

State Legislature

In this county, the following gentlemen are before the people as candidates for seats in the State Legislature, viz.

WHIGS.
Senators—Hugh Waddle, esq.
Commons—Willie P. Mangum, William A. Graham, John Boon, and Nathaniel J. King, esqrs.
VAN BUREN.
Senators—Gen. Joseph Allison.
Commons—Col. John Storkard, Col. Herbert Sims, Col. Benjamin Trolinger, and Dr. Julius Bracken.

In Person county the candidates are, for the Senate, John Barnett (Whig.) and John Williams, (Van Buren); for Commons, Robert Jones, Moses Chambers, and Isham Edwards, (Van Buren); all advocates for an United States Bank.

Our friend of the Standard does not know the Whig candidates in this county so well as the people of Orange do, or he would not have ventured the supposition that they would not come out openly, and above board, upon all the important questions which now engage public attention. If he will attend some of our tax-gatherings in July, he will hear so many truths relative to the measures and conduct of the administration of the General Government so explicitly and plainly exhibited to the people, that he himself will be tempted to cry out "Oh! hush!" He will find that the Whig candidates entertain no principles or opinions that they are not ready openly to defend. And we think he will find, too, that the response of the people will be "Amen" to all of them.

We last week gave some account of the burning of the Pennsylvania Hall in Philadelphia by the populace. We have this week to add, that an attempt was made on Friday evening to burn the Orphan School house for coloured boys in Callowhill street, and the Orphan Asylum, also for blacks. The school house was a large four story brick building, nearly new. The attention of the mob was directed to the school house, in consequence of a rumor that an abolition meeting was to be held in the school-room.

The Governor of Pennsylvania has offered a reward of five hundred dollars for the apprehension and conviction of each, and every person engaged in the burning of the Pennsylvania Hall on the 17th instant.

The Mayor of the city of Philadelphia has offered a reward also of two thousand dollars for the conviction of the persons engaged in the destruction of that building.

A young man, said to be of a respectable family, has been arrested, and examined before Alderman Binns, charged with having assisted in the destruction of the Pennsylvania Hall, and was bound over in the sum of three thousand dollars for his appearance.

As an indication of the feeling that prevailed, it is said that the house of a poor widow having been injured to the amount of some fifty dollars, a collection for her benefit was set on foot, and money collected to the amount of four hundred and seventy dollars.

The immediate cause of this popular outburst is said to have been the ridiculous and ostentatious amalgamation of colors in Chesnut street, during hours of fashionable promenading.

Gen. Dennis Kimberly (Whig.) of New Haven, has been elected by the Legislature of Connecticut to the Senate of the United States, for six years from the 4th of March next, in place of the Hon. John M. Niles, (Van Buren.) whose term of service will then expire. The votes were, for Kimberly 97, Niles 30.

Gen Kimberly is represented as a gentleman of fine talents, possessing many estimable qualities, and of popular address.

Mississippi.—Full returns have been received from this state, and give to Prentiss 12249 votes, Word 11581, Claiborne 11308, Davis 10321. Prentiss and Word, the Whig candidates, are consequently elected, the former by a majority of 941, and the latter by a majority of 273.

It is stated that the Hon. Levi Woodbury, now Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, has been nominated by the Governor and Council of the state of New Hampshire, as Chief Justice of the Superior Court of Judicature for the state of New Hampshire. It is further said, that Amos Kendall is to receive the appointment of Secretary of the Treasury, and that Isaac Hill, now Governor of New Hampshire, is to be made Postmaster General.

The St. Louis Commercial Bulletin says, that the signs of political reformation are brightening in Missouri, and that from every quarter assurances are received that the elections in that state will be cheering to the lovers of the constitution and good government. It is probable, therefore, that in the next Congress a Whig Senator may occupy the place of the Hon Thomas H. Benton.

The Frederick Times, a Van Buren Conservative paper, says: "If the sub-Treasury is not given up in a very short time, and Mr. Rives substitute carried by the aid of all our friends in Congress, Pennsylvania will go for the Whigs by ten thousand majority."

The same paper further says: "If the Administration will return to the principles which it has abandoned, we think it possible that it might be able to sustain itself; but if the present policy is adhered to twelve months longer, Mr. Van Buren will not receive the electoral vote of a single state in the Union, in 1840."

In the packet ships which have recently left New York for Liverpool, many passengers have gone out for the purpose of being present at the coronation of Queen Victoria. Among those who sailed in the Gladiator on the 20th instant, was John Van Buren, esq. of Washington, son of the President of the United States.

