROGRESS, as a co-worker for the material interests of North Carolina. The columns of THE POST are offered to the advertising public as a first class investment for liberal dealers, who wish to extend their trade. Such men eschew politics, and place their announcements "where they will do the most good" among the people. THE POST does not claim that it is the only advertising medium in this city, but it does claim that it enables merchants to reach
