EDITORIAL COMMENT

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1902.

Nobody Knows but Father.
Nobody knows of the money it takes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the debt it makes,
Nobody knows—but father.

Nobody is told that the boys need shoes
And the girls bats with a feather;
Nobody else old clothes must choose,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody says that the coal and wood
And four are out together;
Nobody else must make them good,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody thinks when the money will come
To pay the bills that gather;
Nobody feels so blue and gloom,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody tries so hard to lay
Up something for bad weather
And runs behind, do what he may,
Nobody—only father.

Nobody comes from the world's cold storm
To meet dear ones who gather
Around with loving welcome warm,
Nobody does—but father.

Nobody loves the home life pure,
Watched over by a mother,
Where just and bliss are all secure,
Nobody—only father.

Be dignified in your advertising, but don't worry too much about the "dignity" of it. And never fall into the notion that your business is too dignified to be advertised. Modern publicity is getting to be a wonderfully awesome and dignified thing. It began with radicalism, it is becoming conservative. Bright minds have been looking into its art the past decade, and have made it more dignified than is generally known. If a business is dignified enough to be followed it can be advertised with far more dignity than the taking of money at the cash counter for goods or professional services. No one has ever questioned a merchant's right to his profits, and no one can question his right to advertise within the bounds of sense and taste.

SHELL ROADS IN SUBURBS.

The movement on the part of the Chamber of Commerce to have the roads leading from the town shelled for a distance of one mile, is certainly the right thing. We earnestly hope that the County Commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce can come to a definite agreement in the matter and that it will meet with the attention which it deserves. At present, many of the roads, especially just in the outskirts of the city are in a frightful condition and are nothing more nor less than a disgrace to the city as well as a menace to drivers. The recent good roads movement at Raleigh will probably result in the betterment of the roads all over the state. Let us hold up our end of the load.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER.

Next week the Tar Heel goes to its subscribers in weekly form. One reason for thus changing is that the mails are so slow and at such inconvenient hours that we cannot serve our patrons satisfactorily with a semi-weekly newspaper. This condition should not exist but there is no remedy. In addition to this, many of our subscribers cannot visit the post office but once a week and would rather be served with a weekly as it is often the case that both papers of a week are gotten from the office at the same time.

In making the change the Tar Heel has no apologies to offer. With new presses, machinery, composing machine and the best equipment of material in the city, we will publish the best weekly newspaper in North Carolina. The new style will be a six column quarto printed on clean stock, and will be filled with all the important news of country, state, county and town. In addition will be our correspondence page, which we propose to make a prominent and interesting feature, together with many new ideas and departments.

All we ask is a subscription price of $1.50 per annum. In exchange we will give twice as much reading matter as any weekly or semi-weekly paper published in Eastern North Carolina.

ROOSEVELT GETS HISSES.

At the play "Fabio Romani" given at the Academy of Music on Monday evening, a number of fine stereopticon views were shown in a novel manner. One of our late lamented president was shown which was greeted with the loudest applause. The next following was that of President Roosevelt and met with loud hisses. To say that we were shocked scarcely expresses our feelings. President Roosevelt is one of the most illustrious men of the century. One who has taken his life in his hands and led regiments in fierce bloody battles for his country's sake and considered not his life dear unto himself.

Roosevelt is the first scholar that has filled the presidential chair since Jefferson. He has written many valuable volumes, has served well and faithfully as chief of police of New York city, Governor of the state of New York and vice-president of the United States and all with credit to himself and to the offices. Roosevelt is a unique character in American history, a man of unapproachable character. As president of the United States he is a member of no political party. We ask, is it seemly for an audience of educated and intelligent citizens to plainly and publicly demonstrate party spite and feeling. By reason of a mistake which we need not mention, Roosevelt has made himself unpopular in the south. Is it reasonable to forget all the honorable and brave deeds the man has rendered for his country on account of a mistake which was not of a public nature. Every man has the right to his own opinion, but as President of the United States, Roosevelt should have the respect of her citizens. While the Tar Heel does not agree with him in politics yet it recognizes the fact that he is not the leader of any political party, but rather the president of the whole people. As such the hisses which greeted his likeness at the hall on this occasion were entirely uncalled for and out of place to say the least.

NOTICE!

Standard Tailoring.

It has been our steadfast purpose for the past twenty years to produce a class of goods which could at a glance be recognized as the highest development in the Art of Tailoring. After many years of hard work with both Northern and Western Tailoring Houses, I became weary over the many mistakes and misfits which to some extent retarded my happy expectations. With eagerness to establish a Tailoring Department—without which any clothing store is incomplete—I began to work for Klee & Co., 22 to 24 Lafayette Place, New York City. They had been represented in Elizabeth City, but for some reason they saw propper to turn their line over to us. I began with undaunted zeal and a doubled determination to accomplish the long felt need of a Tailoring Department in a ready-to-wear store. From the beginning with Klee & Co., I have had smooth sailing, and that a thoroughness in every detail is abundantly evidenced by the immense growth of our business within the past five years and which is constantly increasing from season to season.

At an expenditure of much time and labor, we present for the spring and summer—1902 season, the most extensive and complete line of high class tailoring fabrics ever placed before the trade.

This matchless assortment was selected with the greatest care and embraces the most desirable patterns from both foreign and domestic mills. These garments are made in modern, clean and ventilated rooms where only the most skilful expert cutters and tailors are employed. During the process of the manufacture of all garments, every detail is carefully examined by thoroughly competent foremen under the personal supervision of Klee & Co. The vast manufacturing facilities of Klee & Co. enables them to produce the highest class of tailoring at most popular prices. We believe, without any egotism whatever, that Klee & Co., have done more to raise the standard of the Tailoring Agency business than any concern in the United States.

In January, 1901, we received our first premium or reward for business done with Klee & Co. In January, 1902, we will receive another premium for business done in a stipulated time. Spring samples now on display. Suits made to measure and fit guaranteed. Suits, prices from $13.50 to $37.50. Trousers, prices from $4.00 to $10.50.

One hundred dollars reward will be paid to any one who may be so disfigured by nature or by accident that we cannot fit satisfactorily. Thanking my friends for past patronage,

I am, sincerely,