Gen. Memucan Hunt, Envoy from Texas, left Washington for Texas on the 23d inst. The National Intelligencer says, without a purpose of immediate return, Fairfax Callet, esq. has been left Charge d'Affaires in the interim.

A French squadron, consisting of a line-of-battle-ship and a corvette, having on board as an officer the Prince de Joinville, one of the sons of Louis Philippe, King of the French, arrived in Hampton Roads, from Havana, on the 20th inst. The Prince landed at Norfolk on the same day, and on Tuesday proceeded, by the way of Richmond, for Washington City, at which place he arrived on Thursday, attended by several French officers.

A violent tornado passed over the city of Baltimore on the 22d instant, which though of short duration occasioned very considerable damage. Many houses were unroofed and chimneys blown down; but it is not understood that any lives were lost.

Increase of Post Offices.—Just before the revolution, in 1773, there were in the thirteen colonies and in Canada, but fifty-nine post offices; now there are in the United States alone upwards of twelve thousand.

At the recent Annual meeting of the Wilmington Rail Road Company, the following important Resolution was adopted, on motion of H. W. Husted, Esq.

Resolved, That the President and Directors be requested to cause a reconnaissance to be made with a view to a branch from the Wilmington and Raleigh Rail Road, from a point near the Neuse River to the City of Raleigh.

Strawberries (from France) were sold in London on the 22d of April, at 18 shillings per ounce.

PUBLIC MEETING.

In compliance with public notice, which had been given in the columns of the Hillsborough Recorder for some weeks past, the delegates appointed by the respective companies comprising the Haw River and Haw Fields Regiments, assembled at George Foust's, on Saturday the 19th of May, to take into consideration the subject relative to a division of Orange county.

A large number of the several districts being represented, the meeting was organized by calling Michael Holt, esq. to the chair, and appointing Dr. E. Watson, N. H. McCain, and Dr. M. W. Holt, Secretaries. The Chairman stated in a short and appropriate manner, the objects for which the meeting had been called; when the following question was submitted for their consideration: Ought Orange county to be divided?

This question was decided almost unanimously in the affirmative. The subject respecting the point through which the division should take place was next brought before the meeting. After considerable discussion, it was decided by a very large majority in favor of the nine mile point, (the former proposed line) some few however preferring a central division.

A motion was made, that these gentlemen proposing to become candidates for the next Legislature, be requested to present to this meeting their sentiments upon the subject before us. Those who were present complied with the request of the meeting, and there being but one opinion among them, gave general satisfaction to most present.

It was moved that a committee of five persons, viz. John Trolinger, esq. Samuel L. Holt, esq. Capt. Briscoe Warren, Col. J. Gant, and Maj. J. Cheek, be appointed to correspond with the several candidates upon the subjects before us, and report accordingly.

Moved further, That the same committee be requested to draw up a memorial, to be signed, and sent on to the next General Assembly, in order to carry into effect the objects of this meeting.

Moved that these proceedings be signed by the chairman and secretaries, and forwarded to the editor of the Hillsborough Recorder for publication.

TO Q—IN A CORNER.

FRIEND HEARTY—Although your correspondent did not sign his name fully, I am certain the above address is correct. No man who mixed at all in society could have laid in such a store of learning, ancient and modern, in all the various departments of literature; he seems equally at home on morals, religion, history, finance, and sports of the pit.

His ancient reading in history, has left on his mind a favorable impression of the Macedonian Phalanx; therefore he bears down on the Fancy with dull quotations from the British Encyclopedia. Not content with this, he throws in his own leaden comments, as reckless of their effects on them, and your readers, as a Jackass dancing among the Poultry. But, sir, of the feather will avoid his heavy gambols—and would advise your subscribers to keep a bright look out lest he gallop on some friend's toes in his solemn gallopade.

Not intending to follow him in his history of the Pit in the days of Greece and Rome, its introduction by them into England, and its patronage by a long list of Kings; many who now follow that sport, will feel themselves under great obligations to Q, for showing that, so far as precedent goes, this sport has had the sanction of antiquity, of wisdom, of religion, and the Kings of the Earth.

But, sir, after this list of patrons, so honorable to the sport and so gratifying to the Fancy, he winds up with a cock and bull story of one John Ardesoff, who got drunk, burnt up a game cock, and died of Apoplexy. Now, what of all this? This is a good Temperance Society story; he is but one of thousands that drinking has killed; and as to roasting the cock, (a thing of some doubt by the way.) Mother Church has roasted thousands of men and women, equally moral and learned as your correspondent Q. But, sir, I object to making the conduct of a drunken madman some hundred years past, a subject of reproach to gentlemen at this day; or if he meant to alarm us by his sudden death, he must calculate greatly on our simplicity. But, sir, some of us have heard that men have fallen in the Senate chamber, at the Bar, nay, at the Altar of our God. He should have appended a note to his piece, charging all members of Congress, lawyers, and ministers of the Gospel, not to be alarmed at this awful story of death and cooking, as it was only intended to frighten those who fought cocks. I offer this friendly suggestion to Q, to show I bear no malice.

