their injuries. The cause of the catastrophe was the explosion of a train of naphtha cars which were being switched at the yard, and in the switching the rear car telescoped the car forward. The leaking sphtha ignited from a switch ight, causing an explosion which brew the flames fifty feet high. Much of the escaping naphtha ran through Croks run to Esplen borough, a distance of one and one-half miles, and caused another explosion, blowing to atoms the Seymour Hotel and the Collins House, on River road, and badly wrecking a frame building near by, in which were congregated two hundred or more sports from Pittsburg and vicinity, betting on the races, baseball, etc. Few of the occupants of this building escaped injury.
