A NEW DEPARTMENT AT GUILFORD COLLEGE.

The trustees of Guilford College in their determination to offer adequate facilities in the various departments of learning have not overlooked the importance of physical training, and have just employed a young woman, Miss Lema D. Worth, who graduated with high honor at the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, to have charge of the Department of Physical Training. This will be a feature of Guilford's training that must attract the attention of the public. Miss Worth graduated at Guilford College in 1892, and has taken the entire course in the Boston Normal School, and will therefore bring to her work at Guilford a thorough knowledge of the best modern methods in conducting the Physical Training School. She has not only had thorough and scientific instruction in the Ling, a Swedish system of gymnastics, but also in the general principles of physiology, psychology, and the hygiene of the human body, upon which sound physical training must always depend.

There will thus be brought to our county the very latest results of the highest authorities on the subject of training and caring for the body; and the Boston School will be repeating itself at Guilford College, where no place will be spared to secure for the school the greatest possible efficiency.

A Miscalculation.

The New York Times says: "The American Sugar Refining Company, commonly called the Sugar Trust, has declared again its regular quarterly dividends at the rate of 12 per cent. on the common stock and 7 per cent. on the preferred, and there is in circulation some gossip about the possible addition of an extra dividend before the year is out. The president of the Trust appears to have been misled by some one when he said, two or three days before the beginning of the recent session of Congress: "The operations of the company for the last three months, under the new tariff, have resulted in a loss. I do not anticipate any further legislation on the subject. The great injury has been done, that of precluding the operation of the refineries at a profit."

"Congress, then soon to assemble, was to have before it a bill, coming over from the preceding session, providing for the removal of the differential protective duty of one-eighth of a cent a pound on refined sugar. The passage of this bill was afterward prevented by the republican party, but the shadow of it in November last appears to have obscured completely in the mind of the president of the company the possibility of profitable refineries in the future under the tariff conditions which existed then and have not been changed since that time."

Range Men Come to Grief.

The authorities have given the agents of the Wrought Iron Range Co., of St. Louis, Mo., who have been selling the Home Comfort Range in this county, quite a lively time for the past few days. Warrants were issued in nine cases, but all were not taken. In five cases the defendants were convicted and fined $50 each and costs, from which they appealed and were bound in bonds of $100 each for appearance at the next term of the Superior court. One case was continued. The cases were tried before J. L. Scott, Esq., J. P. Their manner of selling was regarded as an attempt at evading the law to keep from paying taxes. The company have a large lot of ranges shipped to a given point, some of the agents then go out with samples and take orders, securing the signatures of the parties to whom they sell to a contract which is a lien upon all their real and personal property, as we are informed; those orders are turned over to other agents who at once load up with ranges and deliver to intending purchasers. Capt. E. S. Parker represented the county and state and Messrs. C. M. Busbee, of Raleigh, and C. E. McLean, of Burlington, the defendants in the above cases.—Alamance Gleazer.

Judge Goff Reversed.

It will gratify a good many conservative patriots to learn that the Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting at Richmond, Va., has dissolved the injunction issued by Judge Goff in the South Carolina registration cases. Judge Goff held that the South Carolina registration law of 1894 was unconstitutional because it was designed to discriminate against colored voters. His order, as reported at the time, prohibited Governor Evans, the commissioner of elections in September from taking any action under the registration law in question. He thus virtually undertook to forbid the exercise by the people of South Carolina of the highest prerogative of sovereignty—that of calling a convention to amend and revise the constitution of the State. Fortunately, the superior tribunal does not agree with his views. It seems that States still have some rights which federal judges are bound to respect.—Baltimore Sun.

THE FRIENDS OF SILVER.

The Great Convention at Memphis Last Week.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 13.—From the stand point of the white money enthusiasts nothing was left to be desired by the opening of the great silver convention here yesterday. Organization was effected yesterday and the convention got down to work to-day. The convention met yesterday with the following states represented: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Nebraska, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and New Mexico.

