

BRYAN IN KENTUCKY.

Whether We Elect a Democratic President or Not Depends in Some Measure on What They Do in Kentucky, He Says.

Bardwell, Ky., October 16.—The Bryan party left Cairo, Ill., this morning at 7 o'clock for a tour through Kentucky and Ohio. Among those on the train were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan, National Committeeman Woodson, of Kentucky; William Goebel, Democratic candidate for Governor; Capt. Joseph Blackburn, brother of Senator Blackburn; G. G. Coulter, candidate for auditor, and others known to Kentucky Democracy and an array of newspaper correspondents. Bardwell, twenty miles out of Cairo, was the first stop, where an enthusiastic crowd greeted the train.

Mr. Bryan said in part: "Whether the next President of the United States is a Democrat depends on what you do in Kentucky this year. Three years ago Kentucky did not help the Democratic party to any extent. I believe the people voted better than the country counted. I am not sure but we carried the State, but I am sure we did not get it. Kentucky is a Democratic State and we have a right to expect it to go Democratic in 1900. "If the State goes Republican this fall it may be difficult to carry it next year. You will encourage the Republicans and discourage the Democrats if you try to divide the Democratic party. You cannot whip the Republicans by dividing the Democratic party in two."

Mr. Bryan vigorously denounced the war in the Philippines and the present large standing army, claiming it the duty of the Democratic party to seek the reduction of the army to the peace footing of 25,000 men.

Mr. Bryan at some length paid his respects to Mr. McKinley's announcement of the intention to hold the Philippine Islands and said it was the first announcement of a President of the United States against the spirit and doctrine of the Declaration of Independence. In reference to the President's declaration that Congress would provide for the government of the islands he said you should substitute Parliament for Congress and revert to the time when the colonies asked recognition of King George.

He ridiculed the claim that we had a right to the islands because we had purchased the islands from a discredited monarchy and averred that we cannot buy the Philippines after we had armed to fight Spain.

He then touched upon the silver question as a matter of vital interest to the people as a whole and urged the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform.

ROBERTS WILL NOT QUIT.

Utah Congressman Has No Misgivings About Action by Congress.

Congressman-elect Brigham H. Roberts, from Salt Lake City, Utah, who reached this city unheeded some days ago, and has been a guest at the Eastern Mission headquarters of the Latter Day Saints at No. 50 Concord street, Brooklyn, was seen there by a reporter to-day. In reply to questions, Mr. Roberts said that he had come East on private business, and his visit had no political significance whatever. He expected to remain about a week longer, going from here to Philadelphia and probably to Washington.

Referring to the political situation and his own connection with it he said there was no indictment against him he left Utah that he knew of, nor did he know of any yet. He had broken no law. That he had a plurality of wives was true, but he had married them before the manifesto of 1890. There had been no plural marriages since then, nor would there be any. Infringement of the statute would be disciplined by his church as quickly as by the laws of the land. Mr. Roberts went on to say that his visit to Brooklyn was merely a friendly one to the people of his own religious faith. They were here to preach the Gospel and did not desire to be brought into any controversy which might affect him.

Speaking of his election, Mr. Roberts said it had been accomplished independent of the church, as he had received the greater number of votes from Gentiles. He had no fear about facing Congress nor any misgivings in regard to the outcome of his attempts to take his seat.—New York Dispatch to the Philadelphia Times, 12th.

GIRLS SOLD NIGHT CAP FAVORS.

Fifty Cents Each at a Church Fair and Fifty More for a Kiss.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church at Sweden Valley, this county, held a novel entertainment in the church edifice last evening. It was called a "night cap social," and it was held for the purpose of raising funds with which to wipe out an indebtedness on the church property. Every woman or girl who attended the entertainment was required to bring a duplicate pair of night caps, one of them bearing the name of the donor. The strings of each pair of mated caps were tied together. Then all the night caps at the social were bunched in the bag. The men, after being blindfolded and paying half a dollar, were permitted to grab a pair of night caps from the bag, and the lady whose name appeared on the caps which he drew was his partner for the evening. For an additional half dollar the rules permitted him to kiss the partner whom fortune gave him, but of the 70 men who grabbed for night caps only 2 paid the extra amount for osculatory privileges.—Coudersport, Pa., Dispatch to The Philadelphia Record.

Died on Lecture Platform.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—While addressing a socialist women's meeting in a Second avenue hall tonight Mrs. Florentine Cantius-Lange was stricken with apoplexy and died in a few minutes. Mrs. Cantius-Lange was a portly woman, about fifty-three years old, and often became excited when making speeches.

Her subject was women's rights. After ten minutes' talk, she suddenly stopped and began gesticulating with her hands. Her face became almost black and she began to totter. Several women on the platform ran to her and caught her as she was falling, but not quickly enough to prevent her from reaching the floor.

Some of the women began to scream. Others went for a physician, and in the meantime Mrs. Cantius-Lange's friends tried to revive her. When the physician arrived she was dying, and was dead in a few minutes. Mrs. Cantius-Lange came from Berlin, Germany, about seven years ago, and was prominent as a socialistic agitator.

Murder in Monroe.

Monroe is excited over the discovery of a murder, which was committed in or near the town last Thursday.

A white man named Fletcher Medlin was the victim. Medlin came to town Thursday with cotton to sell. He was seen late in the afternoon with two negroes. He started home in his wagon, and that was the last seen of him until Tuesday, when his dead body was found in a rock quarry, which was near the town. The quarry was full of water and the body came to the surface. The negroes who were last seen with Medlin have been arrested. Suspicion was aroused in regard to the possibility of the man's body being in the quarry from the fact that the two negroes kept going there, evidently looking for something. Medlin had been shot through the head. He was drinking at the time he was killed.—Charlotte Observer.

