CIVIL WAR VETERANS DENIED REPRESENTATION

NOT ALLOWED TO ASSIST IN ROOSEVELT RECEPTION, SAYS GENERA LOUD.

New York.—Veterans of the Civil War were denied representation at the reception to former President Roosevelt by the committee in charge according to the statement made tonight by Gen. George B. Loud, the chairman of the memorial committee of the forty-seven local posts at the regular monthly meeting of the New York posts.

"Many persons have asked me recently," he said, "why the Grand Army was not included among the organization in the splendid tribute to Colonel Roosevelt. Now that the incident is closed, I can answer. The reason was that we were ignored—yes, refused representation on the committee, although this was requested.

When the stomach fails to perform its functions, the bowels become deranged, the liver and the kidneys congest causing numerous disease. The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by All Dealers.

EVER WATCHFUL

A Little Care Will Save Many Elizabeth City Readers Future Trouble

Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health; The discharge not excessive or infrequent; Contain no 'brick-dust like' sediment.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

Samuel Jarvis, 224 E. Fearing St. Elizabeth City, N. C. says: "I suffered a great deal from backache, accompanied by a soreness and lameness across my kidneys. I could hardly stoop or lift and at such times sharp pains darted through my loins. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, obliging me to arise several times during the night. After using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Standard Pharmacy, the backache and pains disappeared and I have not had any recurrence since. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

NATIONAL RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS

Representative J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania, and president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association has been an enthusiastic advocate of improving the rivers and harbors of the United States ever since he was a reporter on the Philadelphia Public Ledger years ago. Since he came to Congress he has taken a commanding position in the movement for a comprehensive waterway policy on the part of the government and the formation of the Atlantic Deeper Waterway Association is due largely to his persistency and enthusiasm for the construction of an inside passage from Boston to Beaufort, North Carolina, and thence on to the Florida Keys using the canals, bays and the sounds between Boston and Beaufort thereby shortening the distance some six hundred miles between the points named and at the same time avoiding the perils of Hatteras. At the last session of Congress Mr. Moore endeavored to secure the authorization for an initiation to the International Navigation Congress to meet in the United States but failed in securing such authorization. This session Mr. Moore has had better luck the Rivers and Harbors bill carrying an appropriation for $50,000 for this purpose. Commenting on the provision the hustling member from the Philadelphia district said:

"The coming to the United States of the Permanent International Association of Navigation Congresses will mean much for waterway development in this country. It is well known that we are far behind European countries in inland waterway development. The picked engineers and experts of all nations attend these conferences in the old countries and this will be the first conference of the kind to be held in the United States. The significance of such a convention is apparent when we recall that up to 1907 the United States, with its vast area, had spent only about $550,000,000 on all its waterways and harbors, while France alone, since 1814 had spent more than $700,000,000."

Mr. Moore expressed the earnest hope that the next international conference held in this country would devote itself amongst other things, to a discussion of the limitation of artificial harbor depths. He had just been before the Committee on Foreign Affairs advocating a joint resolution recently offered by him directing the Secretary of State to confer with the maritime nations of the world as to the advisability of reaching an international agreement upon this question.

"It is highly important," he said, "that the nations should come to some understanding as to the depth to which they propose to dredge harbors for the accommodation of a very few big ships. New York alone on the Atlantic coast is prepared to receive vessels of the Mauretania and Lusitania type. Are we to continue appropriating millions of dollars every year to attain for other harbors the artificial depth we are giving New York, or are we to agree all along the coast upon the concentration of international trade and commerce at one point? What one port has another will strive for, and an equal distribution of trade seem to be a fair proposition. This same problem confronts British ports like Liverpool and Southampton. The latter has the advantage over Liverpool and any further dredging, if the construction of freak vessels is to be involved, would operate to put Liverpool out of business.

"But apart from the question of distributing trade, is the very important one of the wasting of public money. Every nation is affected, but the United States—by reason of its area—will undoubtedly be the largest sufferer, because, if foreign ship-owners build vessel of extraordinary draft, the various ports of the United States must be deepened to accommodate them whether they do or do not appear at those ports.

OF DEATH

Why should I fear that ultimate thing—
The Great Release of crown and king?

Why should I dread to take my way,
Through the same shadowed path as they?

But can it be a shadowy road,
Whereon both Youth and Genius strode?

Can it be dark, since Shakespeare trod,
Its unknown length, to meet our God;

Since Shelley, with his valiant youth
Fareforth to learn the final Truth;

Since Milton in his blindness went
With wisdom and a high content.