Two thousand delegates braved the torrid skies to be present and every State, with few exceptions, sent its most prominent and representative men with instructions to shout for silver, vote for silver and tolerate no discussions of anything else but silver. The delegations coming from Mississippi and Tennessee and the smallest from some of the far Western or so-called silver States. The small representation from the silver States was explained by the convention by Governor L. Bradford Prince, of New Mexico, on the ground that all these States had recently attended the convention at Salt Lake City. Nevertheless, said Governor Prince, not one of these States was unrepresented.

The convention was called to order at 2 o'clock. W. N. Brown, of Memphis, as chairman of the central bimetallic league of Shelby county, Tenn., which sent out the call for the convention, rapped the house to order. On the platform were the following: Thomas Scott Adams, Secretary of State of Louisiana; M. J. Cunningham, Attorney General of Louisiana; John Fitzpatrick, mayor of New Orleans; A. J. Warner, president of the American Bi-Metallic League; Governor J. P. Clarke, Arkansas; W. J. Bryson, editor of the Omaha World-Herald; Senator James H. Berry, Arkansas; Senator Stewart, Nevada; Anson Walcott, Indiana; Senator I. G. Harris, Tennessee; Alex Delmar, California; Representative H. D. Money, Mississippi; Senator J. K. Jones, Arkansas; Senator Marion Butler, North Carolina; Senator J. Z. Geary, Mississippi; Senator David Turpie, Indiana; ex-Governor Eagle, Arkansas; Governor L. Bradford Prince, New Mexico; ex-Governor Benjamin Tillman, South Carolina; Governor John Gray Evans, South Carolina. From start to finish the convention was one of the greatest enthusiasm. Every pronounced free silver utterance was the signal for prolonged applause, and when the various persons well known in public life, appeared on the rostrum, each received an ovation.

When Chairman Brown had called the convention to order, L. D. Estes offered prayer in which he implored divine guidance for the delegates and hoped the day might be led into adopting "honest money" as their platform. This created a bit of sensation until it was learned that he meant free silver.

Col. Casey Young, of Memphis, then delivered the address of welcome. Senator Turpie was then introduced as permanent chairman and addressed the convention. A resolution was adopted that each State name a vice president and a member of the committee on resolutions. For North Carolina T. F. Heath was named as vice president and Marion Butler as a member of the committee on resolutions.

The following is the substance of the preamble and platform adopted by the convention to-day: "The effect of gold monometalism is to establish one standard for the creditor and another for the debtor; and there can be no more dishonest monetary system than that which gives short measure to the borrower and long measure to the lender. Under the policy prevailing prior to 1873 there can be no violent change in the relative value of the two metals, for a rise in the value of one metal is counteracted by a decreased demand and a fall in value by an increased demand. Under the operation of this beneficial law a stable relation was maintained between them in spite of the extreme changes relative to production. From the first period of our history up to 1873, the right of the debtor to choose whether he should pay his debts in silver or gold coin was always recognized. The subsequent policy has been to transfer this right to the creditor, thus tending to constantly increase the value of the dearer metal and destroy the parity between them. Believing that it is absolutely necessary to reverse this injurious and ruinous policy, we therefore resolve:

"That we favor the immediate restoration of silver to its former place as a full legal tender, standard money equal with gold, and the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 and upon terms of exact equality."

"That while we should welcome the co-operation of other nations we believe that the United States should not wait upon the pleasure of foreign governments or the consent of foreign creditors, but should themselves proceed to reverse the 'grinding process' that is destroying the prosperity of the people and should lead by their example the nations of the earth.

Watching Us.

The fight over the principles laid down by Sibley began early in the day, with no less a man than Senator Isham G. Harris at the head of the faction advocating silver pure Democracy. With him were M. C. Galloway, of Memphis, formerly editor of the Appeal, and Governor Clarke, of Arkansas, besides many others of political prominence in their own parts of the country. These men said that they would secede from the convention if it endorsed Sibley's radical sentiment. Sibley said in a speech last night that the time had come to abolish the party in favor of the principle and it was to his idea the Democratic took exception. They declared the Democratic party was strong enough in itself to champion the cause of silver and they did not propose to turn over the convention to the Populists and Republicans, although these latter were welcome to the ranks of free silver. The fight spread to the room where the committee on resolutions was holding its deliberations, but fortunately it got no further. The platform as was originally intended (the call being strictly non-partisan) contains no mention of any party. The convention declared to-night after speeches by W. J. Bryan, A. J. Warner and Senator Walcott.

