LOCAL NEWS.

Mr. S. N. Cone is here from New York.

The present term of Federal court will possibly end today.

Rev. Dr. Turrentine returned Saturday from a visit to Orange county.

Greensboro will be a lively place next week, with a big fair and a term of court on at the same time.

Mrs. James E. Boyd and her guest, Miss Fannie Holt, went to Washington yesterday for a short visit.

Mr. R. C. Bernau is at Atlanta attending a meeting of the watch inspectors of the Southern Railway.

Mrs. R. F. Dalton has gone to Newbern to attend the annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mr. E. W. Vick has gone on the road for the L. Richardson Drug Company, one of Greensboro's prosperous and aggressive wholesale concerns.

The macadam work on Washington street was completed last week. A decided improvement has been made in that important thoroughfare.

G. W. Denny is preparing to build at once on his lot on the corner of East Market and Davie streets. The large elm trees on the lot came down yesterday.

Superintendent Broadhurst, of the city schools, has secured the promise of Capt. R. B. Glenn to make the address at the next commencement of the city schools.

Mr. J. Sloan Kuykendall, a young lawyer from West Virginia, has located in Greensboro. He is a cousin of Mr. J. S. Kuykendall, who has lived here for several years.

The city's new patrol wagon was completed by John Lewis & Son last week and turned over to the authorities. It will be put into commission as soon as a horse is secured.

Mr. Z. V. Taylor returned Saturday from Texas. His travels took him to Beaumont, the center of the Texas oil belt. He says it is one of the most remarkable towns in the country.

The Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, was religiously observed by the orthodox Jews of the city Saturday. It began at sunset Friday evening and lasted until the corresponding hour Saturday.

Four cars of coke for the Empire Steel and Iron Company's furnace here arrived yesterday. From this time on shipments will be received daily. The furnace will be in operation at an early date.

The board of aldermen has employed Mr. W. R. Jenkins to do street work for the city at a salary of $50 per month. Mr. Jenkins will have charge of the macadam work that is to be done on the streets.

Mr. W. H. McGlamery, of Hendersonville, is here to become assistant ticket agent for the Southern, vice Mr. R. H. DeButts, who becomes ticket agent upon the retirement of Mr. J. B. Graham next Monday.

Thirty or forty white men left here yesterday for the West Virginia coal fields, where they are assured employment at good wages. An agent of the operators has been here for several days looking up available men.

Mrs. Jas. R. McClamroch, who is suffering from an attack of fever, is now a patient at the Greensboro hospital. Her brother-in-law, Mr. John McClamroch, is recovering from a similar attack. He is also at the hospital.

President Dudley has received a letter from the New Cotton Fields Company, of London, Eng., asking him to nominate one of the graduates of the A. & M. College to superintend the growth of cotton in West Africa for the company.

The electric company is putting down a good sidewalk from its line to the fair grounds and will light the walk with incandescents during fair week. The new switches on West Market and Spring Garden streets have been completed.

Messrs. A. J. Lammerson and John McCarthy, of Stillwater, Minn., and C. H. Bush and C. H. MacGinnis, of Washington, D. C., are at the Benbow. They are here looking after their gold mining interests in the southern part of the county.

The Central Carolina fair will be open every night and all the exhibits can be seen then as well as in day time. The entries show an unusually good quality of exhibits this year and there are some pleasing surprises in store for those who attend this year.

It makes no difference if you have voted all your life, you must register again this year. The books close Oct. 25.

Policeman Fields is again suffering considerably from a sore foot, which was hurt some weeks ago in the discharge of his duties. Policeman Busick, who has also been laid up for a couple of weeks with fever, improves slowly and is not yet out of danger.

A dining car on the southbound vestibuled train, No. 37, was ablaze near the roof as it entered this city Monday morning. With the aid of a small stream of water from a convenient spigot the flames were quickly subdued. The damage to the car was slight.

The largest seed houses in the country sell their goods at retail. We sell all kinds of clover and grass seed at both wholesale and retail. We are sticking to our old motto, "The best seeds that money will buy." (No trash sold.)

Rev. W. H. Phipps, an aged minister of Pittsburg, Pa., is spending a few days at the Benbow on his way to Florida. He will preach in Grace M. P. church next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Phipps is a brother of the Millionaire Phipps, who recently gave $100,000 to the Boers.

