THRASHING MACHINE FANS, MILLS, and PLOUGHS.
 THE subscribers offer to the public a newly invented THRASHING MACHINE, constructed on the spike or rubbing principle. Those who wish to save labor and expedite the business of thrashing, will find this one of the most useful machines ever offered to them. With two horses this machine acquires the velocity of 650 to 700 revolutions in a minute, at which speed it is warranted to thresh perfectly clean from 125 to 150 bushels per day.
 They can also supply, upon short notice, FAN MILLS, upon Sinclair & Moore's plan, of Baltimore; and also Sinclair & Moore's highly improved Bar Shear PLOUGHS, made of the best materials, and warranted to perform well.
 Orders addressed to the subscribers at Milton will be punctually attended to.
Harrington & Farley.
 N. B. A supply of FAN MILLS and PLOUGHS will be constantly kept at Hillsborough, by SAMUEL CHILD, Agent.
 June 19.

NOTICE.

TEMPERANCE.
 AT the Temperance Convention, held at Raleigh, on the 15th of December, 1850, it was Resolved that the several Temperance Societies already formed, and those which may hereafter be formed within this State, be requested to become auxiliary to the State Society, and report to its Secretary their officers and number of members; and also to forward a copy of their constitution to this society. Also that the Secretary of this society report their formation to the Parent Society. And as the annual meeting of the North Carolina State Temperance Society will take place on Thursday, the 15th of December next, in Raleigh, the attention of auxiliaries is politely called to the above resolution. A speedy compliance with its request is solicited.
 As frequent inquiries are made as to the terms required of auxiliaries, it may serve a good purpose to answer them publicly.
 1st. Any society whose members neither make, buy, use, nor sell ardent spirits, except as medicine, may become auxiliary, by sending a copy of their constitution and their reports to the Parent Society through the hands of their Corresponding Secretary, Rev. Thos. J. Hunt, Wilmington.
 2d. It is expected of auxiliaries that they report to the Corresponding Secretaries annually (a few weeks at least before the annual meeting at Raleigh) their officers, number of members, and any other interesting matter which in their judgment will promote the cause of temperance, and that they send delegates to the annual meeting.
 3d. As the society has no funds, and the Secretary serves without any compensation, it is desirable that all communications be post paid.
THOMAS P. HUNT, Co Sec'y.

 Editors friendly to the cause of Temperance will please insert this two or three times.
BLANKS for sale at this Office.

A New, Cheap, and Popular Periodical, entitled the Select Circulating Library.
 Containing equal to Fifty Volumes, for Five Dollars!!!
PROSPECTUS.

IN presenting to the public a periodical, entirely new in its character, it will be expected that the publisher should describe his plan, and the objects he hopes to accomplish. There is growing up in the United States a numerous population, with literary tastes, who are scattered over a large space, and who, distant from the localities where books and literary information emanate, feel themselves at a great loss for that mental food which education has fitted them to enjoy. Books are cheap in our principal cities, but in the interior they cannot be procured as soon as published, nor without considerable expense. To supply this desideratum is the design of the present undertaking, the chief object of which emphatically is to make good reading cheaper, and to put it in a form that will bring it to every man's door.

Books cannot be sent by mail, while the "Select Circulating Library" may be received at the most distant post office in the Union in from fifteen to twenty-five days after it is published, at the trifling expense of two and a half cents; or in other words, before a book could be found in Philadelphia, our subscribers in Ohio or Vermont may be perusing it in their parlours.

To elucidate the advantages of the "Select Circulating Library" such as we propose, it is only necessary to compare it with some other publications. Take the Waverly novels for example; the Chronicles of the Canongate occupy two volumes, which are sold at 1.25 to $1.50. The whole number would be readily contained in three numbers of this periodical at an expense of thirty seven cents, postage included. So that more than three times the quantity of literary matter can be supplied for the same money by adopting the newspaper form. But we consider transmission by mail, and the early receipt of a new book, as a most distinguishing feature of the publication. Distant subscribers will be placed on a footing with those nearer at hand, and will be supplied at their own homes with equal to about Fifty Volumes of the common London novel size for Five Dollars. This may not take fifty two weeks to accomplish; for, though not longer than one week will elapse between the issuing of each number, yet when there is a very interesting matter, or when two or more numbers are required to contain a whole work, the proprietor will feel himself at liberty to publish at shorter intervals—fifty two numbers being the equivalent for five dollars.

Arrangements have been made to receive from London an early copy of every new book printed either in that part of talent or in Edinburgh, together with the periodical literature of Great Britain.—From the former we shall select the best Novels, Stories, Tales, Travels, Sketches, Biography, &c. and publish them with as much rapidity and accuracy as an extensive printing office will admit. From the latter, such literary intelligence will occasionally be culled, as will prove interesting and entertaining to the lover of knowledge and science, literature and novelty. Good standard novels, and other works now out of print, may also occasionally be re-produced in our columns.

The publisher confidently assures the heads of families, that they need have no dread of introducing the "Select Circulating Library" into their domestic circle, as the gentleman who has undertaken the Editorial duties, to literary tastes and habits adds a due sense of the responsibility he assumes in catering for an extended and moral community, and of the consequences, detrimental or otherwise, that will follow the dissemination of spurious or wholesome mental aliment. His situation and engagements afford him peculiar advantages and facilities for the selection of books.—These, with the additional channels created by Agents at London, Liverpool, and Edinburgh, warrant the proprietor in guaranteeing a faithful execution of the literary department.