The committee on resolutions also introduced the following resolution, which, like the platform, was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That a committee, composed of one member from each State, be appointed by the delegates thereof in this convention, whose duty it shall be to correspond with the representative advocates of bi-metallicism and bi-metallic societies, in the different sections of the union, and devise measures to advance the cause of bi-metallicism throughout the United States. That this committee shall have power to cause a national conference of bi-metallicists whenever, in the opinion of the committee, the cause of bi-metallicism can be advanced thereby. Said committee shall have power to fill all vacancies.

Will Not Wed Young Men Who Drink.

There is a merry war on in Danbury, Conn., where the young women members of St. Peter's Temperance Society have formally announced that they have agreed to not marry drunkards or men likely to become drunkards, or any young men who partake of spirituous or malt liquor, wine and cider.

Father Lynch, rector of St. Peter's Church, is urging this crusade on the business men of the town are almost a unit in opposing Father Lynch's movement, because it will not stop until it makes Danbury a prohibition town. At the last election license was carried by a majority of little more than a hundred. Father Lynch says it is impossible for a Danbury youth to strike the golden mean. He must be either a total abstainer or become a drunkard.

After Twenty Years.

Man Just Released From Prison Marries the Woman to Gain Whom He Killed a Rival.

VALPARAISO, Ind., June 15.—Early in May, William J. Brown, aged 70 years, was released from the Indiana Penitentiary, having served a term of 20 years at hard labor for the murder of a rival shortly before the woman to whom he afterwards became engaged. To say a white-haired ex-convict was married near New Buffalo, Mich., to Miss Millie E. Jameson, who was his affianced before jealously furnished the motive for his crime. During the long lapse of time which intervened between Brown's sentence and release she remained true to him, her one purpose, apparently, being to accumulate a fortune sufficient to support herself and Brown during life, the latter being incapacitated from work by reason of age.

A Book Syndicate.

A syndicate, it is said, is being formed by gentlemen of Raleigh, Durham and Charlotte, to publish North Carolina books, especially adopted to the use of schools in this state. This syndicate wishes to get control of the valuable copyrights on "Spencer's First Steps in North Carolina History," "Moore's North Carolina School History," "North Carolina Practical Spelling Book" and "Williams' Beginners Reader." These copyrights are now owned by the old firm of Alfred Williams & Co., and will soon be publicly sold in winding up that firm's business. These books have been in the state list for many years, and are very popular. If the syndicate gets these copyrights a series of readers and arithmetics will follow.

Mr. Cleveland Will Go to Atlanta.

President Cleveland has accepted an invitation tendered by representative residents of Atlanta to attend the Atlanta Exposition. He will leave Washington by special train on the evening of October 21st, and arrive in Atlanta in the afternoon of the 23d. The 23d has been set apart as President's day, when the chief executive will visit the exposition. Mr. Cleveland remarked in accepting the invitation that he preferred to visit the exposition in October than to go at the opening, as he missed the best of the World's Fair by going to Chicago at the opening.

A RAILROAD CENTER.

Greensboro is the railroad center of North Carolina. It is the natural distributive point for the entire State, and is peculiarly well situated for manufacturing establishments of various kinds. It has a great abundance of raw materials close at hand at the lowest possible prices. It has cheap improvements usually found in cities of double its size. These advantages deserve the consideration of capitalists and manufacturers, especially those contemplating a removal of their plants. For special or more complete information write to the Greensboro Industrial and Insurance Association.

Credit to Hood's

It Cured All My Afflictions.

"For ten years I have suffered terribly from general debility, and last winter was attacked so bad with kidney trouble, enlargement of spleen and heart disease, suffering great pain in my back, hips and legs. I tried about Hood's Sarsaparilla. I bought one bottle and began taking it. After the first bottle I felt so much better that I decided to continue. I have now taken over six bottles. Today my health is better than it has been for more than a decade. I have no kidney, heart or spleen difficulty, and am in duty bound to give Hood's Sarsaparilla the credit of curing my afflictions." JOSEPH FORD, Ridge Church, Virginia.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla and are gentle, mild and effective.
