WILL NOT HANG.

Governor Commutes Frazier Jones' Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

Frazier Jones, colored, who was to have been executed on the 8th instant, but was respited until the 18th, will not hang. Governor Glenn last Thursday commuted the sentence to life imprisonment, taking this action after a thorough investigation had been made and upon the recommendation of Judge Fred Moore and Solicitor A. L. Brooks. Governor Glenn made the following statement in connection with the case:

"Since the respite, and after examining new testimony and affidavits, both Judge Moore and Solicitor Brooks recommended unconditionally commutation. In addition to this the strongest witness in the case, on whose testimony the defendant was convicted principally, has come forward of his own accord and made affidavit showing that the killing grew out of passion engendered by jealousy; that it was sudden and not premeditated. With the lights before them the jury did right and the sentence was just. With the evidence before me at the first hearing, I know I was right in refusing to commute the sentence, but now that the judge and solicitor in the light of new facts presented, recommend it, and the strongest witness has furnished affidavit that leaves doubt on the mind as to whether the killing was premeditated, while still believing the defendant very guilty, but there being grave doubt as to the degree of his guilt, in the interest of human life I commute the sentence from death to life imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary, believing that under the circumstances it is best to make a mistake, if any, on the side of mercy than to too rigidly enforce justice."

THE CONES IN GREENSBORO.

Charlotte Paper Comments on Great Mill Enterprises Here.

A recent issue of the Charlotte Evening Chronicle contains the following editorial reference to the Messrs. Cones and the great work of development they are carrying on in Greensboro:

The Charlotte man looking from the windows of a Southern train at the great cotton mill town the Cones have built up just north of Greensboro cannot but regret anew the chance that turned these mill builders from Charlotte. They came here to locate, but some prejudicial interest operated against them and they went to Greensboro, where they proceeded to build up that town. They built fine roads, laid out excellent streets and as soon as one mill was in good operation they began to build another. We do not know how many mills they now have, but we see it announced that they have just completed a new one for the manufacture of yarns, are installing machinery and expect to get it going by June 1. Like the others, it is of the most modern kind and will be run by electricity. When it is in operation the Cones, it is to be supposed, will resume the work of building factories on toward Reidsville. Their complete equipment of spindles is 106,000 and they operate over 3,000 looms. They easily have the distinction of operating the largest plant for the weaving of denims in the South or New England. The factory villages of the Cones are laid out with the view to securing the maximum of comfort and health for the operatives and their families and furnish an object lesson for the solitary child-labor agitators, but these never stop off at Cones'.

It was decided to employ Frank Smith, of Buffalo, as starter of the races through the circuit. Each association is to give four $500 stakes for following classes: 2:17 and 2:22 pace; 2:30 and 2:19, trot, and all horses are to enter for the entire circuit.

German Immigrants to Return to Colorado.

It is learned that a majority of the German immigrants stranded at Cummock, and who were invited to locate in Guilford county, have returned to Colorado, from which state they came to North Carolina. Prof. Davis, of Guilford College, went to Cummock last week in an effort to induce the Germans to come to this county as dairymen and truckers. He found only four families left there, and they were willing to come, but it has been found impossible to get four farmers in the same community to take one family each and thus the scheme will have to be abandoned, and these families will probably join the others of the colony in Colorado.

Coast Line Accepts Compromise Rate.

Governor Glenn is in receipt of a letter from President Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company, to the effect that, notwithstanding the fact that the governor failed to get the rate compromise measure through the general assembly just as it was agreed to by the railroad companies, notably as to the corporation commission having the review of the rates after one year, the Coast Line will put the rate provided by the new act into effect for one year to give it a trial. He wrote that he hoped to put out the new 2 1/2 cent rate by April 1. And that it is the intention of the company to revise the interstate rates. The letter did not state whether or not the readjustment of the interstate rates would be in accordance with the 2 and 2 1/2 cent basis involved in the compromise, but the governor infers this is the purpose.

Thanking you again, with high regards and very best wishes,
