Notwithstanding the fact that preachers are dealers in future, they preach against bucket shops.

The Smoot case is to close this week. The Senator from Utah will then he officially informed how many wives he has.

Some people are overlooking the candidacy of Hearst for the Democratic nomination for pres ident, and taking Judge Parker's suggestion seriously.

Brodie L. Duke has obtained a divorce from Alice Webb Duke, to whom he was married several months ago. His honeymoon was cut short by his son Lawrence Duke, who had him com mitted to a sanitarium, alleging insanity. James Buchanan Duke has not been so fortunate as his brother. As yet he has not secured his divorce both men have received more notoriety than they desired, and it is safe to say that neither is delighted over their marriages.

The Robesonian is indebted to Miss Mary Watson for a copy of a pamphlet recently issued from the office of the State superindent of public instruction, en titled, "The Womans' Associa tion for the Betterment of Public School Houses." The booklet contains the constitution and a tire country. The reason for this support is that the manage ment purposes giving a great exposition, and making of the occa sion a national holiday. It is the ter-centennial of the founding of the Colony at Jamestown, This will be the first great expo sition to be held on the ocean and it promises to be one of the most interesting world's fairs in recent years. The grounds are in easy reach of Norfolk, which is surrounded by pleasure resorts and smaller cities and towns. It is to be held in a southern city, at the place where the great nation had its beginning. Thus, everyone will have a friendly interest in it.

DEMANDS THE SAME STANDARD FOR MEN AS FOR WOMEN.

We see that certain towns in North Carolina are making special efforts to close the dens of her whose "house is the way to hell."

We have only words of commendation for the efforts that are made to remove such dens of sin, but we have never been able to see how much worse some women are than the men who fre quent such places. How many men have ever been run out of our towns, on account of their indecent lives and because they visit houses of ill fame?

These poor, weak, sinful women are cast out of society, and at the same time the man who, perchance, caused her downfall and disgrace; the man whose black heart may be covered by fine clothes and possess money, may be received into the best society. Let us have the same standard of morality for our men that we have for our women. There would be few red light districts, if we place the men who visit them on the same social level as the women who are found there.--Catawba County News.

To the Confederate Veterans. Comrades:-

This is to remind you of the meeting of Camp Hoke to be held next Saturday, April 7th. This s a very important meeting and a closed sack, into which also a full attendance is desired. Camp Ryan and Camp Rowland have been invited to attend and we hope for a large and representative meeting of the veterans. It is designed at this meeting to make some arrangements for a more thorough and effective organization of the veteranse of the county, in order to push forward the erection of the Confederate monument and also to arrange in connection with the Daughters of the Confederacy for the proper observance of Memorial day.

ncident and Gomment. On the first page of a North Carolina daily newspaper Tuesday morning, we found among the headlines the following:

'Kills Daughter and Self," 'Mexican Kills Two Women, "Father and Son Shot Down," "Dealt Death to Aged Father," "Fatal Premature Dynamite Explosion in Mine,"

"Six Railroad Laborers Killed in Wyoning."

"Four Trials for Murder in Wake."

'Four New York Firemen Die, "Shot Brother Dead".

And the above is only a part of the record for one day, just what one paper contained. Behind each of these news articles was a tragedy pitiable and saddening. For loved ones many were sorrowing. Ella Wheeler Wilcox never penned truer lines than when she wrote those about "Life's pitiable tragedies." It does seem that every one should endeavor to make the world better and avert so many tragedies.

ARTIFICIAL HEART BEATS.

Hamburg Doctor Demonstrates Pes ability of Taking Organ from Bedy with Safety.

That the heart of a cold-blooded animal, after the death of the animal, may be contracted by elestricity or other irritant, is a foci which is well known to the ordinary person. But that it is possible to take the human heart out of the body and keep it in activity for hours is a fact which has just been demonstrated by Dr. Deneke. of Hamburg. The case is fully reported in the Hamburger Nachrichten.

The experiment was performed by Drs. Deneke and Adam on a woman who had been executed by the guillotine in Hamburg, the criminal being 48 years of age and in good health. The head fell into Bed Springs.

If you need a First-Class, Up-to-date Bed Spring, go to Humphrey & Fillyaw, at the Lumberton Novelty Works, Lumber ton, N. C., Manufacturers of the Celebrated High-Grade Excelsior Folding Bed Spring This Bed Spring possesses many points of superiority over the ordinary Bed Spring sold by the trade. The Excelsior Spring is made of the best Spring Steel Wire, manufactured especially for that purpose. The bed is composed of Springs put rp in independent sections so that lying on one part of the bed does not affect the other. Two or more may occupy the bed at the same time and rest comtortably. They will not sag or mash to one side, and are so constructed as to render them absolutely noiseless

The threatened coal strike be gan yesterday. Last week it was known that the strike had been ordered and already authra cite coal has advanced in price from 50 to 75 cents on the ton. The total nnmber of men involved in the strike is more than half million. All efforts to arrive at an agreement have ended in failure. Few strikes have ever been so far reaching and sweeping in its effect as this one. Half a million men are out of employment, the coal mining is at a stand still, and coal consumers are forced to pay greatly advanced prices. Cannot some means be devised bs which such calamities can be averted?

The postoffice department is getting after the rural free delivery routes and unless some work is done by the people living along the routes some of them will no doubt be discontinued. Beginning with yesterday, the number of pieces of mail carried during the month is to be counted. Those routes that do not have 2,000 pieces of mail during this month stand a chance of being discontinued. To the patrons of the rural free deliveries we would suggest that they write as many letters and take as many papers as they possibly can this month. It would be too bad for any of the rural routes in Robeson county to be cut off by Uncle Sam.

RED SPRINGS INTERESTED. To the Editor:

We are much interested in John Blue's railroad and of course want it by this place. By coming across from Raeford to Bowmore, a distance of about five miles, and connecting with the Messrs. Williams' road, and then on to Lumberton, it would give the upper end of the county great relief in the matter of attending courts, and put to rest the longtalked new county movement. This proposed road would then be on a direct line of a proposed road from Salisbury to Southporth, which has been frequently D. P. MCEACHERN. agitated. Red Springs, March 30.

At 8:12 a. m. the body was taken into a cell of the prison. stripped, and the thorax opened; there were still evident weak contractions of the single portions of the heart, the movements of the auricles being tolerably regular. while the contraction of the left ventricle was hardly distinguishable. The heart was taken from the body at 8:15, and the coronary artery was then washed thoroughly with a physiological solution of salt water at 35 degrees C., until the fluid coming from the heart was colorless. The heart was now completely at rest-all movement had ceased. Then the organ was washed with a Lochesche solution, which produced a well coordinated contraction of the whole heart; at 8:32 in place of the Lockesche solution there was passed into the heart the blood freed from its fiber, filtered and warmed. Immediately there took place an unusually powerful and regular contraction of all portions of the heart.

After the regular beating of the heart had continued for some time a little air balloon was passed into the pulmonary yeins in the left auricle, and then. through the mitral valves into the left ventricle. Two hours after the execution the heart commenced to palpitate, apparently in consequence of the rise in temperature and the pressure used to force the blood through the organ. The supply of fluid was then shut off, but after a half hour again passed into the heart, at which dividual names. time the organ again took up its. regular movement. The contractions, however, gradually became less, and at 11:03 a. m. the movement ceased. But it had been possible to keep an isolated hear in movement for a period of three hours after taking it from the body.
