—Major-General Miles, commander-in-chief of the United States Army, accompanied by the members of his family and his personal and official staff, passed through the city yesterday morning on a special train enroute for Tampa, Fla., where he will establish temporary headquarters of the army and personally direct the movements of the troops and the invasion of Cuba.

—The graduating recital of Miss Fannie Louise Brooks, pupil of the Violin department of the Brockmann School of Music, occurred in the recital hall of the school, on West Market street, last night at 8:30. Miss Brooks acquitted herself admirably, performing the various numbers on the program with rare skill and understanding. Miss Edna Vanderford, another pupil of the school, appeared in two charming numbers.

—Bill Collins, a no-account individual living with his father, Mr. Wm. Collins, Sr., on Sycamore street, filled up on firewater Saturday night and beat the old gentleman unmercifully, finally threatening to shoot him if he did not meet his frenzied demands for money. Bill has reposed in jail ever since, his father not being able as yet to appear in police court against him. He deserves a long term on the county roads.

—Chancellor Wm. W. Smith, of the Randolph-Macon System of Colleges and Academies, favors us with a cordial invitation to the joint commencement exercises at Lynchburg, Va., which occur Monday, June 6th, to Thursday, June 8th, and give promise of unusual interest. Among the prominent speakers for the occasion we see the names of Hon. Chas. W. Tillet, of North Carolina, Bishop John H. Vincent, of Kansas, and Rev. E. E. Hoss, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn. The Randolph-Macon institutions are at the front of the educational ranks and we would be gratified by the privilege of attending the exercises at Lynchburg.

Save Your Teeth and Eyes,

—Prof. Chas. L. Raper, for the past four years in the chair of Science, Philosophy and Greek at Greensboro Female College, left for his home at High Point this morning. This fall he expects to enter one of the greater universities to spend a year in fitting himself for a special line of work. He is one of the most brilliant young men in North Carolina and we predict for him a bright future in the world of letters. He carries with him the sincere good will of a large circle of friends here.

SMITH, BLACKBURN & CO.

—Superintendent Bergman has a force of thirty-eight convicts at work straightening the Battle Ground road at the northern city limits, thereby doing away with dangerous grade crossings and heavy grades. The rest of the convicts are at work near Freeman's Mill. The next movement of the force will be toward the northern part of the county, where as yet no work has been done. The people up that way have waited patiently for the time to arrive when they might share in the good work of the force, and we will rejoice with them when their hopes are realized.

—Mr. H. J. Elam, of the Daily Record, was called to Charlotte this morning to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. N. R. Elam, who died yesterday evening at a hospital there. Mrs. Elam was in her 71st year. Five sons survive her. She formerly lived in Charlotte, but for the past eight years had made her home in Greensboro. Last December she fell ill with something like an abscess in her side, and later on dropped set in. Her health has varied ever since. The first of the week she wrote to her son here saying she was getting along very nicely but expected soon to undergo another operation—the fourth, and in the absence of definite word it is presumed that death resulted therefrom. She was a member of the Episcopal church. Our sympathies go out to her bereaved family.

A Bombardment of Hail.

Hail fell in various portions of the county Monday but in few instances serious damage is reported. Randolph and other counties south of us seem to have suffered most. A dispatch from Asheboro says: "There was a severe hail storm here this afternoon about 3 o'clock, lasting about half an hour. Some of the stones were very large, measuring three inches wide; four inches long and two and one-half thick. Holes were knocked in tin roofing, and much damage done to wheat, corn, fruit and garden vegetables. Double thick glass was broken in several places in town." A special from Weldon says: "The Weldon & Kinston local freight encountered the most severe hail storm at Tillery this afternoon ever before known in this county. The headlights of the engine was knocked out, and all the glass in the conductor's car were broken, and holes were knocked in the roof of the train, which was forced to stop. Leaves and limbs were beaten from trees, and all fruit trees in the path of the storm were demolished. Hail stones were picked up as large as a man's fist." From Kirtrell comes this report: "The most terrific hail storm since October, 1873, occurred here today. Wheat, oats, cotton, gardens, strawberries, dewberries and fruit of all kinds and many window glasses entirely destroyed. The hail from goose egg size down, drifted two feet in many places. The ground is strewn with wreckage of trees."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

