A special train left Greensboro at 9 o'clock this morning carrying several hundred people from the city and county to the convention. The train will return at 10 o'clock tonight.

ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY.

Nominees of Monday's Primary For Commissioners of Greensboro.

The first primary under Greensboro's new charter providing for a commission form of government was held Monday and passed off without incident. While there was naturally much interest in the contest and a good deal of hard work on the part of the candidates and their friends, there was no excitement or ill feelings. There was a total registration of 1,719 and 1,574 ballots were cast, leaving only 145 on the registration books who did not vote. The votes were cast as follows:

- For Mayor: T. J. Murphy 437, S. H. Boyd 408, E. J. Stafford 334, B. H. Merrimon 250. Commissioner of Public Safety: E. A. Brown 704, J. R. Cutchin 393, J. W. Merritt 220, C. W. Curry 147. Commissioner of Public Works: J. G. Fouché, Jr. 797, W. T. Sergeant 446, J. Ed. Albright 192. Judge of Municipal Court: N. L. Eure 1032.

The two highest candidates for each office will run against one another in the regular city election to be held next Tuesday, May 2. Messrs. Stafford and Merrimon, for mayor; Merritt and Curry, for commissioner of public safety, and Albright, for commissioner of public works, are eliminated from the contest.

The primary Monday was conducted under the Australian ballot system, which was adopted when the legalized primary law was enacted for Greensboro and which has proven entirely satisfactory. It was the first non-partisan primary held in Greensboro for the nomination of political candidates in many years, and it was quite a novelty to see Democrats and Republicans working side by side for favorite candidates.

The fiercest contest in Tuesday's election will center around the mayoralty, the race between Messrs. Boyd and Murphy being very close. Both are well equipped for the duties of the office and both have many strong and influential friends.

Death of Mrs. Olivia Pritchett.

Mrs. Olivia E. Pritchett, widow of the late Squire J. A. Pritchett, died Monday afternoon at her home in South Greensboro. She was 65 years old and had been in feeble health for some time. The funeral was held from the home Tuesday afternoon, the service being conducted by Rev. D. M. Litaker, pastor of Centenary Methodist church, of which Mrs. Pritchett was a member. Rev. E. K. McClary and Rev. W. F. Staley assisted in the service. Interment followed in Greene Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Pritchett was Miss Olivia Brown of Hillsboro, and was the second wife of the late Squire Pritchett. She leaves three stepchildren, Mr. George W. and Misses Etta and Margaret Pritchett, of this city; a brother and sister in Asheville and a brother and sister in Hillsboro. She was an aunt of Mrs. R. M. Rees, Mrs. W. H. Rees, Mrs. O. F. Pearce, Mrs. E. K. McClary and Messrs. H. L. and Tom Lynch, of this city.

Application For Pardon Refused.

The governor of Georgia has denied the application for the pardon of Thomas L. Stripling, who is under a life sentence for the murder of W. J. Cornett. The crime was committed about 14 years ago and Stripling escaped while his appeal was in the Supreme court. He was arrested a few weeks ago in Danville, Va., where he was chief of police.

Since his escape Stripling, under the alias of Robert Morris, had lived an upright life and his friends exerted every effort to secure a pardon. Stripling was confident of a friends in Danville that he would again be chief of police. His friends will make another effort to secure a pardon as soon as the new governor of Georgia is inducted into office.

Before going to Danville Stripling resided in Greensboro, working for the Life Insurance Company of Virginia. He went from Greensboro to Reidsville and later moved to Danville.

Extension of Street Car Line.

Announcement was made yesterday that the North Carolina Public Service Company will begin at once the work of constructing additions to its street railway system in this city. The line as laid out by the engineers will include the long stretch of Walker avenue in one section and an extension of the Lindley park line to embrace the Pomona cotton mill section in the other. The park extension will be joined to the present terminal at Lindley park and will be carried out by the site selected for the Masonic home and will continue to the mill. The cars will be run close to but not across the Southern's right of way. The other portion of the line will run from the intersection of Litchia and Spring Garden streets, where the park line curves now, down Spring Garden to either Mendenhall or Jackson streets.

WORK OF SUPERIOR COURT.

Big Damage Suit Against Southern Railway Company.

Guilford Superior court has been engaged since Friday in the trial of the damage suit of the Hardwood Manufacturing Company against the Southern Railway, the case going to the jury just before adjournment of court yesterday afternoon. The Hardwood Manufacturing Company formerly operated a factory in the eastern part of the city, along the North Carolina railroad, but the plant was destroyed by fire a little over two years ago. It is the contention of the plaintiff that the fire was caused by sparks from a passing engine. The company is suing to recover $40,000 damages. A verdict will probably be rendered today.

Judge Daniels granted the motion of counsel for the defendant for a non-suit in the case of Walter H. McLean vs. the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society, of New York. The plaintiff, who contends that the policy of insurance he bought from the company was misrepresented to him, testified that the agent who procured his application told him that his premiums would not increase until he was 75 years of age, whereas at the age of 50, after he had paid seventeen premiums, the rate was raised from $15.88 to $19.99. He is suing to recover the seventeen premiums, with interest. The defense contends that there was a provision in the policy providing for the increase that Mr. McLean could have read it; that it was called to his attention, and he by paying premiums ratified the contract; and that if the agent assured him the premiums would not increase, it was a personal undertaking and not one made on behalf of the company. The case will be carried to the Supreme court.

