Fellow-Citizens—I can hardly remember an occasion which has given me so much satisfaction, as the one which has now called us together. We are assembled for the purpose of ratifying the proceedings of the great National Convention at Philadelphia. We are met in Faneuil Hall for the purpose of endorsing the doing of that Convention. We have come up for the purpose of carrying out the pledges given by the delegates to that Convention from the different States of this Union, that in November next we will elect Gen. Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore to the Presidency and Vice Presidency of the United States.

CONGRESS.

IN THE SENATE, on Wednesday, June 14, the bill providing for payment to parties interested for losses sustained in the military service of the United States, was taken up and passed.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. The amendment offered by Mr. Betts providing for the payment of a sum of money to the Cherokee Indians, was adopted, after much discussion.

On motion of Mr. Dix, the Senate held an executive session, and afterwards adjourned. On Thursday, on motion of Mr. Benton, the Senate took up the joint resolution to provide for the transportation of discharged volunteers and temporary troops. After some propositions to amend were discussed, its further consideration was postponed till to-morrow.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. After a long debate the bill was amended in several important particulars, and then laid aside.

On motion of Mr. Mangum, the Senate held an executive session, and then adjourned.

On Friday, the Vice President read before the Senate a letter from the Hon. Arthur P. Bagby, yesterday nominated by the President minister to Russia, resigning his seat in that body; and, on motion of Mr. Lewis, the presiding officer was requested to inform the Government of Alabama of the vacancy.

The Vice President then decided, that under the resolution adopted a few days since, the consideration of private bills, to-day and to-morrow, would take precedence of all other business; and after some discussion, the private calendar was accordingly taken up, and a number of bills disposed of.

On Saturday, the Senate spent the day in the consideration of the bills on the private calendar.

On Monday, June 19, Mr. Webster rose and said: It was known that in the course of last year a large convention was held at Chicago, to take into consideration, among other things, the subject of internal improvements. That convention adopted certain resolutions, and appointed a committee to draft a memorial to Congress. That memorial he was now about to present. It was a very respectable paper, very respectably signed, and very like the memorial of the Memphis convention, on a previous occasion; he moved that it be referred to a select committee of five, to be appointed by the chair, and be printed, which was ordered accordingly.

On motion of Mr. Pearce, the Senate took up the joint resolution (similar to that which has been heretofore considered and rejected in the House,) directing the restoration of the contract for carrying the Great Southern mail, between Washington and Richmond, to the Potomac, Frederickburg and Richmond Rail-road and Steamboat Companies. A debate ensued, which occupied the remainder of the session. The joint resolution was then read the third time and passed by yeas 27, nays 19.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

On Wednesday, June 14, the Speaker announced as the first business in order, the calling of committees for reports; thereupon a number of bills were reported, read twice, and referred to the committee of the whole.

The remainder of the day was devoted to the consideration of the amendments to the Naval appropriation bill.

On Thursday, the house was engaged all day on the Naval appropriation bill. After getting through with the amendments to the bill, it was put to the vote, and passed.

On Friday, on motion of Mr. Vinton, the house proceeded to the consideration, in committee of the whole, of the annual fortification bill, and a number of amendments were proposed and discussed.

The committee then rose and reported the bill and amendments to the house; the amendments were agreed to, and the bill was read a third time and passed—yeas 79, nays 62.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table, and then the house adjourned.

On Saturday, immediately after reading the journal, the house resolved itself into committee of the whole, for the consideration of bills on the private calendar.

On Monday, June 19, the Clerk called the house to order, and stated that in consequence of illness, and by advice of his physician, the Speaker would not take the chair to-day.

Mr. Ashmun offered a resolution that Mr. Durt of South Carolina, be appointed temporary speaker, which was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Wentworth presented a memorial from a convention at Chicago, on the 5th of July last, in favor of river and harbor improvement, and moved that it be referred to the committee on commerce, and be printed; which motion was finally decided in the affirmative—yeas 121, nays 56.

Mr. Andrew Stewart moved a suspension of the rules, to enable him to introduce a resolution of inquiry into the expediency of reporting a bill to increase the revenue by increasing the duties on foreign luxuries and such foreign manufactures as are now coming into ruinous competition with American labor. Yeas 85, nays 82. Two thirds not voting in the affirmative, the rules were not suspended.

The "Ratification Meeting" in Boston.

A very large and enthusiastic assemblage of the Whigs of the city of Boston was held at Faneuil Hall, on Friday evening, the 16th inst., to ratify the resolutions made by the Whig National Convention.

