GEO K MCNEILL,

These are busy days in the sur-Miss Irms Ayers visited at the rounding country, but the town is not idle by any means It has a reputation to sustain as well as some rebuilding to do. Much of this has been done, however, and in a short time the visitor could not discern that we once had a storm. It only takes a bit of adversity to show a community the absolute necessity of constant thrift and a reasonable amount of economy, and Rowland has shown her ability to stand alone under any conditions not too far beyound the pale of thet ordinary. Her citizens have recognized this fact and a movement is now on fost to launch an enterprise that will enhance its growth to no small extent. Of this we will have more to say later.

A Gloomy Note from Robeson's Grass and Water.

Mr. W. R. Culbreth, of Robeson county, writes as follows to the Progressive Farmer :- Messrs. Editors :- It is so wet down here in old Robeson we can't do anything but wonder and complain, but I think I will send you a crop report. In this flat section we cannot boast of as good a stand of either cotton or corn, as Mr. Mc-Callum of upper Robeson. Our stand of corn is bad and our cotton so grassy we don't know whether we have any cotton or nct. But two things we have got down here-grass and water. Our crops have been and are now all drowned, and even with good season from now on we can't hope for so much improvement as to make 75 per cent of a crop. Lots of our fertilizer has been exhausted and lots of acres will never be cleaned out; for the fact is, we have not labor enough to ever get our crops clean again or catch np our lost time that has passed. I am sure 20,000 bales, will cover the cotton crop of Robeson for 1905, whereas the 1904 crop went over 36,000 hales. The screage was cut to start 15 to 25 par cent from 1004, and the continuous a .... as cut both acreage and bales,'so nobedy can figure cn more than 20,000 bales for 1905 for our claaty.
