—Miss Alys Lutz, of Baltimore, Md., arrived here Monday evening to take charge of Hinkle Bros. millinery department for the coming season. Miss Lutz comes highly recommended and will undoubtedly please her patrons.
—Attorney A. B. Kimball went to Mt. Airy last Friday to look after a suit brought against Mt. Airy township by a New York bank. The suit is brought on bonds issued by the township and held by the New York bank.
—Mr. W. J. Bridge wishes his friends and customers to know that he is still at the head of the procession in the furniture business. If you need anything in his line he would be glad to see you. Watch for his new ad. next week.
—John Wharton is a worthy colored man and a cripple who conducts a small grocery store in the eastern section of the city. Friday night his store was entered by burglars and robbed of a small amount of cash and some groceries.
—Judge John Gray Bynum has rented Mr. Percy R. Albright's residence on Church street, which he will occupy until he can build on his recently purchased Summit avenue lot. Mr. Albright's family will move to Raleigh next week.
—Miss Annie Halthcock and Mr. H. O. Ingram were married Saturday in Oxford, where the bride was visiting. The marriage was a surprise to the parents and friends of the young couple in this city.
—The Empire Steel and Iron Company is making arrangements to operate an iron mine in Johnston county, near Wilson's Mills, the mines at Ore Hill and Chapel Hill not being sufficient to supply the demand of the furnace at this place.
—The front of the Bank of Guilford is being repainted and otherwise brightened up. The interior of the building is being rearranged and in the future will be occupied by the insurance firm of Boyd, Waddell & Co. in connection with the bank.
—Sheriff Gilmer notifies the taxpayers of the county in this issue of the PATRIOT of the date on which he will be in each township for the purpose of collecting state and county taxes for the present year. Refer to the notice and be prepared for the Sheriff's visit.
—The executive committee of the colored Agricultural and Mechanical College has purchased a farm of one hundred acres for the use of the college. The farm lies just east of the institution and was bought from Mr. D. E. Thomas, the consideration being $50 an acre.
—The J. Van Lindley Nursery Company is sending out circulars calling attention to their unusually fine stock of shade trees, especially the Silver Leaf maple and the Carolina poplar. There is nothing that adds more beauty to a lawn or sidewalk than nice shade trees.
—Be sure and read our special offer in the advertising columns in reference to our clubbing rates with the American Agriculturist. If you want a first-class agricultural journal to read in connection with the PATRIOT you should not fail to take advantage of this proposition.
—The work of building the Revolution cotton mills is being pushed forward rapidly. A large force of carpenters, brick-masons and other laborers are employed. The main building is 348 feet long and 105 feet wide. It is situated on the north side of the Proximity mills.
—The Great Southern Minstrels, which gave a poor performance at the Academy of Music last Thursday night went to pieces in Salisbury. The manager, who was also the proprietor, skipped with all the money on hand, leaving the members of the aggregation in a sorry plight.
Scrap Iron Wanted.
We will buy all your old castings, wrought iron, plow steel, brass and copper. Will pay highest prices.
G. T. GLASCOCK & SON,
Greensboro, N. C.

—C. C. Townsend has a large stock of buggies, wagons, harness, etc., that will be sold at the old prices, these goods having been bought before the recent advance. He will be glad to receive a call from you at any time and will endeavor to please. He will have a new ad. in the next issue.
—Mr. P. H. Hanes, one of Winston-Salem's largest tobacco manufacturers, were here Friday morning on his way south. As he was attempting to board the southbound vestibule his foot became caught and he was thrown to the ground and dragged some distance narrowly escaping severe injury.
—Mr. Arthur H. Stack, a clever and competent young gentleman, is a member of the clerical force at the Banner warehouse under the new management. He will be pleased to have his friends stop at the Banner and will put forth every effort to make their visit pleasant as well as remunerative.
—The home mission committee of Orange Presbytery has appointed Rev. C. Miller, of Cabarrus county, to take charge of the mission work of the Presbyterian church in Stokes county. This field was entered by the Presbyterians only a few years ago, but a great work has already been accomplished.
—Mr. W. E. Allen has given up his position as book-keeper at the Greensboro National Bank to become cashier of the Greensboro Loan and Trust Company, which will open for business next Monday. His old position will be filled by Mr. Frank C. Boyles, who has been employed at the National Bank for several years.
—Capt. C. E. Dexter, a United States postoffice inspector, who has had his headquarters in Greensboro for several years, has been transferred to New York. Capt. and Mrs. Dexter have many friends in Greensboro who regret their departure. J. W. Bulla will succeed Capt. Dexter and will have his headquarters in Asheville.
