AT HOME

Build Up the Town.

Since the war this town has grown considerably in wealth and importance. We desire to see it continue to improve until it becomes all that its position and advantages entitle it to be. To feach this desirable end should be the aim of every property holder and business man. It is equally to the interest of every farmer in the county that we should have a growing and thriving town. And every man in the town and county can aid in the good work. We want public spirit and a free use of all the arguments at our command in favor of Wilson, to make it within a few years a manufacturing and market town which shall be second to day we should have a cotton factory here, employing some two hundred operatives and adding some five hundred souls to our population. Such an establishment could not fail to pay a handsome per centage on. the capital invested, while it would greatly increase the general business of the town. It would create a greater demand and greatly enhance the value of all classes | accepting, will notify me by the 10th inst. of town property. It would largely intrease the business of every merchant in the place, and create a demand for the estab ishment of other industries. These would open up a ready home market for tle surplus vegetable, fiuits, etc., that -how go to waste on almost every farm in the county. And the larger and more

All over the South we hear of improve ments going on, manufactures going up towns doubling in population, and the lands near them rapidly increasing in value. We beg the people of Wilson, town and county, to consider these things, Do not say that it all looks very well on paper-sit down, fold your arms, cross your legs, and let all others outstrip you in the race of industry and wealth. We want public spirited men to lead off in these things. We should be ashamed to say that we have none such. Then if we have them, let them be solicited and encouraged to commence the work. We called at the Southerner office and found our friend "J. G." at home, looking about as comfortable as bachelor editors of thriving papers generally do. We did not have the pleasure of meeting Capt. Biggs, of the Southerner, on this visit. The Southerner is an "established institution" in Edgecombe, and may it long flourish under its present management.

At the new p inting office of Messrs. The dwelling house occupied by Capt. H. E. Bon'on, Railroad Agent at this place, was entirely consumed by fire on Wednesnesday morning last. The fire was discovered about daybreak, the flames proceeding from the kitchen attached to the dwelling. As no fire had been used in that apartment after six o'clock on the sented. evening previous, and from the secure arrangement of the stove and pipe, Mr. Benon inclines to the belief that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The building was the property of Mr. Joel Moye, whose loss will reach about $600. Mr. Benton's loss was principally in kitchen furniture and clothing of himself and family, amountink to some $200.

To the Citizens of Wilson :- Allow me to oftalk together and work together, for the fer my sincere and heartfelt thanks to you for general good. A Home Enterprise. The first number of the second volume of the Carolina Farmer is on our table .-This really meritorious journal has been changed from a monthly to a weekly, and contains eight pages, (five columns each) of choice original and selected reading matter for the farm and fireside. It has a beautifully engraved head, and handsome rule border with tastefully designed corner pieces. In typographical execution it is a credit to Southern skill and enter prise. Published at the low price of $2.00 per year. Address Wm. H. Bernard, Editor and Proprietor, Wilmington, N. C.

Our friend Hardy, Agent for sale of Agricultural Implements, etc., is out in new advertisement to-day, to which we invite the attention of the reader. He has now in store a variety of farm machinery, tools, hardware, &c. He is also agent for the American Button-Hole, Cver-S-aming and Sewing Machine, which is decided by good judges to be a No. 1 machine, doing all the work that is claimed for it in a perfectly satisfactory manner. Mr. Hardy has also added to his stock a variety of furniture, consisting of beds eads, bureaus, safes, chair &c., which is worthy the attention of housekeepers.
