REMARKS.
Louisburg, the County Seat of Franklin is situated on Tar River, 31 miles North from Raleigh, the Capital of the State, and although it is 10 miles from the nearest Rail Road point, which fact has greatly retarded its growth, yet different from most inland towns it has been, and is still steadily growing. It is now considered one of the very best Cotton Markets. There is a fine back country, from which the place receives its principal support, there not being much transient trade.
The place has ever been noted for its excellent schools, and some of the men who received instructions here, have filled high and honorable positions, both in the State and National government.
There is not a more intelligent, refined and moral community, in the State. The merchants are thrifty, enterprising and thoroughly reliable.—Louisburg is a remarkably healthy town and there is no place, not even in the Mountains of Western N. C. that can boast of better water. The above statements are entirely true, which fact makes Louisburg, one of the most desirable places in the State to live in.