He felt his own duty clear in voting for General Taylor, being first satisfied that Mr. Webster had no chance of the nomination. The objection that General Taylor was not a Whig, was the weakest brought ever raised. No man could read his letters and have any hesitation upon this point. He had said that he was a Whig, and the word of the old soldier could be relied upon. He had been treated by the Administration as a Whig, and been exalted by it because he was a Whig. At least it is pretty certain that he is not a Whig. In the man who could say "I have no objection to punish and nothing to serve but my country," he had confidence. Mr. Lunt's remarks were eloquent, to the point, and enthusiastically received.

The Chairman then announced a gentleman who had been a soldier under Gen. Taylor in Mexico, who was chosen to Congress while in the field, and who now represents his state in the councils of the nation, and who stands not less eminent as a civilian than a soldier—Mr. Gaines of Kentucky. The announcement was received with three times three cheers.

Mr. Gaines addressed the meeting in a spirited speech, which was received with rapturous applause.

Lewis H. Chittley next addressed the meeting in a few brief and elegant remarks.

The question was then taken on the resolutions, and they were unanimously adopted; and the meeting adjourned with nine hearty cheers for TAYLOR and FILLMORE.

Masonic Celebration.

On Saturday the 24th instant, the feast of the nativity of John the Baptist, was celebrated in Pittsburgh by the brethren of Columbus Lodge in grand style. We were informed that there were as many as sixty-five Masons in the procession—a few attended from Raleigh, Chapel Hill and Hillsborough. A band of music for the occasion was procured from Raleigh.

The dinner and party given at the expense of the Lodge, by Mr. Leach, were admirably got up, and the warm thanks of the Lodge were unanimously tendered to Mr. Leach and his lady for the beautiful and handsome repast.

The address was delivered in the Methodist Episcopal Church by Henry W. Miller, esq., of Raleigh; and a more appropriate, able, chaste, and eloquent production, our informant says, has rarely, if ever, been heard. His exordium was brief. His subjects were—Masonry, its origin and design—the contemplated School to be established by the Lodge in this state for the education of the sons of indigent masons—and North Carolina, her present position, and the duty of her sons and daughters. The address, we hope, will be furnished for publication, in compliance with the request of the Lodge; and if so, our readers may have an opportunity of seeing some of its beauties, and feeling the force of its eloquent appeal.

We take pleasure in stating that though there was the largest assemblage in Pittsburgh that had been seen for many years, not the slightest instance of disorder or intemperance was seen by our informant. The whole proceedings were well conducted, and were highly creditable to all concerned.

St. John's day was also observed at Roxboro, by Person Lodge, and a chapter of Royal Arch Masons formed. We have not been sufficiently informed of the proceedings to enable us to give a more extended notice.

North Carolina Delegation.

The following statement exhibits the respective votes cast on each ballot by each member of our delegation in the National Whig Convention:

- C. H. Wiley, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor.

- D. B. Baker, Clay, Clay, Taylor, Taylor.
- Edward Stanley, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor.
- David Outlaw, Clay, Clay, Clay, Taylor.
- Ed. Deberry, Clay, Clay, Clay, Taylor.
- John Kerr, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor, Taylor.

The Hon. Arthur P. Bagby, one of the Senators of the United States from the state of Alabama, has been appointed by the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the United States to the Court of Russia, to succeed Hon. R. J. Ingersoll, recalled at his own request.

The Hon. J. J. Crittenden, being the Whig candidate for Governor of the state of Kentucky, has resigned his seat in the Senate, and departed from this city for his home on Wednesday. Health, happiness, and long life attend him!

Mr. Clay.—The Boston Transcript learns that Mr. Clay has written a letter, in which he gives assurances that the nomination of the Philadelphia Convention will receive his cordial support.

The Whig Sentiment.—We could fill our columns with extracts from the Whig papers, North, South, East and West, in favor of the nomination of Taylor and Fillmore. We have now heard, says the National Intelligencer, from about one-half of the Union, and, beside the New York "Tribune," which hesitates but does not wholly refuse to concur in the nominations, we have as yet seen but one Whig journal which does not express a determination to sustain them heart and hand. To this determination we have no doubt that the whole Whig press and party will eventually come.

The Courier des Etats Unis, published at New York, remarking upon Gen. Taylor's nomination for the Presidency, says: "It will, in all probability, result in giving to the Union a President of rare modesty and simplicity, of singularly correct judgment, and of tried integrity." Surely, adds the Courier, "the nation ought to be satisfied; for Washingtons do not spring up every day."

