—The fire department was called out about half past eleven o'clock Friday night to extinguish a blaze in the engine room at the furniture factory. The fire was confined to the trash scattered around the floor and the damage was insignificant.

—Monday morning Mr. W. C. McLean entered upon the twenty-eight year of his connection with the firm of J. W. Scott & Co., and still it can't be said that he has grown gray in the service—only a little bald. From appearances he is good for twenty-seven more.

—The Guilford College and Raleigh A. & M. College ball teams played an interesting game here Monday—that is, it was interesting to the Guilford rooters, as it was really a one-sided affair, the Quakers outplaying the Farmers in every particular. The score was 16 to 6.

—The L. Richardson Drug Co. has a word to wide-awake druggists and merchants in this issue. The company has three men on the road, each averaging from three to five orders a day, which shows that people over the State look with favor on the enterprises of Greensboro, both new and old.

—It is expected that the criminal docket will occupy all the remainder of the present term of Federal court. Judge Simonton is sick and could not have opened the circuit court Monday had the criminal docket been out of the way. He will hold court at Statesville next week providing his health will permit.

—Mrs. Balch, wife of Mr. S. E. Balch, one of the employes in J. W. Scott & Co.'s wholesale department, died Saturday night of consumption after a lingering illness and was buried Monday at Greene Hill cemetery. Mrs. Balch was an earnest christian young woman and stood high in the esteem of those who knew her.

—Noted the change in Darden's ad. this week. Most of the stock of clothing, hats, etc., has been sold out and now he is offering a big stock of shoes way down, to close them out at once. If you need shoes, now is the time to get them cheap. Good solid shoes, are kinds to select from, cheaper than you ever saw them.

—At a meeting of the North Carolina Daughters of the Revolution held in Raleigh on the 7th of last October, Mrs. John Gray Bynum and Mrs. James Sterling Jones, both of Greensboro, were elected delegates from the North Carolina Society to the forthcoming annual meeting in Boston, April 25th and 26th.

—Another of Mr. J. B. Smith's interesting articles on the public school question appears in this issue. In his last two contributions he has brought out a new system of education that is worthy of careful consideration. Discussions of matters that look toward the improvement and enlargement of our public schools are always in order.

—Three marriages were solemnized by Squire Pritchett Sunday, the contracting parties being Mr. Wm. G. Tucker and Miss Minnie Ward, Mr. George Varner and Miss Minnie Long, all of this county, and Mr. Gaston B. Hiatt and Mrs. Ida Parks, of Alamance. The last happy couple starts to house-keeping with eight children by former marriages.

—Janitor Jas. R. Pearce and night-watchman R. K. Hanner, of the Federal building, have received notice that Uncle Sam will dispense with their services at an early date. They don't harmonize politically with the administration and, of course, have to step down and out. Two more faithful and competent men will not be found to take their places.

—Skill and taste are displayed in all the work done by E. L. Tate, the new job printer. He has new type and new machinery, two requisites absolutely necessary in turning out good work. These coupled with many years' experience, enable him to do first-class work. Give him a trial. You are sure to be pleased. Office in M. P. Building, opposite McAdoo House.

—In the face of all that is tried to be brought to bear, the "Banner Warehouse" continues to sell the tobacco. Two loads sold last week, one 1,292 pounds for $306.42, an average of about $23.75 per hundred; another load of 756 pounds for $152.30, an average of over $20 per hundred. War or no war, if you will go to the Banner you will get the money for your tobacco.

Your friends,
SMITH, BLACKBURN & CO.

—Sam McKesson, an old colored man who has been a county charge for some time, died at the jail Saturday night. He came from the home early in the week and spent several days among the Federal court people who had camped out about the city. Saturday night he secured lodging at the jail by telling the guard an officer had sent him there. The next morning he was found dead in bed.

—Mr. Blake, proprietor of the Greensboro Seed and Plant Co., informs us that the plants which have been ordered in connection with the PATRIOT's premium offer will be delivered next week. Those of our subscribers entitled to the plant premium and who live in or near the city will please call on him for same; the premiums that are to be delivered by mail will be forwarded early in the week.

—Mr. W. G. Randall, the famous Raleigh artist, was here last week on his way to Germantown to arrange for pointing a picture of Judge W. P. Bynum, which will be added to the collection in the Supreme court room. Mr. Randall delivered to the State Normal and Industrial College a fine full length portrait of Maj. S. M. Flinger, one of the men to whose zeal and ability the institution may be said to stand as a monument.