Our correspondents will confer a favor by sending in their items a little earlier than usual next week. Our office force has figured out that it will take about two days to see the fair and we guess they are about right, so we shall proceed to get the paper out a day earlier than usual.

Experiments are being made at the cotton mills north of the city with artesian wells. One well is already producing over fifty gallons of water a minute, but it will be sunk deeper in the hope of increasing the flow. The electric company is about to undertake similar experiments.

Major Stedman spoke to good sized crowds at Jamestown and Gibsonville last week. We have heard flattering comments on his speeches. A gentleman who heard him at Gibsonville said the only criticism of his speech there was that he didn't speak four hours instead of two.

Mr. Chas. F. Neelley, who has been county jailer here the past eighteen months, has been tendered a position on the city police force and will accept, beginning work today. His successor at the jail will be selected by Sheriff Jordan within a few days. There are a number of applications on file.

The racing feature at the Central Carolina fair next week will be one of unusual interest. Over forty horses have been entered—more than ever before in the history of the association. Greensboro has the fastest track in the state and some rare sport is promised those who are interested in speed contests.

Two marriages are scheduled for today—that of Dr. Harrison and Miss Daisy Carraway and that of Mr. R. M. Rees and Miss Marie Wolfe. The former takes place at West Market church this morning at 11:30 and the latter at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. O. F. Pearce, on East Market street, this evening at 9:30.

Hon. Wescott Roberson, of High Point, was compelled to abandon the county canvass last week before he had fairly gotten started and is now at the Greensboro hospital threatened with typhoid fever. He is a good talker on the stump and his associates as well as his many personal and political friends regret that he is unable to continue the joint canvass.

The front truck on the big engine pulling passenger train No. 36 jumped the track yesterday at noon just after the train had crossed Washington street and ran on the ties until the engine crossed the bridge over East Market. Some of the heavy timbers on the bridge were splintered but otherwise there was no damage done, the train proceeding on its way after a delay of about half an hour.

Hon. W. W. Kitchin's appointments at Kernersville tomorrow, the 16th, and at Tabernacle on Friday, the 17th, should not be overlooked by those who wish to hear one of the best speakers in the state. Mr. Kitchin is the ablest man in North Carolina's congressional delegation and his public utterances have unusual weight. We wish every voter in the district could hear him in the present campaign.

The joint canvass of the county candidates is not creating quite as much public interest as in former years, if the attendance is an index. Gen. Glenn, Mr. Roberson and Mr. Whitaker make the principal speeches for the Democrats, and Messrs. Ragan, Frazier and Douglas are the orators on the other side. Mr. Roberson's illness and the absence of Mr. Frazier for a few days detract from the canvass. Today the candidates speak at McLeansville. A number from this city will attend.

Hon. R. B. Glenn.

Bob Glenn! The name is a synonym for sound Democracy, as it is the familiar name by which the ablest exponent of Democracy in North Carolina is known from mountain to sea. It is a name that prompts the average Democrat to begin yelling before he gets within three blocks of the place where the incomparable Bob is to speak. A court house full of people turned out to hear him last Wednesday evening, and for two hours they listened to one of the most comprehensive political arguments that ever fell from the lips of a campaign speaker in this grand old state. Mr. Glenn came not as a candidate, but simply as a worker in behalf of the principles he believes right. He told the audience how he had recently sacrificed without reserve the fondest ambition of his life in withdrawing from the senatorial contest in favor of his townsman and friend, Hon. C. B. Watson, who claimed the prior right to appeal for preferment at the hands of the party. Launching into a discussion of national and state affairs he showed his wonderful grasp of public questions. Conditions as well as theories came in for a liberal share of consideration, his utterances bearing the imprint of sound logic and unassailable truth. His words carried conviction, and there was not a man present who failed to realize that inspiration dwelt with the speaker. It was good to be there and hear the truths about our state history fearlessly portrayed by a master tongue. It was good to be there and feel and know that the proud banner of Democracy will never trail in the dust so long as God-fearing men like Bob Glenn are heard in the party councils. May his years of usefulness yet be many.

Progressive Fair at Greensboro.

The Central Carolina Fair Association is still moving things along for a good fair next week—Oct. 21-24. Everybody that goes will come away feeling good, and they will no doubt have a profitable trip.