Q, goes on to say, that if all the crowned heads of Europe, united with Asia, Africa, and any other place, they might make it fashionable, but they could not make it natural or genteel. Now in this crusade against all the Kings of the earth, I, as a citizen of Orange, have no lot or part; but I am persuaded that if those same Kings could see his famous Jeremiads, they would grieve unto death, unless they can get absolution from this High Priest of Morals and Fashion. Now is your chance, Mr. Hearty, to become a great man; send the last two numbers of the Recorder to such Kings as your learned correspondent knows to have offended, and you will soon see their ministers, not in Washington, but in Hillsborough—not in the palace of the President, but in the ante-room of the Printing Office, spying for an introduction to the Sanctum of the modern Almanazar, that in the name of their sovereigns they may proclaim their adhesion, and receive such instruction in learning, religion, morals, fashion, and gentility, as may save them from error and his future denunciation.

I am willing to admit the high claims of Q, in learning, in morals; nay, he may, for aught I know, be the very pink of fashion and gentility; for of the first he has given us proof in the long quotations that he has inflicted on the subscribers of the Recorder, and of the three last he has assured us he is a professor and a judge. Now let him, like the Pharisee of old, be content with his virtues and accomplishments, continue to proclaim them in the market place, and on the house top, and thank his God he is not like some men. Nay more, I subscribe to his profound knowledge of arithmetic; I believe he has done so, and can again calculate to a single cent, what he has made and can make by the schools in Hillsborough; I believe also that he can, by the same process, that is, as Sam-

Slick would say, by figures, estimate the precise amount, in dollars and cents, of his own morals and religion.

But, with all these acquirements, I know of no authority by which he presumes to set himself up as a judge and censor of his neighbours. What right has he to arraign them at the bar of public opinion, try and condemn them on his own testimony, then call on Merchants, house-keepers, mechanics, Rag-Tag, and Bobtail, to execute his sentence? Verily he is a most powerful personage; Judge Lynch himself is scarcely more to be dreaded. I almost fear that venerable magistrate has left the West to take up his abode among us.

The ill-timed zeal of friends is sometimes fatal; and to no one can this apply more justly than to Q. Had he not been taken with the "cacoethes scribendi," few beyond the limits of our village would have known there had been a cockfight at or near the place; but once in the papers, and under his imposing signature, it may be repeated in all the languages of the earth, till echo itself shall tire of the repetition.

But least the indiscreet communication of Q, may injure our truly valuable institutions, to which I wish the utmost success, although I am not able, like him, to state those good wishes in dollars and cents, I beg leave to assure all Parents, Guardians, and others interested in those young persons now attending those schools, that not a single student, male or female, was present at either of those cockfights; and this I assert on my own knowledge, being present at both; and as I mean to attend all that may take place here or in the vicinity, I will inform Q, if either teachers or students offend in that particular; when the way he will give it them, as Peter Whetstone says, will be no body's business. SAVILLE.

NOTES.
1. A friend suggests that Q, is a descendant of that venerable personage mentioned in the "School for Scandal," who would only dance to the politest tunes, such as, &c. &c.
2. My venerable friend will pardon the use of a little latin, I wished him to have a morsel that he could appropriate exclusively to himself.

JOHN A. FAUCETT, Ranger.

GOELICKE'S Matchless Sanative.

AND LOUIS OFFON GOELICKE, M. D. of Germany (Europe,) belongs to the illustrious line of the Sciences of Medicine—a doctrine which, though vehemently opposed by some of the faculty, (of which he is a valuable member,) he proves to be as well founded in truth as any doctrine of Holy Writ—a doctrine, upon the verity of which are suspended the lives of millions of our race, and which he boldly challenges his opposers to refute. viz. Consumption is a disease always occasioned by a disordered state of the Viscera (or Life Principle) of the human body;—often secretly lurking in the system for years before there is the least complaint of the Lungs;—and which may be as certainly cured, as a common cold or a simple headache. An invaluable precious doctrine this, as it imparts an important lesson to the apparently healthy of both sexes, teaching them that this insidious foe may be an unobtrusive inmate of their "clayey houses" even while they imagine themselves secure from its attacks; teaching them that the great secret in the art of preserving health is to pluck out the disease while in the blade, and not wait till the full grown ear.