—For Sale.—Organ, in good order, walnut case, 120 reeds, suitable for a church or family. Can be had this week for $37.50. Call or address J. S. Eckford, piano and organ tuner and repairer, at Mrs. Wood's hotel, Greensboro, N. C. Old organs and pianos repaired and if work isn't done right, no pay.
—The camp meeting at Gray's Chapel, Randolph county, was commenced Sunday. The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. A. W. Lineberry was preached at 11 o'clock by Rev. G. F. Milloway. He also preached in the afternoon. The weather was ideal and an immense crowd of people was present, probably as many as two or three thousand.
—Mr. W. W. Workman is preparing to establish a mattress factory and upholstering business in this city. He will occupy the building on Buchanan street, adjoining the Robert Porter Brewing Company's establishment. He has placed his order for the necessary machinery and hopes to begin operations at an early date. All kinds of mattresses will be manufactured.
—An officer interfered in a quiet little game of poker one night last week. Warrants were issued for a number of persons, some of them being well known men of some prominence. The matter was compromised in some way before a magistrate, and it is now said that the Solicitor may give some people trouble. There seems to have been some irregularity in the proceedings.
—Mr. John M. Lee died at his boarding house in the northern section of the city Sunday morning and was buried at Buffalo church Monday afternoon. He was a native of Franklinville and was a member of the Second North Carolina regiment in the Spanish-American war. Since his regiment was mustered out of service he had been employed at the Finishing mills in this city.
—Greensboro foundrymen received notice Monday of a $200 advance in pig iron. Of course this advance is general in its scope, applying to the whole United States. The fellows that predicted $30 iron last spring were considered visionary, but the staple has already gone a dollar and a half above that figure and is still climbing. The furnace men will not book an order for delivery a month hence at the present figure.
—Mrs. N. M. Alston died at the home of her daughter in this city, Mrs. Robert F. Rice, last Thursday evening. The remains were interred at Pittsboro, the old home of the deceased, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Alston had been an invalid for a long time and her death was not unexpected. She was a faithful member of the M. E. Church, South, and was ready for the end. She leaves two sons and two daughters, her husband having died some years ago.

—Mr. H. L. Weeks, of the Johnston Manufacturing Company, this city, was doing some cornice work on a new church building in Henderson Saturday, when he lost his footing and fell a distance of about forty feet, breaking his left ankle in two places. He came to Greensboro Saturday night and is now able to get about with the aid of crutches. Notwithstanding his injuries, he will go to Rocky Mount tomorrow to superintend some work his company is doing at that place.
—A negro preacher by the name of Collett, who created considerable excitement among the colored people of Greensboro a few weeks ago by his faith cure and divine healing proclivities, struck a snag in Lexington last week. A colored woman was recovering from an attack of typhoid fever under the treatment of a physician, when Collett visited her and told her to trust in the Lord and eat anything and as much of it as she wanted. She ate a quantity of vegetables and then died promptly.
—Miss Fodie M. Bule, who holds a position in the Department of Justice at Washington city, has been spending a few days with friends in the city on her return from her home in Robeson county, where she spent a portion of her vacation. For several years Miss Bule was executive clerk at the State Normal and Industrial College, having graduated from the commercial department of that institution. She has many friends here who are pleased to know of her success in Washington.
—Miss Sallie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas, and Mr. D. W. Marsh were married at the home of the bride, on West Market street, last Thursday morning at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. J. C. Rowe, of West Market Street Methodist church, and was witnessed by a number of friends and relatives. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Marsh left for Thomasville to spend a week with the parents of the groom, after which they will reside in this city.
—Smith & Gamble, proprietors of the Banner warehouse, show that they want your patronage by extending you an invitation through the columns of the PATRIOT to sell your tobacco with them. Both these gentlemen are well known throughout this and surrounding counties and will see to it that every farmer who brings tobacco to their warehouse receives proper treatment. You can make no mistake by patronizing them. The accommodations at the Banner are ample and the highest market price always prevails.
—If you are interested in grain drills your attention is invited to the Wakefield Hardware Company's half-page advertisement in this issue. The ad. is written in an interesting manner and tells of some of the advantages of the Buckeye grain drill. One of the strongest points in favor of this drill is the unqualified endorsement of those who use it. Read the strong testimonials in the ad. The writers are well known farmers and their endorsement can but carry weight. The Wakefield Hardware Company has a large number of testimonials from other prominent farmers.
