THE CALF PATH.

One day through the primal wood, A calf walked home, as good calves should;
But made a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail, as all calves do.
Since then two hundred years have flowed,
And I titer, the calf is dead,
But still he left behind his trail,
And thereby hangs a mortal tale.
The trail was taken up next day By a lone dog, that passed that way.
And then a wise old water sheep Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep, And drew the flock behind him, too, As good bell-wethers always do.
And from that day, o'er hill and glade, Through those old woods a path was made,
And many men wound in and out,
And dodged and turned and bent about And uttered words of righteous wrath, Because 'twas such a crooked path;
But still they followed—do not laugh—
The first migration of that calf, And through this winding woodway stalked Because he wabbled when he walked.
This forest path became a lane,
That bent and turned and turned again;
This crooked lane became a road, Where many a poor horse, with his load, Tolled on beneath the burning sun,
And traveled some three miles in one.
And thus a century and a half They trod the footsteps of that calf.
The years passed on in witness fleet,
The road became a highway,
And this, before the men were aware,
A city's crowded thoroughfare, And soon the central street was this Of a renowned metropolis.
And now two centuries and a half Trod in the footsteps of that calf; Each day a hundred thousand Followed the zigzag calf about;
And o'er this crooked journey went The traffic of a continent.
A hundred thousand men were led By one calf near three centuries dead.

Equine Heroes of Guilford Court House.

It is interesting to discover and publish every incident, anecdote and occurrence connected with the battle of Guilford Court House whether it be of the brave men who fought there or the arses they used and even of the horses they rode, and of these last animals much of interest can be said, mostly of the English horses, which fared badly that day.

First upon the authority of Mrs.
Phoebe Ross personally and upon well authenticated tradition a

PINK GRAY HORSE

was shot and killed under Lord Cornwallis very near a large pre-simum tree, still standing, very near and in front of Mrs. Ross' residence. She donated the spot and tree to the Battle Ground Company. She states that a very old lady, a Mrs. White, who lived near the spot, took Mrs. Ross, then Miss Meredith, to the tree, then small, and pointed it out to her, the place where this noble animal was shot by the riflemen under Col. Campbell. Mrs. Ross states that the horse lay there until he was decomposed and left a greasy spot upon the ground.

THE DRAGON'S HORSE.

As soon as this splendid steed fell his lordship mounted a Dragon's horse. Lamb, the English historian, and an officer in this battle, relates this incident in regard to the Dragon's horse:

"On the instant, however, I saw Lord Cornwallis riding across clear ground. His lordship was mounted on a Dragon's horse, his own having been shot. The saddle bags were under the creature's belly, which much retarded his progress, owing to the vast quantity of underwood that was spread over the ground. His lordship was evidently unconscious of his danger. I immediately laid hold of the bridle of his horse and turned his head I then mentioned to him that if his lordship had pursued the same direction he would in a few moments have been surrounded by the enemy and perhaps cut to pieces or captured. I continued to run along side of the horse keeping the bridle in my hand until his lordship gained the 23rd regiment, which was at that time drawn up in the skirts of the woods."

The common tradition is that this horse was killed about a hundred and fifty yards from and a little northward of the present restaurant in a blind road at the northern boundary of the Battle Ground.

ROUNDHEAD.

This horse was a splendid imported stallion presented to Cornwallis by Col. Fannin and killed during the battle by a cannon ball.
We have this romantic account of the career of this noble animal: Judge Maurice Moore was a man of large wealth and lived in Brunswick county. Just previous to the Revolution he imported from England the thoroughbred stallion "Montrose" by name and a brood mare, "Highland Mary," of quality fine blood. One of the progeny of this pair was "Roundhead," a large, splendid bay. This horse he gave to his son-in-law, Gen. Francis Nash, then a resident of Hillsboro, where the horse developed into a noted racer. When Gen.
Nash went into military service under Washington he left "Round-head" at Hillsboro. David Fannin, the noted Tory guerilla, dashed into Hillsboro and seized "Round-head." Gen. Nash was subsequently killed at Germantown. He had with him a body-servant, a negro named Harry. The efficiency and fidelity of Harry were well known and Gen. William R. Davis made a request of the executor of Gen.
Nash for the hire of Harry as a body-servant to himself, and Harry went again to the war. We next hear of him at the battle of Guilford. In the action Harry was close to the heels of Davis and Greene. The latter with his field glass directed attention to Lord Cornwallis and commented playfully upon the splendid mount of the "Constable of the Tower." The eyes of Harry were at once directed to the same object and he cried out, "If dare ain't Lord Cornwallis ridin' on Roun'head." Harry had often groomed "Roundhead" and knew him well. The battle raged from one part of the field to the other, Gen. Greene, Davis and Harry keeping together. They came at length upon a fine horse recently shot down and in its last agonies. Harry immediately recognized "Roundhead," pierced by a grasp shot through both fore-legs and the body. Harry expressed great delight that "Roundhead" had been killed since the British got a hold of him.