It would be supererogatory to dilate on the general advantages and conveniences which such a publication presents to people of literary pursuits who are located, but more particularly to those who reside in retired situations—they are so obvious that the first glance cannot fail to flash conviction of its eligibility.

TERMS.
 The "Select Circulating Library" will be printed weekly on a double medium sheet of fine paper in octavo form, with three columns on a page, and mailed with great care so as to carry safely to the most distant post office. It will be printed and finished with the same care and accuracy as book work. The whole fifty two numbers will form a volume, worth preservation, of 832 pages, equal in quantity to 1200 pages, or three volumes, of Rees' Cyclopaedia. Each volume will be accompanied with a title page and index.
 The price is Five Dollars for fifty-two numbers of sixteen pages each,—a price at which it cannot be afforded unless extensively patronized. Payment at all times in advance.
 Agents who procure five subscribers, shall have a receipt in full by remitting the publisher $20.00,—a proportionate compensation for a larger number. This arrangement is made to increase the circulation to an extent which will make it an object to pay agents liberally.—Clubs of five individuals may thus procure the work for $4.00 by uniting in their remittances.
 Subscribers, living near agents, may pay their subscriptions to them; those otherwise situated may remit the amount to the subscribers at his expense. Our arrangements are all made for the fulfilment of our part of the contract.
 Subscribers' names should be immediately forwarded, in order that the publisher may know how many to print of the future numbers.

* * * Editors of Newspapers who give the above three or more conspicuous insertions, will be entitled to an exchange of 52 Numbers.
ADAM WALDIE,
 Carpenter street, near Seventh, Philadelphia, October, 1852.

NAPOLEON'S MOTHER

Her will is the subject of conversation in all societies at Rome. The following are the most remarkable bequests which have transpired:
 * A legacy of 50,000 piastres to the mother of the Duke of Reichstadt.
 * 100,000 piastres to each of her sons and daughters.
 * A very considerable legacy for a pious and religious establishment at Rome, under the direction of the testamentary executors.
 The Mont de Pieté, of Rome, to be the receptacle at the time of Madame Letitia's death her diamonds and other valuable effects, which are valued at least at ten millions of Roman piastres.

A legacy in money or jewels, to the amount of 1,000 sequins, at the choice of each of the testamentary executors.
 * At the remainder of net property, in furniture, in come, plate diamonds, jewelry, pictures, and precious effects of all kinds, is willed to the eldest or first born male, or the possessor at present, and to be the price made deservant from Napoleon. If there should be no sons of the same age in his line, coming from father or son, both will come to hands of possessors of the majority, which is to remain in the family.
 * Napoleon will be executor of the bequests of his different bequests.

In case of the entire extinction of the male line of Napoleon (the children of the daughters being excluded) the property—value, all existing lands, acres being valued at 15,000,000 of Roman piastres (about three millions sterling)—will become the exclusive property of the capital of Corsica, with the reversion of the legacy of 50,000 piastres for the boys born of the female line of Napoleon.

Madame Letitia, the Cardinal of Rome, and Torlonia, the banker, have been appointed testamentary executors.
 The body of Madame Letitia is directed to be transported from Rome to Ajaccio, where her sons are to erect a monument, bearing this inscription:—
 "To her mother of Napoleon."
 A legacy of thirty thousand piastres is given to the national church of St. Louis of the French, for the perpetual celebration, by the dignitaries of the church, of a mass to be sung daily, and a solemn service for the anniversary of the death of the Emperor Napoleon and Madame Letitia.

The only her mortal remains will be taken from Rome to be interred in Ajaccio, and to be given to the poor, the 26 copies of this will are each to have 100 piastres for this purpose. Madame Letitia has desired, in her will, her sons, and Caroline Fesch, who possesses an immense fortune, and the most rare collection of pictures, to make their testamentary disposition in favor of the direct line men in her will, in order that the name of Napoleon may shine at the head of their family, and retain the remembrance of their former greatness.

EXTENT AND INCREASE OF THE RUSSIAN EMPIRE.—In the beginning of the sixteenth century, the population of Russia amounted only to ten millions and her territory spread over an extent of about thirty seven thousand square miles. In the middle of the seventeenth century (1645) the population was about twelve millions, and the territory about two hundred and fifty thousand square miles. In the reign of Catherine the Great, in 1763, the population had increased to twenty-five millions, and the territory to three hundred and twenty thousand square miles.—And in 1825, at the death of Alexander, the population was sixty millions, and the extent more than three hundred and seventy-five thousand square miles. To these must be added the immense acquisitions made from the Turks and the Persians, by the present emperor. The Russian territory now embraces one hundred and ninety meridians of longitude, and thirty-eight parallel of latitude.

POPULATION OF FRANCE.—The census of 1827 evinced an increase in the population of France, in the space of five years, of 1,400,000. That of 1832 shows an increase of but little more than 700,000. In the department of the Seine there is a diminution of 78,000 inhabitants. This diminution is here attributed to the political state of France. The present population of the kingdom is 32,560,934.
