REV. JOHN A. GILMER DEAD.

Well Known Minister and Honored Son of Guilford County.

Rev. John A. Gilmer, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Mt. Airy and an honored son of Guilford county, died early Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Anderson, near Pine Hall, Stokes county. He left his home in Mt. Airy Friday to fill an appointment at Pine Hall Saturday and was expecting to fill the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Madison Sunday. He felt unwell Saturday, however, and did not go to Madison. His condition was not considered serious until shortly before his death Monday morning, when he was taken violently ill.

The funeral and interment took place Tuesday afternoon in Morganton, where Mr. Gilmer resided for a number of years. The services were conducted by the pastor of the Presbyterian church of Morganton; Rev. Mr. King, pastor of the Baptist church of Mt. Airy; Rev. Dr. C. A. Munroe, of Hickory, and Rev. S. M. Rankin, of Greensboro. The funeral party was joined at Greensboro by Mr. Robert A. and Dr. Charles S. Gilmer, brothers of the deceased; Mr. William E. Phipps, Mrs. Joseph S. Phipps; Mr. John R. Stewart, and Rev. Charles H. Phipps, of Asheboro.

Mr. Gilmer was 56 years old and a native of the Alamance church community, being a son of the late Joseph W. and Nancy McLean Gilmer. After graduating from Davidson College in 1880, he engaged in educational work and was at the head of a successful school in Morganton for 12 years. He then taught in Henderson for seven years, and after spending a year in the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, entered the ministry in 1900. He was pastor of churches in Rowan county for four years, being called from that field to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in Newton. He spent four years in Newton and became pastor of the Presbyterian church in Mt. Airy in January, 1908.

Mr. Gilmer was one of the 30 men of the Alamance congregation has given to the ministry of the Presbyterian church, and no one has reflected more honor upon the mother church than he. He was a man of great spirituality, a deep student and a preacher of force. He was greatly beloved as a pastor and always held a position of leadership in the community in which he resided. He was one of the strong men of Orange Presbytery and will be greatly missed by his brethren of the ministry, all of whom looked upon him as a wise and safe counselor. It is said that perhaps the best sermon ever preached on the doctrine of the perseverance of the saints within the bounds of Orange Presbytery was delivered by Mr. Gilmer about two years ago.

While residing in Morganton Mr. Gilmer was married to Miss Lollie Avery, who survives him. No children were born of this union. His surviving brothers are Mr. Robert A. Gilmer, of this city, and Dr. Charles S. Gilmer, of Clay township. He was a brother of the late ex-Sheriff J.

Our stock of winter underwear embraces everything from the heavy fleece lined to the medium and lighter weight goods. We want to fit you out for the cold weather. Johnson, Hinkle & Co.

TOBACCO LAND—As good as there is in Guilford county. I have about twelve or fifteen farms of from ten to one hundred acres each, all fronting big road, six miles from Greensboro, one mile from Battle Ground. Terms, one-fourth down, balance one, two, three and four years. Write or call to see me, J. T. Morehead, Jr., Greensboro, N. C.

Graham's ware house averaged $22.81 per hundred the floor over yesterday. He had a good sale and the farmers, all to a man, got more money than they were expecting.

The place to sell your tobacco is with a warehouse man who knows tobacco and its worth and bids against the buyers to 'push' them up. That man is Tom Graham, at the large new brick warehouse, on Greene street, next to the city water tower.

Bring your red tobacco and your bright, too, to Graham's warehouse. All grades have advanced from two to four dollars a hundred. Sold a load of red tobacco yesterday (Wednesday) that averaged $26 per hundred. We will not let anybody who comes to our warehouse go away displeased, if hard work and high prices count for anything. Your friend, T. S. Graham.

Henry Gilmer and Mrs. Mary Ann Phipps, both of whom died a few years ago.

Mrs. Council Tucker.