This illustrious benefactor of man is also entitled to the unfeigned gratitude of the world, for the invention of his

MATCHLESS SANATIVE, whose healing fist may justly claim for it such a title, since it has so signally triumphed over our great common enemy,

CONSUMPTION, both in the first and last stages—a medicine which has thoroughly filed the vacuum in the Materia Medica, and thereby proved itself the CONQUEROR OF PHYSICIANS;

a medicine, for which all mankind will have abundant cause to bless the beneficent hand of a kind Providence—a medicine, whose wondrous virtues have been so glowingly portrayed even by some of our clergy, in their pastoral visits to the sick chamber; by which means they often become the happy instruments of changing despondency into hope, sickness into health, and sadness of friends into joyfulness.

GOELICKE'S Matchless Sanative, is obtained equally from the vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms, and thus possesses a three fold power; and though designed as a remedy for Consumption solely, is possessed of a mysterious influence over many diseases of the human system—is a medicine which begins to be known by Physicians, who are daily witnessing its astonishing cures of many whom they had resigned to the grasp of the Inevitable Grave.

DOSE of the Sanative, for adults, one drop; for children, a half drop; and for infants, a quarter drop; the directions explain the manner of taking a half or quarter drop.

PRICE—Three and one third six dollars ($2.50) per half ounce.

All persons who live in unhealthy climates, whether hot or cold—all operatives and others connected with manufactories, and all who lead sedentary and inactives, are exposed to various insidious maladies, which may be silently preying upon their constitutions while their countenances wear the glow of health, and while they "suspect no danger nigh"—maladies which an occasional use of the Sanative would check in the bud.

The patient, while using the medicine, should eat and drink (in kind, not quantity) whatever the appetite dictates; and not be compelled to force down, against nature, every morsel which the tenderest friends and kindest nurses often imprudently recommend. NATURE IS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN, (the doctor and nurse only her servants); and if we would profit by her advice, we must adhere strictly to her inflexible recipe. If she order for the patient fish, porter, or beef, obey her; if she direct fish, fowl, eggs, or beefsteak, regard her voice.

In other words, the patient should eat and drink whatever his appetite craves, not forgetting to be "temperate in all things."

In burning fevers, mock not the patient's instinctive call for cooling; drink by simply moistening (1) his parched lips, but place by his bedside a vessel of water, put into his hands a cup, and let him slake his thirst at pleasure. This is reason, this is common sense; this is nature.

A CERTIFICATE
From three members of the MEDICAL PROFESSION in Germany, in Europe.

We, the undersigned, practitioners of medicine in Germany, are well aware, that by our course we may forfeit the friendship of some of the faculty, but not of its benevolent members, who are uninfluenced by selfish motives. Though we shall refrain from an expression of our opinion, either of the soundness, or unsoundness of Dr. Goelicke's new doctrine, we are happy to say that we deem his Sanative too valuable not to be generally known; for what our eyes behold and our ears hear, we must believe.

We hereby state, that when Dr. Louis Offon Goelicke first came before the German public, as the pretended discoverer of a new doctrine and a new medicine, we held him in the highest contempt, believing and openly pronouncing him to be a base impostor and the prince of quacks. But, on hearing so much said about the Sanative, against and for it, we were induced, from motives of curiosity merely, to make trial of its reputed virtues upon a number of our most hopeless patients; and we now deem it our bounden duty (even at the expense of our self interest) publicly to acknowledge its mighty efficacy, in curing not only consumption, but other fearful maladies, which we have heretofore believed incurable. Our contempt for the discoverer of this medicine was at once swallowed up in our utter astonishment at these unexpected results; and as amends for our abuse of him, we do frankly confess to the world, that we believe him a philanthropist, who does honor to the profession and to our country, which gave him birth.

The recent adoption of this medicine into some of our European Hospitals is a sufficient guaranty that it performs all its promises. It needed not our testimony, for wherever it is used, it is its own best witness. HERMAN ETRULLER, M. D. WALTER VAN GAULT, M. D. ADOLPHUS WERNER, M. D.

MATCHLESS SANATIVE.
DAVID S. ROWLAND, the General American Agent for this mighty medicine, (invented by the immortal Goelicke of Germany,) has the pleasure in publishing the following highly important letter from a respectable gentleman in New York, which he has received, with many others of a similar character—also very interesting intelligence from several of his agents, as will be seen below—which, together with the certificate from three eminent German physicians, most forever establish the character of the Sanative as being without a parallel in the history of medicine.