—Henderson Gold Leaf: "Mr. J. A. Gilmer will leave next week for Richmond to take the usual course at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary. His friends part with him reluctantly, but wish him the fullest measure of success and satisfactory progress in his ministerial studies." Mr. Gilmer is well known in Guilford, being a brother to Sheriff and R. A. Gilmer, of Greensboro, and Dr. C. S. Gilmer, of McLeansville. For a number of years he has been engaged in educational work, having conducted successful schools at Morganton and Henderson.
—A statement has been made that some of the attorneys who lost cases at the special term of court, recently held here by Judge Timberlake, will ask the Supreme court to grant them new trials on the ground that the trials before Judge Timberlake were illegal. It will be remembered that the time of holding the regular June term of court came on before the business of the special term was finished. Judge Timberlake adjourned the special term for Judge Bryan to hold the regular term, after which the work of the special term was resumed. It will be contended that this proceeding was irregular, and that all cases tried by Judge Timberlake after the regular term were illegal. If the Supreme court should hold to this view it would result in much litigation having to be gone over again, besides entailing considerable cost upon the county.

—The city has acquired possession of the county jail lot, on which will be built the new city hall and market house. For this property the city gives the county $6,000 and a lot on the corner of North Greene and West Gaston streets, just north of Stafford's tobacco factory. This lot is valued at $1,200, making the jail lot cost the city $7,200, or $48 a front foot, the lot being 150x150 feet. The county's new lot is a small one, but is large enough for all purposes. It is expected that arrangements will be made at once for the erection of a new jail, something that has long been needed.
—The executive committee of the Agricultural and Mechanical College for the colored race—composed of A. M. Scales, of this city, chairman; Prof. M. C. S. Noble, Chapel Hill, and W. F. Debnam, of Raleigh—was in session Saturday for the purpose of filling two vacancies in the faculty of the institution. Prof. Hugo Diemer, of Cincinnati, was elected to take charge of the mechanical department, and I. S. Cunningham, a graduate of the class of '89, was elected foreman of the college shops. The faculty was authorized to conduct a night school for the benefit of those students who are employed on the farm.
—A short time ago we announced with pleasure that the Benbow House property had finally been disposed of, thinking we were publishing an important item of news, but it appears that we were laboring under a delusion. A member of the company interested stated that attorneys were engaged in drawing up the papers necessary to the transfer of the property, adding that work would begin on the new hotel in a few days. Considerable time has elapsed and no one now seems able to give any definite information in regard to the deal. There is considerable doubt in the minds of many as to who is really the owner of the property—Capt. Fisher or the recently organized company. In the meantime Greensboro is badly in need of another hotel.
—The committee appointed to investigate the charges of immorality against Rev. J. W. Lee, the evangelist, made a final report to the quarterly conference of West Market Street church last night, and the incident is now closed. There were two counts, or specifications, in the charges against Mr. Lee—criminal intimacy with a young woman in Atlanta, and lying. From the evidence it appeared that the charge of unlawful intimacy with the young woman was a case of blackmail, and on this count the evangelist was acquitted. We understand that the committee found him guilty of lying, in that he spoke of the woman in the case as his daughter. Mr. Lee explained this by saying that when he was well acquainted with a young lady it was his occasional habit to call her "daughter." So far as his church is concerned, Mr. Lee will be permitted to resume his labors in the evangelistic work.
—A horrible accident that cost a poor fellow his life occurred near Germantown, on the Atlantic & Yadkin division of the Southern Railway shortly after midnight yesterday morning. The long freight train that was conveying John Robinson's circus from Mt. Airy was coming down a long grade, when the engineer, fearing the train would get from under his control, blew for brakes. Mr. John C. Curtis, who had been on the road only a short while, started to apply the brakes, but just as he arose to his feet, standing on the top of a car, he was struck squarely on the forehead by a bridge under which the train was passing. The blow mangled his head in a horrible manner, his body being thrown back on the car. A fellow trainman saw the accident and hurried to Curtis, finding him breathing his last. The body was brought to Greensboro and turned over to an undertaker, who prepared it for burial. The remains were interred in Greene Hill cemetery this morning at 10 o'clock, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. J. F. McCulloch. Mr. Curtis was twenty-five years old and had lived in Greensboro for a number of years, coming here from Franklinville. He leaves a wife, to whom he was married something less than two years ago, and a baby.
Catarrah Cannot be Cured
with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrah is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it, you must take internal remedies.