Mrs. Martha Jane Tucker, widow of the late Council A. Tucker, died Tuesday afternoon at her home on East Lee street, following a decline in health that covered a period of three years. During this time she underwent two serious surgical operations and her life was despaired of on both occasions.

After a short service at the home yesterday at noon, the body was carried to Pleasant Garden for the funeral and interment. The services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Hodgkin, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Tucker was a devoted member, and Rev. J. A. Sharpe, of Pleasant Garden.

Mrs. Tucker was 75 years old and a member of an old and well known family of Guilford county. She was a daughter of the late Albert Rankin. She is survived by three daughters and four sons, who are: Mrs. W. F. Lowe, C. L. and Charles T. Tucker, of this city; Mrs. J. F. Ross and E. R. Tucker, of Pleasant Garden; Mrs. R. A. Brown, of Waycross, Ga., and John W. Tucker, of New York. The surviving brothers and sisters are: Mrs. John E. McKnight, Mrs. W. A. Clapp, Messrs. J. H. W. C. and A. C. Rankin, of Greensboro, and Mrs. Lee Orrell, of Charlotte.

Miss Sadie Hilton, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hilton, died shortly after midnight Monday morning at the home of her parents at White Oak. She was 19 years of age and had been a sufferer of tuberculosis for some time. The funeral and interment took place at the Center church Tuesday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. E. W. Milloway. Miss Hilton is survived by her parents, five sisters and one brother.

Mr. William H. White died at his home on Asheboro street extension last Thursday morning, following a long illness. He is survived by his widow and 12 children. The funeral was held from the home Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, followed by the interment in Greene Hill cemetery. Rev. J. D. Miller, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, conducted the services.

Mr. George E. Hughes, of Hillsboro, died Friday morning at St. Leo's hospital, where he had been receiving treatment for several days. He was 44 years old and is survived by his widow and several children. The body was carried to Bethlehem church, in Alamance county, for the funeral and interment, which took place Saturday.

Mrs. D. A. White died Sunday morning at her home on Spring Garden street extension, following a week's illness. She was 46 years of age and is survived by her husband and five children. The funeral and interment took place at Hickory Grove church Monday, the services being conducted by Rev. C. E. M. Raper, of Reidsville.

Mr. L. H. Dunivent, who had been ill for the past year, died Tuesday night at his home on North Greene street. He was a Confederate veteran and a good citizen. He is survived by his widow and nine children. The funeral and interment took place at Mt. Pleasant Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Jennie Apple, widow of the late Samuel Apple, died at her home in the Hines' chapel community Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. She was a member of a well known family and leaves many relatives and a host of friends. The funeral and interment took place at Hines' chapel yesterday afternoon.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, of Gibsonville Route 1, died Monday night and was buried at Hines' chapel Tuesday afternoon.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF FORM.

Matters of Interest to Readers of The Patriot Far and Near.

The Patriot was glad to receive a call yesterday from Mr. D. A. May, of Julian Route 1.

Mr. C. A. Wyrick, of Gibsonville Route 1, paid a brief visit to The Patriot office yesterday.

Mr. W. E. Merritt, a well known business man of Mt. Airy, is a patient at St. Leo's hospital.

Mrs. B. A. Clarida, of the Peace church neighborhood, was among the callers at The Patriot office yesterday. The teachers of the colored public schools of the county will hold a meeting in the court house annex Saturday.

Mr. James Whiteley, a son of Mr. J. W. Whiteley, of the Tabernacle neighborhood, is desperately ill of typhoid fever.

Mr. T. B. Doggett, one of Sumnerfield's most substantial citizens, favored The Patriot with a short call while in the city on business Tuesday.

The city commissioners are preparing to install a set of weighing scales in the rear of the new market house, on Davie street, for the use of the public.

The secretary of state has granted a charter to the Eureka Milling Company, of Gibsonville, with a capital of $7,000, subscribed by Berry Davidson, Esq., and others.