And Angelo lit with white flame
The pathway when God called his name;

And Dante, seeking Beatrice,
Marched fearlessly down the deer abyss?

Where Homer went, and Socrates,
Browning and Keats and such as these.

Lincoln and Sappho with her song
That echoes still for the vast throng

Nero and strong Napoleon
And calm, courageous Washington.

Great Alexander, Plutarch—names
That swept the world with deathless flames—

I need not fear that I shall fall
When the ord God's great Voice shall call;

For I shall find the roadway bright
When I go forth some quiet night;

Bright since Christ, too dared to go!
—Charles Hanson Towne, in The Bookman.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR

A woman will hardly ever talk scandal unless she has a tongue.

A man can talk himself into believing all the things he can't anybody else.

Nearly every girl would want to elope if she could have a big church wedding, too.

If a man goes out and mows the lawn once a year he acts as if he did it all the time.

No matter how little a man got out of a college education, his son can manage to get less.—New York Press

A PUBLIC BENEFIT

Elizabeth City People Greatly Interested in the Generous Offer of The Standard Drug Company.

The people have already demonstrated that they would rather trust a man who is naturally honest than one who is honest only because he had to be.

The Standard Drug Company have a firmly established reputation for square dealing and sterling honesty. When they told the people that Rexall Remedies are the uprest and most dependable medicines that it is possible for modern science to produce and that they would tell the public what each one of these 300 or more remedies contained, and that they sold Rexall Remedies on their personal guarantee that they would give entire satisfaction or they would not cost the user a single cent, they were believed.

Ever since this announcement the Standard Drug Company has been largely patronized by people buying Rexall Remedies, all of which proves that his sore has the confidence of the people and that honesty is the best policy.

There is no 'cure-all' among the Rexall Remedies. There are different and separate medicines, each one devised for a certain human ailment or a class of ailments closely allied. For instance Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended for the positive relief of stomach irritation, indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia. They are rich in Bimuth-Subnitrate, Pepsin, and Carminatives. They are prepared by special process which perfect and enhance the great medicinal value of these well known medicinal agents. This remedy sells for 25 cents; 50 cents and $1.00 per package. Every one suffering from stomach disorder should try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, inasmuch as they cost nothing if they do not satisfy.

Remember, The Standard Drug Co. is the only store in Elizabeth City where these remedies may be obtained and every one in need of medicine is urged to investigate and take advantage of the frank and generous manner in which they are sold.

THE SAFE WAY

Impresario—Mr. Westchester fell in love with that beautiful soprano Tenor—I thought he hated women. Impresario—He does; it was her voice that charmed him.

Tenor—And did he marry her?
Impresario—No, he had some records made of her songs and then bought a phonograph.—Town Topic.

THE LIMIT

(A Massachusetts judge has sought to enjoin a woman from talking—A judge can do a lot of things that other people can't.

When railroads want to lower rates a judge can say: You shan't!

When the kindly philanthropic trusts would batter prices down. The judge, enshrined upon his bench denies them with a frown.

But all the judges in the land have not the power to balk

The oldest earthly privilege—a woman's right to talk.

Old Daniel was a mighty judge; he handed down a writ Against a bunch of lions fierce, and therefore was not bit,

When Jeffreys sat upon the bench his sentences were short, Consisting of, "You hang my man! No mercy in this court!"

But Daniel would have been devoured and Jeffreys swiftly hung, If either had attempted to enjoin a woman's tongue.

So, Mr. Massachusetts Judge, remember King Canute, Who found that turning back the tide was quite a vain pursuit; Remember old Mahomet who discerned his chance was slim, Of forcing any mountain to get up and come to him,

A judge is great and powerful as any 'neath the sun, But in this world there are some things that simply can't be done.

—James Montague.

ORIGIN OF HOBSON'S CHOICE

"It is a case of Hobson's choice" is a phrase that is used by many people without knowing exactly what it means, says a writer in the Strand Magazine, as a matter of fact, this adage has been handed down to us from the 17th century and had its origin in the eccentricities of one Tobias Hobson. This worthy was a carrier of Cambridge, who died in the year 1830. In addition to his ordinary business he kept a stable and let out horses to the students at the university. He made it an unalterable rule, however, that each animal should have an equal period of work and rest and would never let one out of its turn. Consequently, instead of being allowed to select the steed they most fancied, his customers had to take the one that stood next to the door. If it did not meet with their approval
