

HON. C. L. VALLANDIGHAM.

This gentleman is still at Shelbyville, Tenn. A telegraphic dispatch from that place dated the 29th ult. says: Vallandigham says he comes upon compulsion into the Confederate lines, and asks to be received as a citizen of Ohio, U. S., in exile, banished from his country for no offence except his love for Constitutional liberty and the true principles of his Government, outraged by the Lincoln administration. Forcibly denied protection in the United States, he is obliged to seek it from the Confederate States.

While as an exile, he is confident of kind treatment and consideration from the generous hospitality of the people, he desires to avoid all public demonstrations, and live in some retired place as a retired gentleman, fully sensible, as an alien enemy, that his residence in the Confederacy is solely by the generous consent of the Government and the people, till he can return home safely, confident that his character is well enough known to satisfy all that he is incapable of any word or act, after his return to Ohio, inconsistent with the relations he sustains towards the South during his sojourn among us.

The report of Mrs. Vallandigham's insanity is a fabrication. She wrote to her husband a week ago not to deviate from the high path of duty, honor and patriotism. After sentence Vallandigham was kept in close confinement, only being allowed to communicate with Rosencranz and his Staff Officers.

Great disgust and dissatisfaction prevailed throughout the North-west country, and there was an evident disposition to rise and throw off Lincoln's yoke.

Mr. Vallandigham, it is stated, intends going to Virginia.

PRINTING INK.

The best printing ink is made as follows: Take ten or twelve gallons of linseed oil, set on a fire in an iron pot of twice the capacity to hold the quantity stated, heat to boiling, and stir at the same time. If it does not take fire, kindle it with a piece of burning paper held in the cleft of a long stick; remove the pot from the fire, and allow the oil to burn for half an hour, or until a sample of the burnt oil cooled upon a pallet will draw out into strings half an inch long between the fingers. The flame is then to be extinguished by a tight cover. When the froth of the ebullition has subsided, black rosin is added in the proportion of 6 lbs. to every 6 quarts of oil, stir the mixture till the rosin is dissolved, and then add 1 1/2 lbs. of brown soap, cut in slices, (cautiously) and again stir till mixed, placing the pot once more over the fire; remove cover and set aside. The foregoing constitutes the varnish; the ink itself is composed of finely powdered indigo and Prussian blue, of each 2 1/2 ounces, lamp black, 3 1/2 lbs., ivory black or bone black 4 lbs., put them in a suitable vessel and mix gradually with the warm varnish. This mixture, however, still requires further grinding in a mill or upon a stone slab with a muller. It is to be remembered that hot weather requires a thicker varnish than cold, and large letters require a thinner ink than small; hence, the preparation of the varnish requires reference to the time and also for the purpose for which it is to be used—or two kinds of varnish may be prepared for the time and use demanded.

We are indebted to Dr. Emmons, State Geologist, for the above receipt. If strictly followed we have no doubt the very best English ink will be the result.

Rich Standard.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.—June 1st, 1853. Ninety-nine years ago to-day, Andrew Stewart, printer to the King, issued the first number of the "Cape Fear Gazette and Wilmington Advertiser." It was the first paper published in the town of Wilmington, and the second published in the State.

The first printing press was brought from Virginia in 1749, and the first paper printed with it in the town of Newbern by James Davis. Its title was "The Carolina Gazette," and its existence was fifteen years prior to that of the "Gazette and Advertiser."

Wilmington Journal.

A man residing at Schenectady, who has long been in the employ of the Central Railroad Company, and is now a fireman on the road, applied to the Superintendent for a pass to take him to some point on the road which he desired to visit. The Superintendent declined to grant the request, and said: The company employ you, and pay you so much per month for your services. When your wages are paid, the obligation ends. If you were at work for a farmer at one dollar a day, and desired to go to Saratoga, would you expect him to hitch up his team and carry you there for nothing?

The fireman replied, "No, sir; but if he had his team hitched up, and going direct to Saratoga, I should think he was a d—d hog if he didn't let me ride."

Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, Richmond, May 1st, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 52.

The following act of Congress, approved by the President, is published for the information and direction of all concerned, in connection with the act relating to appraisements heretofore announced in General Order No. 37, from the Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, April 6th, 1862, and as supplementary to said act:

An act to amend an act entitled, "An act to regulate appraisements by officers of the army."

The Congress of the Confederate States of America do enact, That in all cases of appraisement provided for in said act, the officer impressing the property shall, if he believe the appraisement to be fair and just, endorse upon it his approval; if not, he shall endorse upon it his reasons for refusing, and deliver the same, with a receipt for the property impressed, to the owner, his agent or attorney, and as soon as practicable, forward a copy of the receipt and appraisement, and his endorsement thereon, to the board of appraisers appointed by the President, and Governor of the State, who shall revise the same and make a final valuation, so as to give just compensation for the property taken, which valuation shall be paid by the proper department for the use of which the property was taken, on the certificate of appraisers, as provided in the act of which this is amendatory.

Approved April 27th, 1863.

By Order, S. COOPER, Adjutant and Inspector General.

All parties taking appeals from the decisions of local appraisers, or the undersigned, are hereby notified that these appeals must be made up in due form and accompanied by suitable proofs and reasons, in accordance with the law, or they cannot be acted on.

One Hundred Dollars Reward!

ON Wednesday night last, the 11th instant, my stable was broken open and my horse stolen. It is a Bay Horse, about six years old, his spring, about five feet four or five inches high, heavy mane and tail. An old wagon saddle, covered with a white sheep-skin, was missing at the same time, and supposed to have been stolen by the same person; also a pair of bridle reins that had been used as stirrup leathers, with holes punched through them.

Any information concerning the horse or the thief will be liberally rewarded by the subscriber, living seven miles north of Hillsborough, and one hundred dollars will be given for the recovery of the horse.