In the case of C. W. Lee vs. the John T. Herser Coal Company the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, awarding $81.67, the amount asked for.

NEWS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE

A Survey of What is Transpiring in the Commonwealth.

Rufus F. Dalton was nominated for mayor of Winston in the Democratic primary held Monday, defeating W. E. Franklyn.

Postmaster J. D. Dorsett, of Spencer, has resigned and J. R. Dorsett, his brother, is recommended as his successor.

The North Carolina division of the Travelers' Protective Association will meet in Raleigh May 5. The association has a membership of about 800.

Senator Overman has introduced in the United States a bill providing for the appropriation by the government of $25,000 annually for the support and maintenance of a farm-life school at some point in North Carolina.

A 13-year-old son of Mr. James Southern was caught in the machinery of Payne's roller mill, in Huntsville township, Rockingham county, a few days ago, and terribly mangled. He died in about an hour.

C. T. Bailey, a former postmaster of Raleigh, who is a mental and physical wreck as the result of the excessive use of in-oxydants and stimulants, has been committed to the state hospital for the insane in Raleigh.

While coupling a box car to an engine of a freight train at Walnut Cove Tuesday afternoon, Leonard C. Irvin, an injuries from which he died a few hours later at a hospital in Winston-Salem. The young man was 32 years old and made his home in Mt. Airy.

R. Munnally of Salisbury to New York last week to employ female barbers, fell in with a chance acquaintance who volunteered to show them the town. After they had wine and dined they slumbered and slept, and when they awoke their friend was gone, also their money, which they say amounted to about $500.

Judge J. Crawford Biggs, who is presiding over Mecklenburg Superior court this week, charged the grand jury to investigate rumors of bribery and corruption in connection with the primary held recently to nominate candidates for mayor and aldermen of Charlotte. It was charged openly at the time that both money and whiskey were used freely to influence voters.

What is pronounced the biggest sale of liquor ever conducted in this state will take place at Williams, Yadkin county, today, when the government will sell at public auction over 30,000 gallons of whiskey, which was seized five years ago by revenue officers from a big distillery conducted in the name of D. C. Footter and in which N. Glenn Williams was interested.

Conductor's Assailant Captured.

Joe White, the negro who shot Conductor Pell on a freight train between Greensboro and Jamestown recently, was brought into the city Saturday night by members of the Southern Railway secret service. The negro was captured in Greenville, S. C., where he had been in hiding since the night following the shooting. His accomplice, Charlie Ford, and the two negroes will be given a preliminary hearing as soon as Conductor Pell has recovered sufficiently to be removed from the Salisbury hospital, where he was carried immediately after being wounded.

The Benefits of a Savings Account.

The benefits accruing from a savings account are manifold. The interest received is the smallest benefit produced. To lay aside a "snug little sum for a rainy day" is a commendable undertaking, and certainly worth all the effort any savings account ever required, when the "rainy day" comes. But satisfying as these benefits are, they have not the merit that comes of the training acquired in successfully conducting a savings account. To have learned the principles of economy is to have your independence and happiness assured. Such are some of the great values of a savings account. This bank encourages such accounts by paying 4 per cent. interest on them, compounded four times a year.

Checking accounts in any amount cordially invited. Please call at the bank when you are in town.

Judge Boyd Holds Court in Salisbury.

Salisbury, April 25.—The first term of the new Federal court for Salisbury convened in the Federal building in Salisbury today with Judge James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, presiding. The court was authorized by an act of Congress a year ago and the court could not be held until the postoffice building was completed. Under the direction of the Salisbury Bar Association, with President L. H. Clement presiding, a pleasing event took place today, when Judge Boyd was given a cordial welcome to Salisbury and to the new Federal building which has just been completed. The address of welcome was made by Hon. Theodore F. Klutz, one of Salisbury's distinguished lawyers. There were also a number of short speeches from other lawyers. Judge Boyd responded in a most pleasing manner.

Protests Listing North Carolina Bonds.

New York, April 25.—Edward L. Andrews, of this city, who has been identified as counsel for various committees of stockholders, has written a letter to the New York stock exchange authorities protesting against the listing of proposed bond issues of the states of Mississippi and North Carolina. He charges that Mississippi has sold several hundred thousand dollars' worth of the issue in question, but declined to pay the first coupons on the ground that the bonds were illegally issued or to repay the money expended. Because of this alleged default in the case of Mississippi and of previous alleged defaults in North Carolina's case, he seeks to oppose the extension of further credit to them.

Your Money

What are you doing with it? It is not safe if you are carrying it around in your pocket or keeping it in your home. If you will deposit it in our bank, it will be absolutely safe, and you can pay your bills by check, which is more business like than handling the cash. If your money is deposited in our Savings Department, we will pay you 4 per cent. interest, compounded quarterly.