The congregation of Asheboro Street Friends church gave a reception to their new pastor, Rev. Frederick E. Smith, and his family Tuesday night in the Sunday school room. Mrs. William Snow and daughter, Miss Grace Snow, have moved to Greensboro from Hillsboro and will occupy the residence of Col. W. H. Osborn, on West Washington street, during the winter. The family resided in this city some years ago.

Mr. C. V. Briggs, a well known farmer residing on Greensboro Route 4, who was on the tobacco market Tuesday, informed The Patriot that everybody in his neighborhood is as busy as the proverbial bee in a tar barrel saving their corn and getting in their wheat.

The North Carolina Public Service Company is preparing to add material to its plant and equipment here by the erection of a new street car barn and a new coal gas plant on its property on East Market street. The material has been ordered and the work of improvement will begin at once.

Fire in the garage of the American Motor Company, on East Market street, about 1 o'clock Sunday morning damaged several automobiles. The fire was caused by gasoline leaking from the tank of an automobile, ignition taking place when some one in the building struck a match. The prompt response of the fire department to an alarm prevented a serious loss.

Mr. Wallace Burch, who is connected with the local branch of the British-American Tobacco Company, and Miss Mable Herndon, of Durham, were married in this city Friday afternoon. The bride came to Greensboro with her mother Thursday to visit the fair and arrangements for the wedding were made after her arrival here. Rev. Dr. Melton Clark performed the ceremony.

Only one pickpocket was arrested in Greensboro during the fair, and he was a greenhorn—a High Point negro by the name of Powell Miller. He touched John Green, another negro, on a train coming into Greensboro and took his purse containing $175. He was arrested at the depot and bound over to Superior court by Squire Minor. He was committed to jail in default of a bond of $50.

Mr. John Marvin Myrick and Miss Mamie Wilson Freeman, well known and popular young people of Greensboro, were married yesterday at noon, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Freeman, on Spring Garden street. Rev. W. E. Abernethy was the officiating minister. Mr. and Mrs. Myrick will be at home in this city upon their return from their wedding trip.

Sneak thieves and midnight marauders are showing an unwelcome appreciation of the goods carried in the clothing store of Crawford & Rees. A few weeks ago a negro entered the store at night and took a suit of clothes, a hat, a pair of shoes, a shirt, collar, tie and other garments that go to make a complete outfit. Tuesday night some one unlocked the show case that stands in front of the door and took four pairs of Boyden shoes, valued at $6 a pair.

Congressman Stedman is spending a few days at home. The house of representatives is simply marking time now, waiting for the senate to act on the currency bill, and many of the members have gone to their homes. Maj. Stedman is glad to take advantage of the breathing spell to come home and mix a little with the people of his district. He visited friends in Alamance county early in the week.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Shaw has returned from Summerville, West Virginia, where he was summoned as a witness for the state in the case charging Tollie McClung, formerly of Greensboro, with the murder, in consort with his brother and father, of W. E. McClung. The case was to have been tried last week, but was postponed until January, the state accepting affidavits by the defense that several important witnesses were absent at the trial.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle, who led the fight on the mosquito in Greensboro during the summer with such rare ability and success, has just gathered an interesting bit of statistics. He canvassed all the people of the city who sold mosquito canopies and found that this year they sold just 32, while during the season last year they sold 376, or more than eleven times this year. This alone would establish the fact that the anti-mosquito campaign was well worth while.

Mr. Jerome G. May has resigned his position as keeper of the county jail and will return to his former home at Gibsonville November 1. Mr. May has given up the job of jailer three times in the past and thinks he is quitting for good now. It is announced from the sheriff's office that Mr. Julius E. Dillon will fill the position after the first of the month, and if he should be as successful in caring for the jailbirds as he is in handling mules and horses, no complaint will be lodged against him. He will continue in the horse and mule business.

GRAIN SEED FREE.

Will be Distributed Among Farmers of Guilford County.

