Treatment of Yellow Fever.

Dr. John M. Woodworth, of the United States marine corps, gives the following hints as to the treatment of yellow fever : When the patient is seen in the first stage during the fever (in the first twelve hours, if possible). I resort to a hot mustard bath, either a full bath or only to the knees, according to cir cumstances. The patient is then put to bed and well wrapped or covered with blankets, and supplied with ice water, and permitted to drink it ad libitum. If there be any irritability of the stomach, a mustard plaster about the size of the palm of the hand is applied to the cardiac pertion of the stomach, and as it becomes uncomfortable, moved to an other place, and so on around that or gan, thus keeping up the action for an indefinite length of time. When the stomach is not too irritable, castor oil or the oleum ricini 'capsules are given by the month; otherwise an enema of oleum ricini, two drachms ; oleum terebinthin, twenty drops ; vitel, unius ovi ; aqua pur, one pint, to be used and repeated till the actions are free. I generally find, however, that the oleum ricini is well borne by the stomach, and when the dose is large acts efficiently. If there be suppression of urine, a cloth (flannel is preferable) well soaked with oleum terebinthinae is applied over the region of the kidneys; this application is repeated until the flow of urine is copious. It is usually brought on by this means in two or three hours, if not sooner. The hot bath is repeated if at any time the perspiration becomes checked, as also are mustard plasters, if required, for irritability of the stomach, or to act as revulsives or counter-irritants. The doors and windows are to be kept closed, and all draughts are to be avoided and sudden changes of temperature are to be guarded against, as I believe, with Surgeon Gibbs, United States navy, that a sudden change of temperature-he says of five degrees, I think of eight or ten degrees-will prove fatal. Draughts produce equally serious results when the patient is sweating profusely.

Hints About the Person.

Some persons can be "smelled" mile off, more or less ; it is a misfortune and a source of very great mortification to the refined and sensitive. . It may be "born" with some, if not all; it is the result of a diseased condition of the system, or a neglect of personal cleanliness. There is a peculiar odor emanating from the feet, which is, perhaps, always the result of cleanliness. If daily washings do not remowe these odors, a very efficient wash is found in red oxide of lead, one part to twenty-nine parts of the liquor of the sub-acetate of the lead; the first to be bruised in a porcelain mortar, gradually adding the latter : apply a few drops once a week, oftener in summer. A specific odor escapes every one and is peculiar to the individual the dog knows it, and by it follows his master through any crowd of human beings, and never makes a mistake. A man's organ of smell is not thus acutely developed ; still there are persons whose peculiar penetrating odor is readily recognized. This does not come from the "sweat" of the person, as no such odor issues from the hands, but from the arm-pits and other parts kept covered by the clothing, so that the air cannot penetrate : nor is the application of soap and water too frequently allowed. When the "sweat" remains in contact with the skin, it undergoes a chemical change, and it is this which disengages the peculiarly disagreeable odor, as to the feet particularly; thus this chemical formation is a kind of fetid fat, which is absorbed into the pores of the leather. and there it is detained with fresh additions, often for weeks and months, with increasing intensity, as the smell of any old boot or shoe will demonstrate. Some persons use stockings without change from the time they are first put on until they are worn full of holes. Very many do not wash their feet often- point." He did. Months and months name and doings of a reporter named Ellis, who made his name famous on the Pacific coast by his startling adventures, and whose career finally closed with a balloon ascension. It seems that a gentleman who had made one or two ascensions had advertised to go up from a fair ground on a certain day, and that a large crowd assembled to witness the expedition. Ellis was sent to make a report of the affair, and he took it into his head to have a ride with the professor and write up his experience. His company was accepted, and as the hour approached he took his seat in the car. The balloon was inflated, but just as it was ready to rise the professor had some excuse to leap out. Eased of his weight so suddenly, the balloon jerked away from the men, and Ellis alone went skyward. The man knew all about newspaper business, but he was ignorant as to aerial navigation. He, however, took things as cool as if nothing unusual had happened. There was no wind below. and while the balloon hung over the grounds, half a mile above the heads of the excited crowd, the following message came floating down: "I am all right. and intend to see the thing through. Tell the --- (his newspaper) to look out for a telegram from me to-night." It was about five o'clock in the afternoon of a June day, and the balloon and its freight finally floated away to the northwest, and at last was lost to view. No one in that crowd ever saw poor Ellis again. In fact, it was months and months before he was heard of. Days passed, and letters were written and telegrams sent, but there was no news of the balloon for a week. Then a hunter found this message on the prairie: "Am
