Another Effort To Get Change

Mr. McCabe Will go to Norfolk to Interview Mr. Lamb in Regard to Improved Passenger Service Between This City and Norfolk.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Friday night the new schedule of the Norfolk and Southern railroad came in for considerable discussion. Mr. F. L. Garret the agent of the Norfolk and Southern in this city, met with the Chamber and entered into the discussion to devise some plan by which the matter may be satisfactory adjusted.

Mr. Garret stated to the Chamber that in his opinion the Norfolk and Southern officials will be slow to make changes in their present schedule because so far the receipts from the sale of tickets have not fallen off enough to warrant them to undergo the additional expense of operating another train. This statement precipitated a discussion, which waxed rather warm, and the merchants and other business men did not fail to express their sentiments in regard to the treatment that they were receiving at the hands of the Norfolk and Southern railroad.

Mr. Garret suggested that a committee of one be appointed to interview Mr. Lamb of the Norfolk and Southern in regard to an extra train from this city to Norfolk. This suggestion met with favor and Mr. J. T. McCabe was appointed to represent the chamber. Mr. Garret stated that he would try to secure a date for a conference with Mr. Lamb and that he will go to Norfolk with Mr. McCabe if the interview can be secured.

Not the kindest feeling are existing now between the merchants of this town and the Norfolk and Southern officials on account of their failure to relieve the situation in trade conditions. The merchants of this town contribute largely to the support of the Norfolk and Southern railroad and Elizabeth City's patronage is a matter of consideration consequences and the merchants for the life of them can not see why they railroad authorities should turn a deaf ear to their appeals for protection in a situation which discriminates against the people of Elizabeth City to a degree that it damages the interest of the merchants and seriously injures the town.

This proposed conference between Mr. McCabe and president Lamb is the last straw apparently of relief to the local merchants. Should the schedule be amended now as it was agreed upon between the citizens and Mr. Hudgins some time ago the merchants are seriously injured, as much of their Camden and Currituck trade has been lost to Norfolk.

SPENT MORE THAN BILLION DOLLARS

The following Associated Press Dispatch sent out from Washington shows how the nations money is spent.

The final official figures on the appropriations made at the second session of the Sixty-first Congress, just closed, analyzed from both the Republican and Democratic standpoints, will be given by the House appropriations committee tomorrow. Chairman Tawney, of the committee, claims the aggregate is less than a billion dollars while Democratic leaders charge an excess of that limit. The statements have been delayed because of the lateness of final action on important supply measures.

Mr. Tawney claims that the appropriations for the fiscal year 1911 are less than for the current year and that most of the bills are not less than the estimates submitted for them. Republican Leader Payne contends that the appropriations are a substantial reduction from those of last year without taking into account at all any increase accruing from increased business in the country. Mr. Payne declares that while the appropriation and expenditures for the current year are much larger than for the last fiscal year $4000,000 has so far been saved by cutting down administration expenses. Mr. Payne concedes that many millions could be saved if one great business man had the country's business in his charge.

Mr. Sulzer, of New York, Democrat, charges that it has been a billion dollar session "with millions and millions more with a vengeance."

Mr. Sherley of Kentucky, a Democrat, favors having all appropriation bills emanate from one committee saying the committees in charge of the scattering independent supply bills get to feel special championship for their particular department.

N. & S. TO GIVE A SILVER CUP

The Norfolk and Southern railroad has entered the movement for more corn and a better system of corn growing and is offering a cup for the best ten acres. The Charlotte Observer says of its plan:

"The Norfolk Southern railroad is offering a handsome silver cup to the North Carolina lad who exhibits the finest ten acres of corn grown by himself. The cup will pass from one year's winner to the victor of the next, each name being duly inscribed until the same boy shall win it twice when it will become his property. It is safe prediction that the eventual possessor will have raised some corn before he puts the trophy on the parlor mantelpiece of his parents' home.

They raise some corn in the Norfolk Southern territory already. The road runs through one of the finest corn growing sections of the country and its cup ought to do much to stimulate the interest in the growing of this great grain.

CIVIC LEAGUE DEPARTMENT

There is no doubt about it, we have one of the finest towns (we think it the finest, but perhaps we are prejudiced) in the state.

We have beauties galore around us beautiful homes, handsome churches, as fine school buildings as are to be found in North Carolina, stately elms shading our streets, and one of the loveliest rivers and finest harbors to be found anywhere. Yes, we have blessings for which we ought to be and are grateful and proud of.

But though all this be true, still we are not satisfied. The Civic League are anxious to have the co-operation of the board of aldermen, chamber of commerce, Elks, Odd Fellows, J. O. U. A. M.; Woodmen, in fact every lodge, society, club, man, woman and child in the town in making Elizabeth City undisputedly, what the jolly porter on the N. & S. proudly calls it: "The Garden Spot of the Earth."

And we can say in confidence to each other that we won't say to outsiders that really, we do need some improvements, that honestly, with all our boasted progress we are lagging behind in some particulars, in the race the towns are all making for first place in the procession of progressive towns. And we shall never catch up, we shall never take our proper place among our sister cities until these improvements are made.

Take for instance the matter of a public library. Where are we at, when that subject is asked? Where is our library? Surely the author of Lucile must have had us in mind when he wrote "Civilized man can live without books." For we are civilized dispute it if you dare. And we do live without books, more's the pity. You will find them in many homes. But, dear friends, don't give this away you will find as many more homes where books, save for the children's readers and spellers are an unknown quantity.

Some of us can't help this state of affairs, with prices as high as Halley's Comet, it is hard enough to find the wherewithal to buy just common every day necessities of life. Books are out of the question.

But the town should come to the rescue here and provide the mental food without which bodies, no matter how strong and vigorous can never do the best work.

Elizabeth City has waked up, where education is concerned. We send 20 boys and girls off to college now, where we used to send one. And we give the children here at home as good an education as that supplied by any Primary Grammar or High school in the State.

But after the children have left school, what mental stimulus do we provide for them. And even while they are at school where can the puzzled teachers refer them when the tests books call for collateral reading and supplementary accounts of the topic under discussion in the school room?

The truth of it is, we need a Library. "Unveda" Library, a public library, where we can find the books of the day and the dear old stories of our childhood days.

Let's have one. Let's do like other town and get Carnegie to help us build and run one.

Let the merchants help us with this matter. Let's have an attractive looking building in the central section of the town, either one or two stories high. Let's have that Rest Room for weary shoppers connected with it, kill two birds with one stone. A reading room—a library—a rest room, all under one roof. All free to the public. Supported by the public and public spirited citizens and our friend Carnegie.

We are going to write to Mr. Carnegie and see what he will do for us. Brother Citizen what will you do?

Mrs. W. R. Gilbert has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Tillit in Norfolk. Mrs. Tillit accompanied her home and will spend some time here visiting.