GENERAL GREENE'S HORSE.

It seems that Gen. Greene's horse was a most intelligent and teachable animal, performing tricks to the delight of those around him. I have the following tradition in regard to this horse, which I take from an account given me a few years ago. Mr. Albert C. Ray informs Judge Schenck that when he was a boy he often heard this story from the old people that lived at Guilford Court House:

"Daniel Hobbs, the ancestor of M. V. Hobbs, of this generation, lived about a half mile east of Guilford Court House on a farm owned by William Jenkins, who he sold to William Carr, where he kept a county inn for the accommodation of travelers and persons visiting the Court House. That on the morning of the battle Gen.
Greene rode down to the Hobbs Inn for breakfast. When he came out there was quite a crowd around the General's horse admiring him.
The General being in a felicitous humor took his sword from its scabbard and giving it a twirl with the dexterity of a juggler plunged the point of the blade into a large white oak nearby, and then commanded his horse to fetch it to him. The splendid animal immediately advanced and taking the handle of the sword in his mouth pulled it out from the tree and bore it to his master."

This horse and his rider made a narrow escape seventy five yards north of Clyde Spring. See Schenck's "North Carolina 1780-81," as follows:

"Such also had been the apprehension for the consequences of the defeat of the 2d battalion of guards that the 21st battalion had been ordered up from the left and had reached the New Garden road on which Greene was anxiously observing the progress of events.
The bush on the roadside had so effectually concealed the advance of this corps from view that Gen.
Greene had approached within a few paces of them. When they were discovered by his aide, Maj.
Morris, and pointed out to him, he had the presence of mind to retire in a walk. A precipitate flight would probably have drawn upon him a volley of musketry."

AN UNLETTERED OFFICER.

He is Deputy Sheriff and a Member of the Buncombe County School Board.
SWANNANOVA, Aug. 6.—This county possesses a Republican treasure in the shape of a deputy sheriff, Ingram by name, who can neither read nor write. His summons are read to him by his daughter and when he knows them by heart he trudges off and makes a pretense of reading the document to his victim.
Frequently he has been obliged to avail himself for this purpose of the literary abilities of Mark Lidell, the colored valet in ordinary for the village at large. Last night, posting an official edict, the pride of Buncombe ransacked our settlement at an unearthly hour in search of literary talent. After his request had been indignantly negated in turn by each slumbering citizen, the learned executor of the law's decrees was forced to levy on the literary lore of his Republican conferee, the postmaster, where for two hours the midnight oil shone on a striking illustration of the blind leading the blind. When you learn that this erudite official is also a member of the county school board you may conceive of the stage at which public education is likely to arrive in Buncombe under the intelligent fostering of fusion.

The New Mineral.

Large quantities of a certain mineral, locally called "Manjak," were recently found in the Island of Barbadoes, West Indies. According to the London Engineer, it bids fair to outrival in point of utility all similar substances occurring in various parts of the globe. Manjak is of a black color, not unlike pitch, and possesses a high lustre. In Barbadoes it is found very near, and sometimes upon, the surface of the ground in seams varying from one foot to two feet in thickness, running usually in close proximity to rocks. It is supposed to have been formed by the drying up and consolidation of petroleum. Among the various uses to which Manjak has been successfully applied may be mentioned insulation for electric wires, varnishes of the best quality, bituminous concrete in asphalt roads, and pavements, patent fuel, mixed with peat or other organic matter, intensifier of the illuminating power of coal gas. It is expected by some experts that it will soon supplant rubber in all water proof work.

WILL YOU GIVE UP all that health means to you?

