CIGARETTE SMOKING.

The Norfolk and Western railroad has issued orders prohibiting its employes from smoking cigarettes and they will have to cut out cigarettes or hunt them another job.

There are differences of opinion as to whether the use of cigarettes hurts one's health or not. That depends on several things.

We have never been able to understand the inconsistency of the temperance forces in their attacks. We never hear any of our temperance societies speak out against the use of cigarettes.

Orison Marden, writing along this line in Success Magazine says: "I leave it to others to discuss the moral side of cigarette smoking."

The whole tendency of the cigarette nicotine poison in the youth is to arrest development. It is fatal to all normal functions.

A chemist, not long since, took the tobacco used in the average cigarette and soaked it in several teaspoonfuls of water and then injected a portion of it under the skin of a cat.

Cigarette smoking is no longer simply a moral question. The great business world has taken it up as a deadly enemy of advancement, of achievement.

on the prohibited list. In Detroit alone sixty nine merchants have agreed not to employ the cigarette user. In Chicago Montgomery, Ward and Company, Hibbard, Spencer and Bartlett, and some of the other large concerns have prohibited cigarette smoking among all employes under eighteen years of age.

The superintendent of the Lindell Street Railway, of St. Louis, says: "Under no circumstances will I hire a man who smokes cigarettes. He is of dangerous on the front of a motor as a man who drinks. In fact, he is more dangerous; his nerves are apt to give way at any moment."

The Red Springs Citizens says: "The county convention is yet a long way off, and there are several reasons why people should not be too eager to pledge their support to any candidate."

In commending the above the Scottish Chief, Maxton, says: "We have known of people's making pledges that they regretted. Like an honest jurymen that you are, take the claims of each candidate and consider them carefully, without making an irrevocable promise, and then when time comes for nominations, vote for the man your best judgment says you should support, and the man who is honest, and capable of rendering his constituents the best service."

Certainly a man ought not to pledge his vote so far ahead. It is plenty time when all entries to the race are made. If you pledge to soon you may want to change for good reason.

The Southern Bell Telephone Co. has announced that it will spend a considerable amount of money in erecting a building at Statesville and will install a 'phone system there.

Board of Health Bulletin.

The May bulletin of the North Carolina board of health shows a death rate per 1,000 on a temporary annual basis, of 16.1 white; 25.2 colored, and total of 19.6 per cent. The majority of 20 counties reporting to the board show that of a total of 265 deaths in the State a difference of only one in white and colored, or 133 whites and 132 colored, of adults, while under five years and reckoning for still-born cases, which were five in number, there were 16 whites and 44 colored.

The president of the board is especially desirous of better informing the people in general on the subject of tuberculosis. This he thinks could be best and most practically brought about by the employment of the services of a regular corps, whose work should be so applied.

LITTLE INCIDENTS.

"I don't believe it is all together the quantity a person eats or what he eats that hurts but other things are to be considered," remarked the observant man. "Take myself, for instance. I was a guest of a hotel the other day where I know they have something good to eat. When dinner time came I had an appetite right and when I entered the dining room it came with greater force. The table I was assigned was served by the sorriest waiter I ever saw. This was the first blow at my appetite. I wondered if the head-waiter knew it when he put me there. I felt an indignation that I did not dare express. About the time I did get something to eat, with my appetite already very much impaired, a little fellow sat down at the opposite end of the table. He was just starting out. The first thing he did was to tip the waiter. Merit did not count but he had heard of tipping the waiter and thought it the thing to do. The waiter evidently had a conscience and took the tip about like he would a neighbor's sheep. He knew it did not belong to him. It is this kind that the waiters find easy-meat. This was disgust number two to my appetite. I hadn't recovered from that until another diner was seated next to me. He began snorting about there being nothing fit to eat. I bet it was the first square meal he had ever set down to. This was more than my appetite could stand and I left the table. If I had eaten wind under such circumstances, would have suffered from indigestion."

And probably his conclusion is about right for a person of that disposition.

Did you ever see a fellow with so much vanity that it was a source of apparent pain to him. I have. I was on the train the other day with Mr. Vanity himself. He was as proud as a peacock. He had to move his seat three times before he was the least bit contented. At last he got where he thought he could work his scheme best. Even every casual glance of a lady passenger he took as meant for him. His idea was not to flirt but to make a mash on the ladies. Finally deciding on two pretty victims he went in to attract their attention. Everything in the way of letters that were as old as the hills were taken out and looked through. The time the ladies looked at him he was always busy with his papers and apparently did not see them. This growing old something else was tried. A new piece of gum would take the place of the old, which he would throw with some vim against the floor. An unlighted cigar would next do time in his mouth, chewing it from one corner of his mouth to the other but always careful not to let the ladies see him looking at them. Such vanity is cheap and common, and the one who indulges therein impresses no one as much as himself.

Season Items.

We are having nice showers in this section.

Crops are looking fine, though not as good as we thought they would be at this time.

Mr. A. S. Allen killed a rattlesnake with twelve rattles.

The skidders are shut down on account of water.

FARMERS' CAMPAIGN.

Opens at Raft Swamp July 26th. Correspondence of The Robesonian.

At a meeting of the Cotton Growers of Robeson county, held at Lumberton Monday, it was agreed to devote a month to the development of the association. To this end a series of picnics has been decided upon as follows. Raft Swamp, Thursday, July 26th; Maxton, Thursday, August 2nd; Antioch, Blue Springs township, Saturday, August 4th; Alfordville, Saturday, August 11th; Lumber Bridge, Saturday, August 18th; Ten Mile Church, Friday, August 24th.

Speakers will be secured for these occasions and the days are to be devoted to recreation and feasting. The people of each community are urged to bear the dates in mind and make such preparations as will make each occasion a memorable one.

Every cotton grower in the county should be a member, and not only should the growers, but the business men too. The success of the association means the success of all. True, Robeson county is only a small part of the cotton growing area, but there is no telling the extent of the influence of a really enthusiastic and efficient organization here. We must do well our part and, doing this, we may trust the South as a whole to seize the opportunity for financial independence that is today within its grasp.

Jno. E. Carlyle, County Organizer. R. W. Livermore, President.

Help! Help! I'm Falling

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! This was because Ayer's Hair Vigor is a regular hair medicine. Falling hair is caused by a germ, and this medicine completely destroys these germs. Then the healthy scalp gives rich, healthy hair.