Testimony No. 1.
A letter from H. F. Sherwood, esq. of N. York.
New-York, October 9, 1837.
Dr. D. S. Rowland.—Sir: About the middle of July last, I accidentally noticed in a newspaper the advertisement of the Matchless Sanative, for which I perceived you were agent, and which professed to be a sovereign remedy for Consumption. As my wife was then fast wasting away with this dreadful disease, and as our family physician was daily and anxiously endeavoring to restore her to health without success, I stepped over to his house, and asked him if he had any objections to her taking this medicine. He replied that "he was perfectly willing Mrs. Sherwood should take that or any other medicine she might choose, but he thought it could do her no good, as her lungs were rapidly consuming and no human means could save her." Still as a crowning person will catch at a straw, and the Sanative being recommended by three physicians who had used it in their practice, she concluded to give it a trial. I sent and purchased a vial, which she commenced taking three times a day, giving a free indulgence to her appetite according to the directions. By pursuing this course, she suffered considerably for the first eight or ten days, but was shortly able to eat and drink freely, without the least inconvenience.

Within four weeks from her first using the medicine, her feeble and wasted frame began to put on new strength, and she has been gaining from day to day until the present moment, to the utter astonishment of our family physician and friends. She is now enjoying a comfortable (though not perfect) state of health, is able to be about the house and to attend church.

Mrs. Sherwood and myself are both fully of the opinion, and so are all who know her remarkable case, that she owes her life to the Sanative alone; and as there are probably many consumptive persons in the United States, who have not yet heard of this medicine, measures ought speedily to be adopted to have it more generally known.

A number of persons in this neighborhood, I understand, are taking it for other serious complaints, with very great benefit. I think of going to the South, with my family, sometime this fall, and in case I do, I will proclaim the virtues of the Sanative in that quarter; for although some of the physicians here are actively opposed to it, I do sincerely believe it saved my wife from an opening grave.

If you think this letter will serve the public good, you are at liberty to publish it. Respectfully, &c.
H. F. SHERWOOD.

THE MATCHLESS SANATIVE.
By an article in our paper to day, it will be seen that this medicine has lost none of its virtues by crossing the Atlantic—for it appears to be working similar cures in America to those which have astonished Europe.

WAR! WAR!! WAR!!!
BETWEEN
"Physicians and the Matchless Sanative."

1. Why are some of the American Physicians making such strong efforts to PUT DOWN the Matchless Sanative? Let the public answer.
2. Why did the German Physicians at first OPPOSE Dr. Goelicke, and afterwards acknowledge him to be a GREAT BENEFACTOR to mankind? Let the public answer.
3. What medicine HAS cured IS CURING, and WILL cure obstinate diseases which the physicians CANNOT cure? Let facts answer.
4. What kind of apple trees are STONED and CLUBBED? Let farmers answer.
5. Why are physicians constantly PELTING the Sanative and saying nothing against OTHER medicines? Let their day book answer.

6. How did Dr. Adams attempt to convince Mr. Webster, who had bought a phial of the Sanative for a member of his family, that it was a DANGEROUS medicine? Let one of the daily papers answer. "The recent experiment which Dr. Adams tried with the Matchless Sanative, in giving a large dose to a dog, STRUCK HIM SO DEAD, CLEARLY proves that the Sanative was made to CURE and not to KILL."
7. Why do some physicians SECRETLY buy the Sanative and MIX it with their own medicines, which they use in their daily practice? Answer—that they may have the CREDIT of the CURES.

8. Why is a sick young man belonging to one of the first families in Boston, now using the Sanative without letting the attending physician KNOW? The recovery of his HEALTH will shortly answer.
9. Why are physicians trying to persuade agents to give up SELLING the Sanative? Answer—they know, if it should be for sale in every town in America, they would be obliged to resort to SOME OTHER BUSINESS or else STARVE.

10. Why will the Matchless Sanative soon be the ONLY medicine used throughout the world? Let PHYSICIANS answer.
11. Why did a certain physician try to HIRE an Editor of a paper so write against the Sanative? Let his CONSCIENCE answer.

The above precious medicine (the original discovery of Dr. LOUIS O. GOELICKE, of Germany,) is for sale, wholesale and retail, in Boston, by D. S. ROWLAND, General American Agent for the discoverer, whose numerous letters, certifying the good effects of the medicine, may be seen.

Also for sale by retail, in most of the towns in America.

In places where there is no Agent, the Postmaster or any Storekeeper who shall write to the General Agent at Boston, will immediately be appointed an Agent.