—Cash buyers will hail with pleasure the announcement made by J. M. Hendrix & Co. this week. Until further notice they will give a discount of eight per cent. on all cash purchases, with one or two exceptions, which are stipulated in their new advertisement. By reading what they have to say you can easily determine how it is possible for them to make this concession. Anything that is said over their signature can be depended upon.

—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the People's Five Cents Savings Bank was held at their banking house yesterday. They declared their usual semi-annual dividend and increased their guarantee fund to the greatest amount allowable under the law. They find the total assets of the bank to exceed one hundred thousand dollars. Their net deposits have been in increasing regularly since 1894 when it was $29,000. In 1895 it was $35,000, in 1896 it was $46,000, in 1897 it was $58,000, and today has increased to $98,014.

—Mr. W. F. Bogart advertises in this issue his annual excursion to run from Greensboro to Mount Airy, Flat Rock, Granite Quarries and Pilot Mountain Saturday, April 23rd. The fare is within the reach of all, being only $1.00 for the round trip. The mountain scenery in this region is among the grandest of the Appalachian chain, the "Pinnacle" being the most wonderful of all the peaks in this range of mountains, a visit to which will repay anyone. Mr. Bogart's reputation as a manager of excursions insures a most delightful trip to all who take advantage of this opportunity to visit the mountains. Read his ad.

—Mr. S. B. Norris, manager of the Carolina Shoe Co., makes an important announcement to our readers this week, which will be followed by something equally interesting in our next issue. This company has purchased the shoe department of the Brown Mercantile Company's double store, and proposes to push the shoe business to an extent never before equalled here. In the first place, all the stock now on hand (filling one of the largest store rooms in Greensboro) is to be closed out at a sacrifice, and then one of the finest lines of shoes to be found in the south will take its place. Watch this new firm's announcements in the PATRIOT from week to week and keep posted on the inducements it offers.

—Yesterday morning a 1 o'clock Thomasville had the largest fire in her history. The entire Lambeth block was totally destroyed. It was only through the untiring efforts of the citizens that the fire was confined to this block. The fire originated in the storage room of D. T. Lambeth & Sons. It is thought the store was robbed and then fired to conceal the deed. The total loss is between $6,000 and $7,000 as follows: D. T. Lambeth & Sons, $3,000, insurance, $1,500; D. A. Long, beef market, $200, no insurance; T. C. Bray, barber, $50, no insurance; W. B. Baunsaville, grocer, $500, insurance $200; J. W. Cecil, store room, $500, no insurance; J. M. Morris & Son, dry goods merchants, occupying the large brick building at the corner of the Lambeth block had their goods damaged to the amount of $3,000, insurance $1,500.

Church Entertainment.

A rare entertainment is in store for those who attend the entertainment to be given by Miss Goodhue of New York. It will be given under the auspices of the First Presbyterian church on the 15th of April. The Asheville Gazette has the following to say in regard to the entertainment in that city: "Miss Goodhue, of New York, a finished elocutionist, delighted the audience with several selections during the evening, which showed to good advantage the versatility of her talent. The number, perhaps most appreciated by the audience was 'Mary's Slingshot Lesson,' in which imitations of various bird notes were skillfully introduced."

A Critical Situation.

It is learned from this morning's dispatches that the Senate and House committees on Foreign relations have agreed on a resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba. It is hardly questionable that such a resolution, reported by the committee, will pass both branches of Congress. With or without the approval of the President, this would amount to a declaration of war.

At no time has the situation been more tense than it is now. The testimony of Gen. Lee yesterday did not relieve it in the least.

At the last moment Spain, under the advice of the Pope, may back down. This is the one hope of peace.

—Mr. Geo. W. Pinnix, an excellent gentleman who has made his home here for some time with his son, Mr. M. H. Pinnix, died Sunday morning after an illness of only a few hours. He was in his usual health up to Saturday evening, but as he prepared to retire that night he was stricken with apoplexy, the result of Bright's disease. Despite the efforts of his physicians he died within a few hours, without regaining consciousness. In former years Mr. Pinnix was a local minister of the Christian denomination. Occasionally he assisted in meetings, and expected to go to High Point for that purpose the day of his death. His remains were taken to Union church, Alamance county, for interment. His family has the sympathy of the community.