On Tuesday, Oct. 21st, Gov. Aycock will make an educational address, and everybody should hear the Governor on this issue. On this same day there will be a race between the ostrich, Oliver W, and a race horse. This will be very exciting.

Two fast race horses with records better than 2.10 will be driven by the dogs, Rex and Max. These dogs, and especially one of them, get as much excited in their race as a jockey. They have three other acts that they perform singly, such as driving a cart before the horse, etc. These are free open air attractions.

There will be a show of ostriches, pheasants, alligators, etc., from the Florida Ostrich Farm. These people had an exhibit at York, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., and the people at these places were amazed at the wonderful feats performed by these birds.

At night there will be interesting fire works. All the buildings will be open and there will be suitable attractions.

The fair ground has been greatly improved this year, the buildings being painted white, giving it quite a neat appearance.

You may be sure Greensboro will give you a good time. Almost everybody has a relative or a friend living or boarding in Greensboro, and the cheap rates on account of the fair will give them a good opportunity to visit them.

Tuesday will be one of the biggest days of the week, although we expect to have four big days, making Friday as interesting as the first day.

The Record is authority for the statement that a white man walked into one of the registration places in Greensboro Saturday and after satisfying himself he was in the right place, said he wanted to register. The usual question under such circumstances is for the registrar to ask is if the voter wants to register under the grandfather clause, which is a permanent registration and under which quite a large number of people are registering. And so it was he asked—"Under the grandfather clause?" The man looked straight at the registrar a moment, then growled—"My grandfather had no laws; he was no dog, I'll have you to understand and you can go to sheel; I'll not register and I'll not vote," and he walked out in a huff. Efforts at explaining the matter were useless; he could not make the distinction between clause and laws.

Registrars will be at the various polling places on Saturdays until the 25th. On other days they may be found at their homes or places of business.

MARKET REPORT.

The sales on our market for the past week have been the largest ever known in the history of the market at this season of the year, and yesterday's sale was the largest ever seen in Greensboro in October. The quality of the leaf which is being offered is a good working tobacco and brings a good average price. Farmers seem to be well pleased with their prices on all the sales—in fact, the satisfaction prevailing among sellers has been remarkable. We rarely ever see a pile of tobacco taken in, and in most cases wherever they are taken in the seller can be satisfied. We note no special change in prices, yet on big sales like we have had for the past week, prices are always some easier, and with this exception, we regard tobacco selling at about the same price that it has been for the past weeks, with an active market on all grades. Our buyers are getting somewhat crowded in their factories, and have all they can do to take care of the sales.

Sales will not be discontinued during fair week.

Mr. Walter Maxwell sold on this market last week at an average of $12.70.

Mr. G. R. Stewart sold on the Greensboro market last week at prices ranging from $9 to $20.

Capt. Forbis was another pleased seller on this market last Friday, his prices reached $35.

Mr. H. L. Gray sold here last Tuesday, his prices ranged from $9.50 to $23.50, averaging $12.60.

Mr. R. C. Dickery was pleased here last Wednesday with prices from $11.75 to $19, general average $16.70.

Mr. D. Weiss, district manager of the American Cigar Company's factories, was here the first of the week.

Messrs. Payne & Lucas sold a load here on Saturday for $141.65. On the same day Mr. W. T. Allen's average was $22.90.

Mr. Geo. Waugh was here on the 9th with a load of tobacco for which he received prices from $9.75 to $20. His load averaged $13.25.

Mr. W. D. Palmer, the well known tobacco grower of Randolph, sold his first load here last week at prices ranging from $10.75 to $30, averaging $18.50.

Mr. L. L. Patton brought a small load to Greensboro last Friday, for which he carried off over $100. Mr. W. T. Neese was here on the same day and sold nine grades for $9 to $25 around.

Over a hundred girls are now employed at the American Cigar Company's factory here, while others are coming in steadily. Those who have positions there are progressing nicely with the work.

Some funny manufacturer desires to put in the market a "joke" plug tobacco, with a filler made of brown paper and a wrapper of genuine leaf. The Internal Revenue Bureau does not see the humorous possibilities of the article sufficiently to release it from the payment of the six cents a pound tax.

Following are some of the averages made on the Greensboro market within the past week.

His Life in Peril.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak sickly, run down people. Try them. Only 50c at Holton's drug store.
