Lucilla's Love Letters.

Are there any more of those letters? When her father asked this question, in an awful tone, Lucilla Richmond could not say "no" and dared not say "yes"...

Twenty years before, and she—how a matron old enough to have a daughter who had heard troubles, unfolded them one by one, wondering how it came to pass that forty letters were all so much alike...

There are many young, as well as old people, who will be benefited by reading this charming letter of Sir Matthew Hale to his children: Dear Childrens—I thank God I came well to Farrington this day...

Council to Children.

There are many young, as well as old people, who will be benefited by reading this charming letter of Sir Matthew Hale to his children: Dear Childrens—I thank God I came well to Farrington this day...

They deserve it, and unless it is necessary for their amendment, or for the safety and benefit of others, avoid, in your ordinary communications, not only oaths, but all imprecations and earnest protestations...

Funerary.

There's no special style of engraving engagement rings. A spider's web with a fly in it is a very pretty device. Practical jokes don't go so well on in Arizona...
