FIRST TORRENS LAND TITLE IN THIS COUNTY.

In the Superior court of Guilford county November 8 Judge Thomas J. Shaw signed the final papers in the first state guaranteed land title recorded in this county, under what is known as the Torrens title law enacted by the legislature of 1913. The owner of the property is John W. Hicks, of Goldsboro, and it consists of something more than an acre of land near the State Normal College and is assessed for taxation at a valuation of $2,420. The whole proceeding was completed in just three months.

Bruce Craven, of Trinity, who advocated the Torrens law for years before it was enacted, and who has since written a book on the subject which has had a general circulation in the United States and even in foreign countries, was the attorney for Mr. Hicks in securing the guaranteed title, and in response to the request for the statement about the cost and value of the Torrens titles, he gave out the following statement: "Mr. Hicks lives in Goldsboro and owns property in Greensboro which he cannot look after personally, and he wanted to be certain at least that he has the undisputed title to it. Accordingly he applied for the Torrens title by which the state guarantees that his title is clear and complete. The total bill of costs was a title less than $20 on this property, which is worth several thousand dollars, and this is the total necessary expense. In addition, where a new survey must be made, this will of course add to the expense, and the attorney's fee of course is another expense. On the other hand, this expense can be reduced by the property owner personally getting the adjoining land owners to accept service of summons and waive all protest.

"If the desired title should be disputed by some of the adjoining land owners, the case would have to be tried out and the loser would pay the costs, but where there is any such doubt about the title is the very place where a Torrens title is most needed. If the title is not perfect, the owner had better know it. If it is perfect and the other party disputes it, then this party pays the costs.

"This title which Mr. Hicks now has is guaranteed by the state of North Carolina just like the insurance companies in the bigger cities, for a considerable fee, will guarantee a title. If anything should hereafter be found wrong with it, Mr. Hicks still has it, and the complaining party can only sue the state treasurer for damages and he cannot disturb this title. In future transactions the owner has an official certificate which is just as good as a gold bond for the value of his property. By showing this certificate anywhere he proves not only that he owns the land but that his title is clear, and therefore the title is easily negotiable as security for a loan or for sale. In case of another sale, there is no formality of expense except a simple entry at a cost of 75 cents and the new owner then knows his title is sound.

"One extremely important point is that no one can dispute a boundary line of a Torrens title. If you have the old system and you and your Torrens title neighbor have a dispute about the boundary, you are shut out from any consideration. Your neighbor keeps his boundary and you can sue the state treasurer, but you can never get the land. If land owners could realize how many titles are defective on account of the papers having been drawn up by ignorant people, the Torrens law would soon become popular.

"When the old form of registering deeds was first made the law, people would have nothing to do with it, and even yet there are hundreds of deeds unregistered. Very little progress was made until the statute which made a registered deed conclusive against an unregistered one, and it is possible that after some years the Torrens law will be extended by requiring all future registrations to come under it. At present the one trouble with it is that the people know nothing about it.

"It is a safe and conservative estimate that whatever the cost of a Torrens title may be, it will add ten times as much to the marketable value of the property."

FOUR BIG FIRES IN A DAY IN MUNITIONS PLANTS.

New York, Nov. 12.—Four big fires within twenty-four hours in factories making war supplies for the allies demanded the attention of the federal authorities today. Following the $4,000,000 blaze at Bethlehem steel works, in which 800 cannon were destroyed, fire swept two buildings of the Midvale, Pa., Steel Company, in which were stored patterns for the manufacture of 3,000,000 Lee-Enfield rifles for the British government.

Early today fire destroyed the rope plant of the John A. Roebling Sons' Company at Trenton, N. J., causing a damage of $1,000,000. The Roebling company was making barb wire for the allies.

There was also a $50,000 fire in the pattern shops of the Baldwin locomotive works at Eddystone, Pa., just before noon Wednesday and a blaze which caused $30,000 worth of damage to the American Sympathic Color Company at Stamford, Conn. The Baldwin works are under contract to make locomotives for the Russian government.

