MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR FAIR

NEXT WEEK'S EVENT WILL BE BEST YET—SOME OF THE SPECIAL FEATURES.

The Central Carolina fair to be held here next week will be the biggest and best fair in the state this year. This is the positive statement of Garland Daniel, chief mogul of the fair, and he is supposed to know what he is talking about. "We are going to give the public an exposition worth while," said Mr. Daniel in speaking of the fair and its prospects. "Every department has been looked after in every detail, and every department is full. This year's agricultural, industrial and commercial exhibits and displays will be greater than ever before. Magnificent fireworks will be displayed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

"The farmers are taking great interest in our fair this year, especially members of the various clubs. These we are desirous of encouraging. While our fair is run with a view to entertaining, at the same time we endeavor to aid in the educational and industrial development of our county and state. You cannot afford to miss this fair, as we will have lots of free attractions. "The horse racing this year will be up to the minute. The new feature of giving motorcycle racing will be very interesting, as this will be in 20-mile dashes, and we are in hopes of having from 20 to 30 contestants. We want every one to patronize our fair. Every year the manager strives to make the Central Carolina fair bigger, broader and better. It takes more money to do this, but we are anxious to make it the best in the state.

"The Southern Railway has given special rates on all their lines and have made arrangements to run a special train into the grounds each day of the fair.

"The great war spectacle, the battle of Tripoli, followed by gorgeous fireworks, will be given. They will constitute the most significant illumination ever seen at the Central Carolina fair. More than an hour will be required to put on this gorgeous pyrotechnic show. The battle at the time was considered one of the world's greatest. The Turks, having held the fort for many years, were ousted by the Italians.

"Tripoli, capital of the Turkish regency of the same name in northern Africa, on a promontory stretching out into the Mediterranean, forms a small crescent-shaped bay, which shelters the harbor from the west winds. A line of small ancient forts protects one side of the harbor and the citadel the other. In the 16th century the Tripoli pirates became the terror of seamen of the Mediterranean. Half the states of Europe seemed at one time or other to have sent their fleets to this harbor.

"Later a misunderstanding between Turkey and Italy came about, and Italy succeeded in taking the strong fort of Tripoli, which gave to the Turks great protection. After Italy had succeeded in taking this fort an agreement was easily reached between the two nations. This fort and its surroundings will be given in fireworks, use being made of 300 feet of scenery, which represents the water and a fort of 30 to 40 feet high. This fort is attacked by the Italian vessels, and after a fierce battle it surrenders. After the surrender will occur gigantic fireworks, consisting of shells, set pieces and noted men, golden blossoms, diamond stars, sparking caprice and the flowering aloe showing the leaf, the bud and the bloom, will make a beautiful spectacle. Rainbow wheels will be shown, as will silver glory and the Niagara falls.

"This magnificent show will be put on three nights of the fair—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The Southern Railway, which has installed 1,000 feet of trackage in our grounds, will operate special trains both day and night."

AN ENLARGED NAVY TO BE SUBJECT OF NEXT DEBATE.

The query which will be discussed this year by the schools having membership in the High School Debating Union of North Carolina is: "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the policy of greatly enlarging the navy." A bulletin of sixty or seventy pages containing outlines and arguments on both sides of this query and references to sources from which further material can be secured will be sent free of charge to all schools which are members of the union. This bulletin will reach the schools not later than November 15.

Every secondary and high school in the state is invited to become a member of the union and participate in the contest of 1916. Every school that enters will, as in the past, be grouped with two others for a triangular debate, each school putting out two teams, one on the affirmative and the other on the negative. The schools winning both debates will be entitled to send their teams to the University to compete for the state championship and the Aycock memorial cup. The triangular debates will be held throughout the state the latter part of March and the final contest at the University early in April. The exact dates for these contests will be decided upon later.

Since its inauguration three years ago by the literary societies and the bureau of extension of the University, the High School Debating Union has met with splendid success. Three comprehensive statewide debates have been held and schools and communities alike have benefited by them. Last spring the state-wide contest was participated in by 250 schools and 1,000 student debaters, and it is a safe estimate that fully 50,000 people from first to last heard the discussions over the state on the question of subsidies for the merchant marine. The committee hopes that this year every school of secondary nature in the state will enroll in the union for the discussion of the enlargement of the United States navy. E. R. Rankin, secretary of the union at Chapel Hill, will be glad to hear from you as to your school and the debates.

The Value of True Friendship.

To have a true friend is to be rich, no matter how poor we may be. Friendship's exercise in the home sweetens every association and its cultivation among kindred spirits is a privilege imposed upon us by the necessities of our nature as well as by a correct forecast of what lies before us in the journey when the golden bowl of youth is broken and we come to the days of lonely waiting. No memory that comforts and cheers in later life is so sweet as the memory of cherished friends who walked with us in the halcyon days of youth. To be without these memories is to confess to a life largely wasted or else spent in some supremely selfish pursuit. The possession of many friends is possible, but rarely accomplished. Life at best is short and full of labor. Few people are so rich in leisure or in affection that they can go about drawing men and women to them with hooks of steel. Nor is such a course either wise or profitable. In friendship there will be a constant winnowing process by which the wheat and chaff are separated. In the first buoyant years of life, when merely to live is joy, the forming of friendly ties is an easy pastime. We swear eternal allegiance and with high hopes and cheerful words set out upon the journey hand and hand. One by one the ties are broken and we discover that to be and have real friends means something more than words of mutual praise and aims that seem to run along in the same channel.—Pittsburgh Gazette Times.

Will Not Convene Senate.

President Wilson practically has decided not to call a special session of the senate before the meeting of Congress in regular session. Although he is desirous of having the senate's rules amended so as to give the majority power to limit debate, he is understood to have become convinced that it is better not to call the senate together at this time.

BETTER BABIES CONTEST A FEATURE OF THE FAIR.

The Patriot is requested to print the following concerning the better babies contest at the Central Carolina fair next week:

"The better babies contest will be one of the features of the fair this year, as it was last year. The age limit is from one to four years, and the hours of examination will be from 10 until 2 o'clock. The fair offers $125 in cash prizes.

"Dr. W. M. Jones and Dr. J. T. J. Battle will examine all babies, and the information gained by the mother regarding her baby will be well worth while. Give the baby a fair start in life by finding out its defects and curing them. See just how your baby compares with other babies.

"You can enter your baby by sending a postal to Dr. W. M. Jones, Greensboro, giving the age of the baby and stating what day you will visit the fair. This is not absolutely necessary, but it gives you an idea as to the number of nurses to secure each day. The rooms will be heated and a physician or nurse will examine each baby for contagious diseases. "Call telephone 561 for additional information.

"Pictures of the babies will be taken."
