About eleven o'clock we heard a great roar ahead, and approached it very cantiously, the sound growing louder and louder as we ran. Wheat and Cheat.

As an item of interest in the farming line, says the Pittsfield (Illinois), Demo crat, we give the following of what has happened to us as a farmer. Three years ago we had twenty acres in wheat that we seeded to clover, getting a fair stand of the latter. Last year and the season previous we pastured the clover. A Desperate Woman.

The Lancashire women have made discovery which is likely to place their relations with Lancashire men on a more comfortable footing than at present. They have found that the hairpin in the hands of women is as valuable a weapon for offense or defense as the wooden clog on the foot of man. In the former capacity is was used a few evenings ago with signal effect by a middle-aged woman named Elizabeth Welch. Unprepared for War.

In his report, Admiral Porter, of the United States navy, says: In organizing the system on which a navy has to be built it is necessary to take into consideration-first, the needs of the country for the protection of its commerce; second, the extent of coast to be defended and the exposed condition of the sea board cities; third, the relations of the country with the other powers of the world, and the advancement continually made in the science of maritime war; fourth, to look deficiencies in the face, and, at whatever cost, place the navy in condition to meet any emergency.

This is not the case with our own navy at present. When its condition is fully considered it would be the height of folly to call it "efficient;" for, while that delusion lasts, no supplies will be given by Congress, and we will grow yearly more inferior to other powers. War is at all times a dreadful alternative; still more so when forced upon a nation so utterly unprepared as we are at present I speak strongly on the subject, because I know the real condition of the navy and its present inability to meet the wants of the nation, and may yet live to see my country humiliated from the fact that no attention has been paid to the recommendations of those whose duty it will be to lead our ships into action or direct their movements in time of

Now is as good a time as any to in augurate a comprehensive system of naval defense, which would be the proper term to apply to the operations of a non-aggressive nation that does not require a navy with which to wage aggressive war, but simply to protect its coasts and commerce. We can only maintain our position among nations by following in their wake in naval matters, if we do not as we once did, set them the example in the quality of our ships and guns. We have never had a settled policy with regard to the class of vessels we should build, and I beg leave to suggest a system, which, if adhered to, will soon place us in a very respectable condition, enable us to defend our coasts and do