Three Men Arrested.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 12.—Three men were arrested here today and the police are keeping close watch on several others as a result of the discovery of a trunk full of dynamite in the home of Eugene English. The specific charge against two of the men is impersonating secret service agents. The authorities are working on the theory that the men were plotting to blow up the powder houses of the Du Pont Powder Company near Beckville.

FINAL EXAMINATION FOR STATE TEACHERS.

Final examination in North Carolina to clear up irregularities in the case of teachers now engaged in state high school work who do not hold state high school certificates will be held in Raleigh November 23 and 24, according to notice given from the office of Dr. J. Y. Joyner, superintendent of public instruction.

Under the high school law no one shall teach in a high school that receives state funds who does not hold a state high school teacher's certificate. Examinations were held during the summer, but Secretary C. E. McIntosh, of the state board of examiners, has found that a number are teaching in the schools without such certificates. The additional opportunity for an examination is given that the school involved may not lose its part of the state apportionment and that salaries may not be affected.

Examinations will be held as follows:

November 23, on English, Theory and Practice of Teaching, School Law, American History, English History or so many of these subjects as may be necessary. All examinations for renewal will be held also, beginning at 12 M.

November 24, on Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Latin, French, German, Physical Geography, Agriculture, Botany, Chemistry or so many of these subjects as may be necessary.

Getting Closer to Compulsory Recruiting.

A strong intimation of compulsion at an early date is contained in a statement by the earl of Derby, director of recruiting for the British army. This statement is made, Lord Derby declares, with the authority of the prime minister. It says:

"If young men medically fit and not indispensable in any business of national importance or by business conducted for the general good of the community do not come forward voluntarily before November 30, the government will, after that date, take the necessary steps to redeem the pledge made on November 2."

On the date referred to Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons if young men did not come forward voluntarily and enlist "other compulsory means would be taken before married men were called upon to fill their engagements to serve."

Lord Derby adds: "Whether a man is indispensable or not to his business will be decided, not by the man or his employer, but by competent authorities and tribunals which are being set up to consider such cases."

JUDGE HAS KEPT VOW HE MADE TO LINCOLN.

Chester, Pa., Nov. 12.—Federal Judge Simeon Woodrow King, of Chicago, who is visiting the Misses Jane and Hannah Woodrow, relatives, in this city, is a remarkable man. He is in his eighty-fourth year, and has never been sick a day in his life. He comes of a sturdy Quaker stock, and would pass for a man of '0.

He was appointed judge for the United States court for the northern district of Illinois when he was 21 years and six months of age, by President Abraham Lincoln, and has been sitting as a jurist during all that long period of more than half a century.

"I have kept the promise I made to Abraham Lincoln," Judge King said today, "and that promise was that I would never smoke or chew tobacco, never touch liquor and never tell an untruth."

Judge King is one of the most widely known and best-beloved of Chicagoans. His appointment to the Federal bench when he was barely past his majority was considered one of the most remarkable administrative acts of President Lincoln. His rivals for judicial honors in those days referred to him as "the poor hired boy," because he had worked himself up from the plow on the farm to the bar.

Will Watch the Lobbyists.

Careful watch will be kept on lobbyists during the coming session of Congress, according to Senator Overman, chairman of the senate's special lobby committee. "The committee is still alive," said Mr. Overman, "and will be kept alive for the purpose of inquiring into any insidious lobbying that may be attempted during the next Congress as a result of problems growing out of the European war."

He mentioned proposals to prohibit sales of war munitions to belligerents and the national defense program as issues likely to draw all kinds of outside pressure upon members of Congress.

Cheaper Than Home-Made.

You cannot make a good cough medicine at home for as little as you pay for Foley's Honey and Tar, nor can you be sure of getting the fresh, full strength, clean and pure materials. Did you ever hear of a home-made cough medicine doing the work that Foley's is doing every day all over the country? Conyers & Sykes.