Mr. Garland Daniel, secretary of the Central Carolina Fair Association, asks The Patriot to announce that the best grain raised in Guilford county the past season is available for seed purposes to farmers who will call at his office on West Sycamore street. Mr. Daniel has about 50 bushels of wheat and oat seed and it is his purpose to give each Guilford county farmer who applies a half bushel as long as the supply lasts. The grain was on exhibition at the fair, the exhibitors agreeing previous to its display that it should be forfeited to the fair association that it might be distributed among the farmers of the county for planting purposes.

Those who call and receive an allotment of the grain must agree to plant it and to make an exhibit of the yield at next year's fair. In this manner Secretary Daniel hopes to arouse considerable interest in the grain display and to also be able to distribute among the farmers of the county the very best seed available. The half bushel will plant about half an acre, and every one receiving seed must agree to use it on his own farm.

Secretary Daniel also has a quantity of corn, turnip and other seed which he will distribute under the same plan. In making the distribution he will observe the "first come, first served" principle.

Another Murder in Greensboro.

Fred Stanfield, colored, is in jail charged with the murder of Will Hatchett, colored, Saturday night. The killing took place on Sampson street, in the southern part of the city, Saturday night and is said to have resulted from a quarrel over some trivial matter. Hatchett was shot through the heart and Stanfield received a bullet wound in his left arm, just below the elbow. After the shooting Stanfield left the scene, but was arrested several hours later at the home of his parents.

Stanfield was given a hearing in Municipal court Tuesday and held for the grand jury of the December term of Superior court under a bond of $750. Judge Brown considering the evidence insufficient to demand a heavier bond. Relatives of the prisoner are endeavoring to raise the amount of the bond.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, will deliver a lecture in Raleigh next Tuesday night.

TOBACCO SALES AND PRICES.

The tobacco crop being the principal money crop of this section, we are all more or less interested in it, therefore, when one mentions tobacco, he sounds a familiar note that interests a great many people in this section of North Carolina.

The crop this year is a large one and of good quality, and the prices are splendid. The tobacco sales on the Greensboro market have been the largest this season they have ever been in the history of the market, and the writer was on the sale yesterday, Wednesday, October 22, and does not hesitate to say that tobacco was higher in Greensboro than he has ever seen it before in his life on any market. About four weeks ago the sales were so large on Saturday that they did not get around until nearly noon on Monday, yet the prices have held up all the time, with an advancing tendency.

The writer was raised on a tobacco farm and naturally likes to see tobacco growers get everything that is coming to them, and with the large crops and high prices, the farmer is now having his feast, which the writer is delighted to see.

The farmer has never had a better time than now, yet there is only a small proportion of them laying aside money in the Savings Bank for future usefulness.

Pharaoh had his Joseph, who was the world's first and greatest economist, having laid by enough corn in seven years to last the whole of Egypt seven more years. (See Genesis 41.)

This was, however, done during good crop years, when no one except Joseph could see the need of it. Of course when the bad crop years came, any fool could see the wisdom of Joseph.

Don't you think it would be a wise thing for you to add something to your Savings Bank account every time you sell a load of tobacco? If you are among those who have no savings accounts, don't wait another day, but start right now with the Home Savings Bank, and add something every chance. We add 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. Your old friend, C. A. BRAY.

The High Point Enterprise says that W. G. Prokaw has brought over from Germany four police dogs which he will keep at his kennels near Archdale. The dogs, which have been trained to run down robbers, are large and very savage, resembling wolves in their appearance.

THE COTTON COUNTRY

A planter who grows cotton stated recently that he was not interested in any other crop, as on his plantation he grew nothing but cotton. That planter was very short sighted because when he sold his cotton he bought corn for his live stock, wheat in the shape of flour for his larder, wool in the shape of clothing for his family, etc. He really should be as much interested in the corn crop, the wheat crop, and the wool crop as he was in the cotton crop.

Every farmer is interested in every crop produced in the total production and in the relative values.

This bank issues a condensed Monthly Crop Report which should be regularly read by every farmer and merchant. It is sent free on request.