If not, look out for impure blood. Cold, boils, pimples, humors and all scrofulous tendencies by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Hood's PILLS are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists.
The preliminaries of peace between Turkey and Greece are ready for signature. The indemnity is $4,000,000.
Nine tenths of all human ailments come from the same cause—impurity in the blood. Take almost any disease you please and trace the cause of it and you will find it in the blood. Purify and enrich the blood and you remove the cause, and so you cure the disease inevitably and infallibly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all the diseases depending upon impure blood, thin, impure blood.

STATE FIREMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Magnificent Street Pageant—Thousands Witness the Contests.
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 4.— The street parade which formed on upper Hay street at 9:30 o'clock this morning, under the management of chief marshal, Major E. L.
Pemberton and his corps of efficient assistants, was a very striking pageant. It was headed by the "Big Six" band, setting the pace to the strains of martial music, and the order of march embraced the line of the principal thoroughfares of the city. Not since the centennial celebration of 1889 has such a concourse of people invaded this historic old town—in evidence in dense masses on the sidewalks, in animated groups, in windows and balconies, in the flutter of fans and the waving of handkerchiefs from the housetops, and in interminable lines of vehicles, horsemen and bicyclists.
Carriages containing Mayors Cook, of Fayetteville; Ellis, of New Bern; Nelson, of Greensboro, and ex-Mayor Manly, of New Bern; chiefs and assistant chiefs, and other officials, headed the procession, and then the different organizations passed rapidly in review in the following order: The Atlantics, of New Bern (now holding the championship belt); New Berns, of New Bern, with engines and other apparatus; Protector; Dixie, of Greensboro; Southsides, Greensboro; Juniors, Greensboro; Del-gar, Sumter, S. C.; Monaghan, Florence, S. C.; Winston, No. 1; Salem; Adrian, Wilmington; Howland Relief, Wilmington; Durham, Nos. 1 and 2; Salisbury; Charlotte; Wilson; Goldsboro; Fayetteville, float of lovely girls, engine, reef team; Fayetteville Juniors.

A charming feature of the parade was the bits of color and brightness thrown all along the line by the presence of lovely women, the apparatus of Wilmington, Greensboro, Durham, Fayetteville, forming improvised throngs for fair friends of the firemen.
The reporter was much impressed with the artistic finish of the whole exhibition, the tastefulness of the uniforms, the fine bearing of the men, the painstaking keep of the apparatus and the horses. The personnel of the different bodies was exceptionally fine.
Immediately after the parade the track was prepared on Hay street, and the engine contests took place.
Entries, Greensboro, New Bern, Winston, Wilmington Track 200 yards to reservoir at market; uncouple, steam, couple hose, and throw water over 50 feet line.
In the engine contest the New Bern steam engine's time was 3:41, Winston 3:49, Atlantics of New Bern 4:03, Greensboro 5:12, Wilmington 6:26. The first prize was $60, second $30, third $20.
In the hand reel 150 yard dash Fayetteville's time was 31 seconds, New Bern 32, Greensboro 33, Durham No. 2 34, Salem 33, Salisbury 38, Charlotte 33, Durham No. 1, 33.
The grab reel race resulted, New Bern No. 1, 25 seconds, Durham No. 1, 23, Atlantics 25, Fayetteville 23, South Sides 23.
In the long distance rapid steaming, Wilmington and Winston made a fine show.

FAYETTEVILLE, Aug. 5.—The Firemen's Tournament is almost a thing of the past and would have been finished today, but rain this afternoon caused a partial postponement until tomorrow morning of 150 yard inter state reel and grab reel races.
The races commenced this morning at 9:30 o'clock by a 50 yard hand reel race between the Greensboro and Fayetteville juniors, the former winning in 18 1/2 seconds.
These two teams were composed of boys from 6 to 12 years of age, prize $25.
In the championship race, distance 300 yards, the Atlantics, of New Bern, won in 53 1/2, prize handsome gold belt and the championship of North Carolina. This is the third time that this company has won the belt.

Dental Notice.

You had better neglect any other part of your system than your MOUTH and TEETH. Unless these important organs are kept in a healthy condition you cannot expect good results in the other parts of the system. With an experience of twenty years in active practice, we invite you to call and let us give your Teeth the attention necessary to put them in this healthy condition, and at prices that are in the reach of all and in keeping with the times. Why pay higher prices for nothing better?
Yours,
DR. GRIFFITH, Dentist.