G. F. C. Commencement.

The closing exercises of Greensboro Female College began last Wednesday morning. The chief feature of the day was the sermon by Rev. W. S. Cressy, D. D., of Winston. The mornng was bright and a fine crowd had assembled to hear this gifted divine and popular pastor. The audience was led in prayer by Rev. L. W. Crawford, D. D., and the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson.

The theme of the preacher was that man is under the special providence of God; that he is a Divine Providence. He demonstrated: (1) That man belongs to God by virtue of creation, because He made him; that God is a far greater sculptor than man, inasmuch as He gives life, feelings, emotions and thoughts to his statue; (2) that man belongs to God by virtue of redemption; that after the statue was made by the Divine hands the devil stole it away and that God had to purchase it by the life and death of Christ; that God has not only made and redeemed man, but has given him health, pleasures, friends, opportunities and privileges; (3) that in consequence of what He has done for man, man should give Him the best service of his body, mind and soul; (4) that man must perfect himself in every possible way in order to enter into that way of life that receives the approval of the Divine Father; that the painter, man of business and society must prepare himself and develop all of his native qualities in order to win that way wherein God always directs and leads; that man is most successful who enters most into that Divine way. He gave many illustrations of noble men and women who had won permanent success in life by conforming themselves to this Divine way. From first to last the sermon was strong and impressive.

Wednesday night a very large crowd heard the alumnae address of Rev. E. A. Yates, D. D. The subject of his address was "Woman's Influence Against Infidelity." He handled his theme in a masterly way that attracted all. His argument was deep and close. From first to last it was one of the greatest addresses ever delivered to the college. He demonstrated that Christianity had liberated woman and made her the equal of man in all the privileges and rights that are necessary for her best development; that the home is her place, and that this when guided by noble women is the ruling force of civilization; that she makes herself powerful by her virtue, modesty, goodness and christian spirit; that she makes herself a failure when she becomes masculine, immodest and public; that she can be the greatest bulwark of Christianity or the meanest creature in all the earth, and to prove this he cited many historic examples of very noble and very ignoble women; that the superiority in either the man or woman is a sham, because neither hemisphere of the globe can be inferior or superior to the other; that she has a sphere that is better and purer than that of man and that man has a sphere that is as a rule harder, stranger and less pure; that every time woman attempts to go beyond her natural and necessary sphere she loses her influence for good over man and for Christianity; that the woman's suffrage movement is a strange thrust of evil against Christianity, against the purity and permanence of the best type of home life; that the nations that have the most modest, christian and pure women are the ones that have done most in the world's history, and the one that has made woman a politician instead of a modest, pure and conservative wife or mother has fallen in ruin of its own weight.

He made many more strong points. In fact a mere outline does his great address injustice. It was a gem in its entirety and should thus be considered.

Thursday the graduating exercises took place. Though W. W. Kitchin could not be present on the occasion, as was expected, still the exercises were very interesting.

The following is the graduating class and their theses:

"Life in America as Revealed by Her Novelists," Alberta Blanche Capel, Troy.

"Communism and Iconoclasm During the Reformation," Manie Catharine Currie, Maxton.

"The Arthurian Legends," Elma Cole, Concord.

"What the People Read," Maude Gertrude England, Wilkesboro.

"Social Life in Athens in the Fifth Century, B. C.," Nora Hamlin, Yadkinville.

"The Early Christian Church," Frederika Peace Jenkins, Cary.

"Eli Washington Caruthers, D. D., the Man and the Author," Pattie LeGrand, Rockingham.

"The Career of Wallenstein," Annie Slade Maulsby, Whiteville.

The following is the program of the day:

Prayer by Rev. W. S. Cressy, D. D.
Essay, "Social Life in Athens in the Fifth Century B. C.," Miss Nora Hamlin.

