NEWS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE

A Survey of What is Transpiring in the Commonwealth.

R. L. Rigsbee, a Durham county farmer, was thrown from a buggy in a runaway accident in Durham Saturday and killed.

On invitation of the Confederate veterans, Judge Walter Clark, a candidate for the senate, will speak in Charlotte Saturday.

John Pool, a native of Wake county, and an inmate of the soldiers' home at Raleigh, celebrated his one hundredth birthday Friday.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Loughlin, of Wilmington, played with matches. His clothing caught fire and he was so badly burned that he died.

The number of guests at the banquet given by Republican State Chairman Morehead, in Raleigh last week, is estimated at 700 and it is said that the spread cost Mr. Morehead about $2,000.

The four-year-old son of Mr. Alex. Tolbert, of Globe, Caldwell county, playing with the grindstone in his father's yard, pulled the grindstone over on himself and was so badly hurt that he died from his injuries.

Dr. A. Whitaker, an aged physician of Pinebluff, died last Wednesday night. He was a native of Georgia and a surgeon in the Confederate army, but had lived at Pinebluff 23 years, where he practiced medicine.

Dr. S. B. Klutz, of Albemarle, a retired dentist, was found dead in his room a few days ago. He was 75 years old and death is supposed to have resulted from a sudden attack of heart failure.

Sanford Express: There is a pine tree in New Hope township, Chatham county, that is 29 feet in circumference 4 feet from the ground, and is 60 feet to the first limb. It is too large to be cut into lumber by any saw mill in that neighborhood and it is estimated that it would make 25,000 shingles.

Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, was assaulted in Wilson Monday afternoon by John Strickland, whose name had been published by a local paper as among those receiving large shipments of liquor.

While suffering from what is believed to have been an attack of mental aberration, Mrs. Walter A. Harrison shot and killed her husband as he lay in bed at their home in Asheville Tuesday morning.

Mr. Harrison was a fireman on the Southern Railway and his wife had recently returned from a hospital for treatment for mental trouble. There was no trouble between the couple, and it appears that the tragedy was the result of the deranged mind of Mrs. Harrison.