—Monroe Johnson, a young colored thief who has been under police surveillance for several years and often under arrest for various offenses, has been identified with a crime that will relieve the city of his presence for a good long time. Sunday night he broke open the rear door of C. M. Vanstony & Co.'s clothing store and made away with possibly a hundred dollars' worth of goods. With his booty he boarded the northbound vestibule soon after and managed to reach Alexandria, Va., where he was placed under arrest as a suspicious character just after leaving the train. The tags on the stolen goods gave the Alexandria officers a clue to his identity and they wired here for information, receiving a reply to hold Jones (as he gave his name there) until an officer could reach that city. The officers here suspected that "Jones" was Johnson and Monday night Officer Whittington went to Alexandria, where he found both the man and the goods that he expected. Johnson agreed to return without requisition papers and today he will have a preliminary hearing before Mayor Nelson.

—The handsome modern church structure just completed by the West Market Methodist Episcopal congregation was formally opened to public worship Sunday morning with appropriate services. Rev. E. E. Hoss, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., was present by invitation and preached a sermon in keeping with the event, taking his text from First Corinthians, third chapter, tenth to seventeenth verses. The music was also a feature of the service, which was participated in by over two thousand people. Of the twelve hundred dollars required to put the finishing touches to the structure, over two-thirds was subscribed at the close of the service. In the evening an audience still larger than that of the morning assembled to hear an Easter service prepared by the Sunday school, of which Prof. P. P. Claxton is superintendent. It was creditable alike to scholars and teachers. The First Presbyterian congregation did a graceful thing in suspending all their services for the day and joining with their West Market friends in the event to which they had so long looked forward and in behalf of which they had labored so earnestly. No incident of the day was more impressive than this unostentatious display of harmony between the two great branches of the church of God.

DOING A GREAT WORK.

So Says a Durhamite Who Visited Keeley While in Greensboro.

Durham Sun.

"Our genial and popular townsman, Col. Hammatt, has returned from a visit of several days in Greensboro, and while there he was the guest of Col. W. H. Osborn, the President of the Keeley Institute, and he brings back with him deserving words of praise for that institution, its location, its management, and the work it is doing.

"Col. Hammatt was charmed with the Institute's new home, which was formerly the Morehead mansion. It has been greatly improved and beautifully furnished, and there is a sweet quietness and rest about the place which he says is wonderful and refreshing. Everything is kept in the cleanest and best manner, making a stay there delightful in the extreme.

"He says Col. Osborn has a typical, inviting home for the unfortunate ones who desire to free themselves from the habits of drink, morphine or other opiates, which do so much to blunt energy, quench hope and wreck the system. The grounds are beautiful and attractive; that the Institute has fine Jersey cows and gets the best milk ever tasted, and the table is served with butter of their own make that is butter right; and he never saw such fine chickens and shoats, which go to make up, with all other comforts, the idea practical that the management and their inmates 'lived at home.'

"Col. Hammatt mingled with the patients, some twenty or more now, and he was astonished over what he saw and heard—how they had come out of 'the miry clay,' clothed in their right mind, with new hope in their hearts and a smile of joy upon their faces.

"Col. Osborn and his corps of managers have brought the Institute up to a stage of great perfection, in all of its departments for comfort, ease and charming life of its patients. He says it is a great institution and is doing a great work, in a great and satisfactory way."

A thrill of terror is experienced when a harsh cough of croup sounds through the house at night. But the terror soon changes to relief after One Minute Cough Cure has been administered. Safe and harmless for children. Howard Gardner.

"Faust" affords opportunities for spectacular effects that should not be neglected, and as to these Mr. John Griffith, notwithstanding the burden of his role, has been unceasing in his efforts to bring the production to a degree of absolute perfection. Inventive genius, electrical, mechanical and scenic, has provided effects since the original production of "Faust" that beautify and build up the play tenfold, and all of these Mr. Griffith has added to his already large equipment. One of the prettiest effects, it is said, is the transition from daylight, with a setting sun and red sky, to darkness, and the appearance, one by one, of twinkling stars. In depicting the famous Broken scene, to say nothing of the Apotheosis, effects are used never dreamed of when "Faust" was originally produced. There are a number of revelational, scenic and electrical. Academy of Music, Saturday evening, April 16th.

Another Donation to Guilford College.

The late Dr. H. Hartsborne, of Philadelphia, left by will the principal part of his large and valuable library to Guilford College. The catalogue of the books contained therein was received by the president of the college Saturday, and from a hasty examination of the same it appears, we are told, that the addition to the college library will be one of the most valuable ever made. Our people heartily appreciate such a bestowal of good books to our institutions, and truly it may be said that such benefactors though dead yet speak.

There are now sixty-nine veterans in the confederate soldiers' home. Half are in favor of immediate war with Spain and nine want to participate in it. There is now not a single inmate of the hospital.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, Price 75c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.