Redress for Armenians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14.—An imperial irade has been issued abolishing all measures that prevented the free movements of Armenians. It also orders the rebuilding and repairing, with government assistance, of the churches, schools and monasteries destroyed during the troubles, and the payment of sums due officials or the families of officials who were expelled or killed during the massacres.

In addition to these remedial measures the irade pardons fifty-four prisoners, and commutes to imprisonment for life the sentences of twenty-four persons condemned to death. As this action on the part of the Ottoman is accepted by the patriarchs as satisfactory, those dignitaries will withdraw their resignation.

Women Tore off Jewels.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sixty-eight thousand dollars was raised in Carnegie Hall today by Rev. A. B. Simpson and his associates in the Christian Missionary Alliance amid tumult of religious enthusiasm.

Women tore off their jewels and men their coats and vests, throwing them to the collectors and shouting, "Glory to God!" and "Hallelujah!" as they contributed to the fund by which the alliance will keep its missionaries abroad for the year.

While two meetings were to have taken place—and did take place in the hall—one in the afternoon and one in the morning, they were so close together that there was scarcely any intermission, and it was as though there had been one continuous session of more than seven hours.

A Hunting Tragedy.

NORFOLK, Oct. 13.—Last night, while John H. Meadows, a prominent tobacconist of Oxford, N. C., accompanied by Col. L. C. Edwards, was returning from a hunting expedition to the Burwell plantation, a few miles from town, a distressing accident, in which the former lost his life, occurred.

The hunters noticed a covey of partridges, and Mr. Meadows, in leaving the buggy, struck the hammer of his gun on the buggy step, discharging the load, which passed through his arm and into his neck and brain, producing instant death. Deceased was about 40 years old, a prominent Methodist, very popular and leaves a young wife.

It is strange that so little attention is paid to brick making in this state. It is said here that the clay is worth more than the timber which grows above it and in which the trade is so important. The methods in vogue are primitive. An Indian brick maker says it cost him 70 cents a thousand to turn out brick.

VICTIM OF HIS OWN JOKE.

Some Buzzard Eggs Which Reached a Wrong Destination.

"This is a true story of Sheriff Brookshire, of Williamsom county, Texas, and what came of his efforts to play a practical joke on his wife," said Mr. M. R. Goodbread, of Taylor, Texas, at the Biggs.

"Sheriff Brookshire is full of good nature, and the love of fun is his predominant characteristic. To get the laugh on a friend is to him the next best thing to rounding up a band of horse thieves. He is owner of a good-sized ranch, and while working out in a pasture near his home some time since, came across a buzzard's nest in which reposed four as handsome snow-white eggs as the eye of man ever looked upon.

"The discovery of these eggs immediately set him to thinking of a little game that he would play upon his faithful spouse. Wrapping them up with care he bore them to his house, intending to tell Mrs. Brookshire that he had been presented with some uncommonly fine eggs from a fancy breed of chickens, and that it was the proper thing to put them under one of her setting hens immediately. He knew how fond she was of having choice specimens of the feathered tribe, and shook with laughter as he pictured her disgust when these young buzzards should be hatched out.

"Revolving these merry thoughts he went into the kitchen to make the presentation. It happened that his wife was not there, and he placed them on a table, intending to call her attention to them later. Just at this time he was called out of his domicile on very important business, and the matter was of consequence enough to drive all thoughts of the joke out of his head.

He stayed away a couple of hours and when he reached home supper was ready. Being rather hungry from his tramp in the pasture the sheriff sat down to the table and ate with good relish the viands before him.

"Suddenly the recollection of his find flashed across his mind. 'My Dear,' said he, 'when I left the house awhile ago I put some eggs on the table yonder. Did you get them?'

"'I certainly did, and you have just eaten them for your supper,' quoth Mrs. Brookshire. 'Why, what on earth ails you?' she asked as the sheriff clasped both hands about the middle of his corposity and rushed for the open air. She thought, maybe, that he had been suddenly seized with a fit of some kind, and followed to render assistance. It took him several hours to recover, but he has utterly renounced practical joking"—Washington Post.

SEEKS BROTHER'S BLOOD.

Division of Property May Lead to Death—Bullets Fly in Court.

Mt. Airy, N. C., Oct. 16.—Late yesterday evening, ten miles north of here, in Correll county, Virginia, near Fancy Gap, Jack and Floyd Allen, brothers, became involved in a difficulty at a magistrate's court, the latter shooting his brother in the forehead while the former received three shots from his brother Jack—one in the breast, one in the arm and one in the leg.

Both used 38-calibre Smith and Wesson revolvers at close range, and strange to say, both are still living this afternoon. Both men are leading citizens of their community, and the trouble probably grew out of division of property of more than a year ago, bad blood having existed ever since between them.

50,000 Men Can Do It.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—General Frederick Funston said to-day, in regard to the Philippine situation: "With 50,000 men, if the campaign is pushed, the war will be over in six months, but of course it will not be ended that soon if the troops are kept at Manila.

"I came back," continued General Funston, "because I was ordered to. I would have stayed very gladly and wish that I were there now."

"Did you ask to stay?" "No," he answered. "I would not do that. I have not asked nor will I, but if it is thought that I can be of any service in the islands I will go back on very short notice. I take it that the terms of the enlistment of the State volunteers having expired, the number of volunteer generals is being reduced."
