

SMILES.

BY ARTHUR MORRELL. Oh, how winning is each smile, On the face of beauty lighted! Did not these our hearts beguile, Ear.h would ever seem benighted. Fro a the rose its perfume take, From it you its worth dissever; 8 - when smiles her lips forsoke, Woman's charm is gone for ever.

Tests may saken in the heart Every deep and tender feeling, When from woman's eyes they start, To our spengathics appealing:

But it is the sunny smile Lovely woman's face o'erspreading. Tost both wins and charms, the while, O'er the soul its influence shedding.

Beauty in its soft repose, When the feelings calmly slumber, Features, eyes, and form disclose Rarest graces without number; But like statue still and cold, Nought of life or love revealing. Till, enraptured we behold O'er her face the sweet smile stealing As the sun succeeds the night, All the face of nature warming,

So the smile's sweet sunny light Makes each radiant feature charming, Oh! how winning is each smile On the face of woman lighted! Did not these our hearts beguile, Earth would ever seem benighted.

RETURNED TO ITS CAGE.-Instances have been known where the relieved bird has anxionally again sought its cage. Mr. Estebbol z of Pousville had a dave which the Journal says exhibited a great aver sion to its prison, and a strong desire to be free; its struggles were so continued and painful, that finally a feeling of com passion prevailed, and the gentle, cooing bird was set at libe-ty, and away it soared, sway - sway - with rapid wing. Three weeks or more elapsed, when Mr. Eitehholtz was surprised, one worning. by a visit from a strange dove, which seemed to clamer for attention and a cage: a cage was given it, when le! by certain unmistakeable marks. Mr. E. knew it to be his quandam feathered per, which had returned, wounded and weary, to be nureed. Some relentiess spor sman had shot it: one leg was broken, and the bird was otherwise injured. It is now well, and seems perfectly happy in its wire wrought house. Here is food for thought, and material for poetry. Exchange paper.

Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort or the cure of Coughs, Colds, Catarrh,

A-thma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Liver Complaint, and all Affictions of the Throat and Lungs. Tills remedy is invaluable and unequalled.
It is purely vegetable and highly medicinal, mild and gentle in its effects upon the system, and being entirely free from all mineraproducts, by many so justly feared and dreaded, is perfectly sale, as well as salutary. From knowledge ofits properties, and the wonder ful success which has attended it, even in difficult and aggravated cases, for nearly ten years, during which it has been in use, the Proprietor feels no hesitancy in atreducing it, and recommending it to all who unfortunately may have accasion to resort to some means of recovery. Physicians not unfrequently use it in their practice, and with the Medical Facul ty generally, it has met with much more tha ordinary approbation.

Certificates and testimonials could be for nished in abundance from the highest and mosrespectable sources, of persons who either have been greatly relieved by it, or entirely recovered from effections of the Lungs and Liver, but we insert only the following. CONSUMPTION AND RAISING OF BLOOL CURED.

Thereby certify that last August, I was at acked with a violent and profuse hemorrhage rom the Lungs, severe cough, with the expertoration of much mucous pain in the head, soreness in the chest, and other distressing symptoms. I bought a bottle of Dr Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort from 375 Bowery, which, under the blessings of Providence, gave me immediate relief. Its effect has been such in my case, that I cannot too highly praise it. CHARLES L. SMITH.
