STATE AND LOCAL

Bound in calf—Vesal. March Court—Monday week. The Granger's trump—Spades. The State for editors—Pencil-vania. The cheapest way to live is to breathe.

It takes the Irish to "wake" 'e dead. A clear case—An empty dry goods box. Living on excitement is very expensive living.

There is nothing more depressing to a thermometer than cold weather. Delinquent subscribers, may settle their accounts at my office.

The Cemetery needs new railing around it, will not our citizens look to this matter and have it done at once?

Mosses, Hyman's & Dancy sold last week in Norfolk 2 bales of Pearce cotton for E. W. Fuller, and 1 for Dr. King at 20 cts per lb.

Inure your property before Merch as it is considered the most dangerous month in the year about fire. You can find good companies, and liberal rates by applying at the COURIER office.

YARBOROUGH HOUSE—When you visit Raleigh, stop at the Yarrowborough House, and you will be well cared for. This same thing has been said by nearly every paper in the State, and a great many out of the State, all told the truth.

In our last issue we alluded in rather a light manner to the pleasure of one of our citizens at drawing a prize from the Masonic Gift Concert at Wilson. We will state here that in making the remark, we drew largely upon our own imagination, judging him by ourselves, had we drawn one.

The will of an old man, who died recently in Brussels, tells how he once found a valuable diamond in Asia, which he concealed in a cut in the call of his leg, where he had made an intentional wound. The apparent misfortune procured his release from the mine, and he was made immensely rich by the sale of the gem, which is now one of Russia's crown diamonds.

GENERAL LONGSTREET RETIRES.—One prominent man has shaken the mud of Louisiana politics off his feet in disgust, and is gone in search of fresh fields and pastures new. It is General Longstreet, while a Confederate commander, and since a Republican, politician in the distracted State.

He has bought a farm near Gainesville, Georgia and there proposes to spend in peace and quiet the remainder of his days, forgetting in a country the memories of the battle-field and the caucus. Balt. American.

INFLUENCE OF NEWSPAPERS.—Says Daniel Webster: Small is the sum that is required to patronize a newspaper, and amply rewarded is its patron, I care not how humble and unpretending the Gazette which he takes. It is next to impossible to fill a sheet with printed matter without putting into it something that is worth the subscription price.

CHIPS FOR THE LADIES.—White Swiss mull and French organdy muslin dresses for parties are in greater demand than heretofore. High corsages are almost always made of fanciful basque waists. Low corsages are usually either pointed or else in correct shape. Trained skirts are of medium length, and cling closely to the figure in front. Brocades are fully restored to favor again, and the more novel designs, like coins and scales, are sought after.

Velvets are much used for full dress toilets. Embossed velvets are very fashionable. The cornet braid is going out of style and now the hair is arranged smooth on the top of the head.

Novel combination of color in dresses are greatly the order, such as a light tint of one color with a dark shade of some opposite color.

For parties, low neck and short sleeves is the rule for the majority of dress toilets. Very long trails also prevail, especially in silk and satin.