Essay, "Eli W. Caruthers, D. D.," Miss Pattie LeGrand.

Quartet, "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," Foster, Misses Gorrell, Weathersbee, Wynne and Black.

Essay, "Life in America as Revealed by Her Novelists," Miss Alberta Blanche Capel.

Duet, "Calm as the Night," Goetze, Miss Orr and Mr. Parker.

Presentation of Certificates.
Presentation of Diplomas and Bibles.
Solo, "Good-bye, Sweet Day," Vannah, Miss Orr.

Announcements.
Dextology.
Benediction.

All the theses that were read were of a very high order. They manifested great earnestness and ability in preparation. The college has never turned out a stronger class, especially a class with better theses.

The commencement exercises closed Thursday night with the following programme:

Prayer.
Quartet, "Overture to Nabuccodonosor," Verdi—Misses Nora Hamlin, Della Walker, Myrtle Chatham and Cora Fields.

Recitation, "Enoch Arden," Tennyson—Miss Nellie Merrimon.

Duet, "Valse de Concert," Mattel—Misses Minnie Gorrell and Minnie Geddie.

Song, "The Tempest," Buck—Miss Manie Gurrin.

Duo, Two Pianos, Opus 25, Mendelssohn—Misses Elma Cole and Maude England.

Recitation "Marriage of the Flowers," Miss Lizzie Leigh Dick.

Trio, "Rest Thou on this Mossy Pillow," Smart—Misses Manie Currie, Anna Henderson and Mary Cole.

Recitation, Letter-Writing Scene from Pickwick Papers, Dickens—Miss Virginia Westbrook.

Chorus, "The Lord is My Shepherd," Schubert.

Quartet, "Overture to Tannhauser," Wagner—Misses Weathersbee, Bowden, England and Elma Cole.

Quartet, "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," Foster—Misses Gorrell, Weathersbee, Wynne and Black.

Announcements.
Dextology.
Benediction.

The exercises from beginning to end have been a decided success, and those of Thursday night did not fall short of the high standard of the former exercises. The whole program was rendered in an especially pleasing and artistic manner. The institution has had a great year's work, and its final class has been one of great pleasure and interest. The pupils have now gone and the teachers are leaving, and the old building looks lonely and still. Among the things of greatest growth to the institution for the past year have been enlargement of the library and the historical sentiment. President Peacock has made many valuable additions to the library, especially to the North Carolina collection. Mr. Chas. L. Raper has written and published, "The Church and Private Schools of North Carolina," a historical work of 247 pages. This has been received with great favor by the press and by many of the leading teachers and scholars in the whole South.

It is with universal regret that Misses Alta Cozart, Clara Orr, Clara Puryear and Mr. Chas. L. Raper retire from the faculty with the commencement of this year. However, their places will be filled and the institution will go forward on her upward career. She has had a great past, but has a greater future.

The marshals for the commencement were: Leila Gilchrist McGirt, chief; Lena Long, Marietta Haskins, Lizzie Hadley, Addie Latham, Grizzelle Burton, Catherine McArthur.

The managers were: Male Alice Carr, chief; Mary Harper, Mattie Lyon, Lula Page, Myrtle Muse, Mattie Parham, Lottie Miller.

A number of changes in the faculty are announced. Rev. T. A. Smoot, A. B., of Trinity, takes the chair of Science and Philosophy; Mrs. N. F. Shelton, of Tennessee, English Literature and Language; Miss Mary C. Black, Piano and Voice Culture; Miss Rachel Sims, Elocution and Physical Culture. Mrs. C. E. Hundley will be the matron next year, Miss Manie Catherine Currie librarian, and Miss Male Alice Carr assistant treasurer and private secretary to President Peacock. The enrollment for the past year was 161.

—Among the decisions handed down by the Supreme court last week before adjourning for the term were the following from Guilford: Troxler vs. Railroad, new trial; Scott vs. Duke (per curiam), affirmed; Cater vs. Insurance Company, error.
