THE FAIR ATTRACTIONS.

Greatest of Living Aeronauts to Make Three Flights.

Secretary L. C. Oakley closed a contract this week which ensures a decided attraction for this fall's fair. Prof. W. R. Mock of Nashville, Tenn., has been booked for three balloon ascensions and parachute leaps, and for each day of the fair, a single ascension will be made the first day, a double ascension for the second day and the third day will be the occasion for a grand triple ascension using three separate parachutes. Prof. Mock is the greatest of living Aeronauts, and has made more successful flights than any member of his profession. He is a Southern man, but the world has been his field for several years. Secretary Oakley is to be congratulated on these valuable accession to the many attractions of this seasons fair.

Another attraction is a high class vaudeville show which will exhibit on the grounds each day. Vaudeville shows are something new for this city and especially for fair grounds exhibitions in these parts.

Four feather Beds in new fresh condition for sale. Goose feathers apply 120 Harney St. P.O. Box 212 Elizabeth City.

Oysters are conspicuous for their absence in this market, though the "off" months have been here more than five weeks we have had no oysters save only a few bivalves commonly called "raccoon oysters". These are a very inferior quality and are rarely placed on the market. Our local dealers are becoming alarmed. The oyster industry is not small one for this city and it is hoped that the conditions may improve.

Hatteras Lightship Overhauled.

The Baltimore Sun of Oct 4th says "after remaining two months in port, during which time she has been thoroughly overhauled, Diamond Shoal Lightship No 72 will leave to-day for her station on the dreaded Hatteras reef. She will relieve Lightship No 71 which will go to Portsmouth, Va. for overhauling. Captain James Adams, commander of 72, said yesterday that after surveying his vessel she was found capable of withstanding the heavy strain at the Diamond Shoal Station even better than either Nos. 69 or 71.

When No. 72 arrived in port two months ago it was found that the only damage by the storms she had weathered were a few loosened rivets. These have been tightened at Spedden's railway and the vessel has been repainted and several minor repairs made to the boilers. "Provisions" for four months have been placed on board No. 72. The trip to the station, it is thought, will be made in only eight hours. The vessel's speed, considering her unwieldy lines. Officers and crew anticipate some good dolphin fishing off the coast.

Fell Into The Creek.

It was at midnight's lonely hour, and silent like a gentle spirit was brooding over the still, and pulseless city when Mr. Tull Ball, a prominent citizen of Currituck county had started homeward. He got as far as Knop's Creek bridge when in the darkness he drove off the side of the bridge into the chilling waters of the creek below. The buggy became entangled among logs, and the horse dithered himself and swam up and down the creek while the frightened owner sat in the buggy until secured by friends.

In The "Garden of The Gods."

Mr. Anson E. Cohoon, a native of this city, now Superintendent of Forestry for the U. S. Government, has been recently transferred from Southern California to Colorado, with headquarters at Denver. He will do work in the vicinity of the "Garden of the Gods." He writes of the unsurpassed scenic grandeur of this famous mountain country.

CAMPAIGN ORATORS COMING.

Hons. C. B. Watson and Lee S. Overman to Speak Here. In the way of obtaining good speakers Elizabeth City is faring better this season than in several campaigns. Chairman Simmons of the Democratic Executive committee has booked for this city Hons C. B. Watson, and Lee S. Overman, both candidates for the U. S. Senate. The state papers state that though this campaign is void of interest these two gentlemen have not failed to draw big crowds.

Mr. Watson will be remembered as the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1896 and as an orator of unusual ability. Mr. Overman of course will be received with open arms by the people of this county as he is a grandson of Pasquotank, his father having moved from here many years ago. Mr. Overman speaks here on October 10th and Mr. Watson on October 15th. These gentlemen are among the best of the States political speakers and they deserve a large crowd. See that you help to this end.

The Land of His Ancestors.

Mr. Chas. L. Raper of Toledo

Iowa is here on a visit to his relatives. He is a nephew of Messrs Henry and Caleb Raper, who are among our most prominent citizens. His father left here more than forty years ago to seek a fortune in "the wild and woolly west." He is still living and is a hail and hearty old gentleman of more than seventy years. This is the first visit of Mr. Raper and he is well pleased with the South and particularly with this the home of his forefathers. "You have a delightful town, one which immediately impresses a stranger as substantial and progressive" said Mr. Raper to the Tar Heel man.

TO SETTLE THE DISMAL SWAMP.

The Norfolk Ledger is Authority For The Following Bit of Interesting News.

The Virginia Land and Lumber Company, composed of Ohio capitalists, who purchased ten thousand acres of land in the Dismal Swamp from the Wallace Company, they have constructed a mammoth mill and with nearly one hundred employes are turning out great quantities of lumber; houses are being built, lands drained and cleared up and prepared for settlers from the West, the tide of emigration having turned Eastward. It will not be long before the great acreage of the company, now a swamp, will be the homes of prosperous farmers, the land being

WILL LOCATE HERE.

Prominent Ohioans Pleased with Elizabeth City. A. B. Lukins and wife accompanied by Mr. Hooper of Moyock were here this week looking over the city with a view to locating here. Messrs Lukins and Hooper are lumber men from Washington G. H. Ohio who recently purchased extensive tracts of timber lands in the vicinity of Moyock where they established a milling plant. They will either move to this city or Norfolk. They can't secure the proper school facilities at Moyock and desire a residence in a nearby town.

Both the ladies and gentlemen are highly pleased with Elizabeth City and express a desire to reside here. Their only difficulty was in finding a suitable house. To the Tar Heel reporter Mr. Lukins said "You have a good town, I am well pleased with the spirit of progress which I see manifest on every hand. I have heard too that the moral and social atmosphere is all that might be desired. My wife and I prefer to locate here as you are said to have good schools and this would be the principal attraction to us."
