WILD CARROT

It was from the plant, the wild carrot that we got our regular garden carrot. The flower has also been called Bird's Nest because of the way it curls up and resembles a bird's nest.

This plant grows from two to three feet high and is found in waste places and fields everywhere. These plants are very lovely and throughly used for decorative purposes.

We prepare each arrangement with you in mind, and this is why we give everyone our own personal touch.
