

THE SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS

WILL BE GREATLY INCREASED ATTENDANCE AT THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

Chapel Hill, N. C. June 8.—Registration in the University Summer School for Teachers will begin tomorrow and regular class work will begin promptly at 8.45 on next Monday morning. The school will continue for a term of six weeks, closing on Saturday, July 17.

The Director of the Summer School, Prof. N. W. Walker, says that the present indications point to a greatly increased attendance over that of any previous year. In fact, over twice as many teachers have already indicated their intention of attending the school as ever attended any previous one. This greatly increased attendance may be largely attributed to two things: the recognition of the high character of the work done by the school; and the introduction of a course in elementary school methods. The high school teachers of the State are just beginning to realize that the instruction given in the Summer School is of the same high character as that of the regular term; and that only the serious minded student finds a welcome here. Heretofore the courses of study offered were intended to meet the needs of high school teachers alone. Although the school is still primarily for high school teachers, yet the introduction of a course in elementary school methods has attracted a large number of elementary teachers.

PATRIOTISM.

(By Chas. E. Amsley.)

To the intensely selfish person the virtue which we call patriotism is impossible, for true patriotism considers the weal of the many as more to be sought than the gratification of the few. A world person for this reason cannot understand it and considers it a mere dream of enthusiasts or a convenient subject for the aspirant after political honors and emoluments to descend upon the multitude. Such persons regard their native land only as a convenient field for the acquisition of wealth or the practice of their own business or profession and hold that to be the best government under which they can ply their own particular trade most profitable. Nor would they ever think of making any sacrifice for principal patriotism. Never remember self but consecrates its energy to the welfare of the State and Nation. Never was there a better time than the present to write on the subject of patriotism as patriotism is liking to a great extent from our highest officials to the lowest. You have probably read the story of the Arabian fisherman who, while playing his vocation drew up a copper vessel sealed with the great seal of Solomon and with the name of God. Eager to secure the supposed treasure, he broke open the casket and instantly an imprisoned genius rose before his astonished gaze. It seems to us that fate fishing in reverence the good in men and in politics and that they will have nothing to do with the party or the man that is not clean. If the religious men of the land did this many a knave that now patters at the public expense would become a mere starveling in a garret. If you want clean politics, you can have it by putting up clean men and standing by them. Patriotism should be a form of conscience, with you as scrupulous of political as of personal dishonor. When an unworthy person is elected to office he not only looks upon his election as an endorsement of his fitness for the office but as his character as a man. If you object to his he can turn with a smile pointing to his majority and will say "This is the voice of the people, the voice of God what a cutting humbug this is, go into low greggery or what is called a barrel shop and you will see men there whose sole aim in life seems to be to sit on barrels, chew tobacco and spit into a square box filled with saw dust about ten feet distant the occupation by drinking harsh whiskey that to an ordinary throat would seem like swallowing a circular saw and drawing it up again. They all have pipomas of the rum shop and they are well dre (I mean to the nose) every two and four years men vote for the man who will treat them and he turns around and tells you that the voice of the people is the voice of God. It is not the voice of God unless you make it so. You, who are the conscience of the land, you who are the brains, the heart of the land you who serve God and worship him in the churches and the homes, too often the voice of the people is the voice of the devil and not even a whisper of God is heard. How can God write on the slate that you never helped to make? How can God speak in the primaries that you never attend? How can his voice be heard in the election of Godless and self-seeking men. Neither Civil reform nor any other reform will ever be brought about. With more party machinery when you talk Civil Service reform men laugh at you and ask you how it is possible to reform the Civil Service. Even when it is incorporated in platforms an eulogized in discourses it is not intended serious. To the victors belong the spoils, but there is one thing that is ment seriously and that is well lived up to: To the victors belong the spoils in such campaigns the public. Yes, you who do the tax paying and the voting are always beaten the only victors, being the office holders and your spoils as well as those of the other party go to fatten them. Civil Service reform is possible, but it must begin in the homes. The mother who teaches her son his duty to his country, who trains him when he prays at her knee to offer a petition for it and who points out to him what citizenship implies is as much a patriot as those women of sparta who so willingly gave their sons for the honor and glory of Lacedaemon. We have been in your schools and seen teachers pat the heads of little lads and say some day such may be presidents of the United States, but we have seldom seen lads trained for the position thoroughly. Imbue your children with a sense of the importance of politics, show them that there is no necessity that they should be low and vile, give them exalted ideas of the responsibilities of citizenship, teach them that if religion does not make them better citizens as well as better men they are only half christians, it is true the church ought not to organize parties. Its mission is to make the material from which good patriots are produced.