A Taylor meeting is called in Charleston, "independently of all party names, for a meeting of all who see in favor of elevating to the Executive office of the nation a sterling patriot, an unspiced politician, a man of inflexible integrity and undoubted moral courage, who, if elected, will administer the Government with the simplicity and purity which marked the Administration of the great WASHINGTON."

The Albany Evening Journal pledges a majority of upwards of fifty thousand in the State of New York for the Taylor and Fillmore ticket. This pledge is endorsed by other papers in the same State.

Millard Fillmore.—Millard Fillmore, the Whig candidate for Vice President, is the compiler of New York, to which high office he was elected by over 28,000 majority. He was chairman of the committee of ways and means of the 27th Congress.

The Providence (R. I.) Journal concludes a warm and able argument in favor of the nomination of Taylor and Fillmore with the following words: "The enthusiasm for Taylor is kindling all over the country, and soon it will blaze up as brightly as ever did that for Harrison in 1840. The Whigs will support him with as great unanimity as could have been brought to bear in favor of any candidate, and he will receive thousands of votes from men who have heretofore voted against us, and whose support could not have been secured for any other man. We entertain no doubt of his election."

The Nomination in Missouri.—The news of the nomination of Gen. Taylor was received in St. Louis on the 9th, by a telegraphic de-patch. The supporters of the old hero went wild with joy, and a ratification meeting was immediately called for the 10th. The New Era thus describes its effect upon the opposition: "Chloroform in Demand."—Since the news reached here announcing the nomination of the Hero of Buena Vista for the Presidency, many of the Cass men have been thrown into violent spasmodic convulsions. To relieve the agony under which they are writhing, we would advise them to have recourse to the use of chloroform. Its dulbness, will keep them in a state of quietude, until their nervous system is once more restored to its healthy action.

Spirit of the New York Democracy.

From the Albany Argus of Saturday morning.

Monster Democratic Meeting in Troy.—There was an overwhelming rally of the Democracy of Troy to ratify the nominations of Cass and Butler, in front of the court house in that city on Thursday evening. It is acknowledged to have been one of the largest gatherings ever witnessed in that city, and was characterized by the most ardent enthusiasm and animation.

From the Albany Journal of Saturday evening.

The meeting was large; but it did not "ratify the nominations of Cass and Butler." The resolution affirming those nominations was voted down, four to one! It seems quite impossible to ratify Cass's nomination, even at a Hooker meeting.

Mr. John Van Buren addressed a Barnburners' Convention at Rochester on the 12th instant. In the course of his speech he animadverted on the proceedings of the Baltimore Convention in strong terms—characterized it as a mere mob; and declared that its acts were not at all binding on the Democrats of New York!

The Ohio "Press," a Democratic paper, in a recent number, contains a card from the Editor, in which he says that he has determined to discontinue the regular publication. A supplementary number will be published in a week or two, when the reasons for this action will be laid before the readers of the Press, till which time a suspension of opinion is asked.

The "Press" will not endorse the action of the Baltimore Convention, nor the nomination of Lewis Cass. Being purely "Democratic," and finding itself placed by the action of the party in a position it does not choose to occupy, the Editor suspends his publication, and asks his readers to "suspend" their opinions.

The Surgeon General of the Army has selected for a military hospital on the Gulf, a small island called Greenwood, about three miles east of Pascagoula, and opposite the mouth of Bayou Coustou. The island contains some eighty or ninety acres of land, and is thickly covered with live oak. John K. Collins has been appointed to superintend the erection of the proper buildings.

SAILING OF MISSIONARIES.—The following missionaries were to sail from Providence on Tuesday for Africa, in the brig Smithfield, Captain Duff, bound for Gaboon River: Rev. J. L. Wilson and wife, Rev. A. Bushnell and wife, Rev. J. M. Preston and wife, Rev. W. T. Wheeler, Mrs. Griswold; also, John Wesley, a native youth, who came to the United States two years since, and has learned the art of printing.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.—The warm sun of Spring, which infuses new life into the vegetable kingdom, is not without its effect upon our physical systems. The tide of life seems to flow faster through our veins, and if, as is sometimes the case, it bears with it the seeds of disease, generated by the luxurious living of Winter, we shall be sure to see and feel the effects in some shape or other. We therefore recommend as a preparation which may be taken with great advantage at this season, that excellent medicine, SANDS' SARSAPARILLA. It will prove the best preventive of the eruptions so common in the Spring months, and which they have already known out will soon reappear them. For all diseases of the skin, ulcers, boils, &c. it will be found a most efficient remedy.
