MR. ED. McRAE DEAD.

Died Friday at His Home in Maxton—Was One of Town's Most Prominent Citizens—Personal Notes.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.

The death of Mr. Ed. McRae occurred here on Friday morning about 5 o'clock. When Mr. McRae retired the night before he was feeling about as well as usual complaining of only a headache. His loud breathing just before expiring awakened his young son, who was sleeping with him; he called his mother but when they reach his bedside he breathed his last. Dr. Kirkpatrick was called in at once but as stated above he died as soon as his wife and son reached his bedside.

Mr. McRae was about 53 years of age and was one of Maxton's most prominent citizens. He is survived by a wife, 4 daughters, one son and a brother.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence Saturday morning by Dr. H. G. Hill and the interment at Oakwood Cemetery.

Mr. McRae will be surely missed in Maxton and his sudden and so unexpected death was indeed a shock to our citizens.

Miss Mattie Brown McLean, of the Southern Presbyterian College at Red Springs, spent several days here recently with relatives.

Rev. Wm. Black, of Davidson, spent Friday night here with his son, F. L. Black, Esq.

Mrs. S. B. McLean leaves Saturday night for Camden, S. C., where she will visit her brother, Mr. F. M. Wooten.

Mr. G. S. McKenzie, representing The Robesonian, was in town Saturday.

Mr. M. G. McKenzie, County Treasurer, came up from Lumberton Saturday to attend the funeral of Mr. E. McRae.

Mr. D. B. Kimball, of Portsmouth, Va., was here Saturday. Maxton, N. C., Nov. 26th.

KINGSDALE NEWS LETTER.

Lumber Company Sharing in Prosperity of Country—Personal Mention.

Correspondence of The Robesonian.

The Rev. Mr. Jackson has been conducting services nightly during this week, which were very well attended.

Mr. Fos Ashley, of Boardman, was here last Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Hill.

Mr. R. M. Ballard spent Wednesday evening and night in Lumberton, as usual.

Mr. Worth Pope, who has been employed in the Kingsdale Lumber Company store for the past month or so, has returned to his home at Dunn.

Mrs. Edmund, of Lumberton, was here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Parker, last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Parker have moved to Lumberton.

Some of our fellows went hunting Wednesday night and report good sport. Several coons and possums were bagged. Have not heard of as much bird hunting as is usual this time of the year.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bullard died last Saturday and was buried Sunday. This family has had a prolonged spell of sickness, but we are glad to hear the others are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Duke and their daughter, Miss Mabel, went to Lumberton today.

The Kingsdale Lumber Co. seems to be enjoying the prosperity which is general throughout the country. The mill is making good time and also some heavy shipments. More shipments could be made if sufficient cars could be obtained. This seems to be the trouble everywhere now.

We understand the turpentine plant here will soon begin operating on wood as well as utilizing the refuse from the saw mill. Additional machinery has been ordered and it is thought that a large business will be done in this line. The output is expected to be 2 or 3 barrels daily. Kingsdale, N. C., Nov. 24th.

President Moore Speaks to Cotton Growers.

President C. C. Moore, of the State Cotton Grower's Association, gave a very interesting and profitable talk before a fairly large audience at the court house Friday morning.

President Moore pointed out to the planters the strength they could have, providing the growers would to more extent be governed by the rules of the said association, but he found the North Carolina growers lacking in this respect, and furthermore were far behind the rest of the cotton States who supported their association and had been benefitted by doing the same.

He also pointed out the fatal mistake they had made in selling their cotton at 9 cents when they could have received 11 and 12 cents and the manufacturers were willing to pay the price given, but still they were going to take advantage of all cotton they could get at the 9 cents price, as they considered that a matter of business rather than speculation. President Moore says in such an instance he did not blame the manufacturers, but it was the fault of the grower, as they became scared from the many newspaper quotations from Wall Street. Among his other remarks, he told how the British manufacturers had sent men all through the South to investigate for themselves as to what they could buy America for and to reduce the price and try to keep it at a standard of 9 cents, but the association, holding firm, had made them pay 10 cents, and perhaps could have gotten 11, which rightly belonged to them.

In conclusion, President Moore made an earnest appeal for the North Carolina growers to stand firm and make this organization stronger, for the good of themselves if for no other.

Work on National Mill Progressing.

The National Cotton Mill about two miles from Lumberton, is being rapidly completed and efforts are being made to have the same ready by the beginning of the new year.

It is a large one-story brick building and will contain all the modern and up-to-date machinery and when put in operation will be another great facility to our city.

At present the work consists of installing the machinery and finishing the wood work on the inside. We learn the operators are now buying their cotton to gin with and several bales are now on the grounds.

Perhaps the best features of the new plant is the light and ventilation system. The sky lights are so arranged that there will be equal rays in all parts of the spinning room, while the woodwork of the interior is painted a dull white, so the sun will glitter on the eyes of the workers. The exceedingly large windows are placed so that ventilation can come from any side of the building, besides the forced draught that can be gotten through the sky lights.

When the new mill is in running order we will have another valuable addition to our city, which will make it grow. In connection with the new enterprise there are several new and comfortable dwelling houses for the employes, besides a first-class merchandise store.

Mr. Carlyle Appointed Agent.

Mr. J. E. Carlyle has been appointed by the Cotton Association to go into the field and collect the bale tax, and solicit funds from every person willing to contribute for the purpose of putting the association in shape to work. The association is expecting to see cotton go up higher and ask the farmers not to rush their cotton on the market too fast. A few baies about March will mean money and when you see Carlyle coming you may know what he is after. We want this money and we need it and must have it. All the other States and counties are doing their part and we must do our part and we have all reason to believe we will get it when we go after it.

Yours Truly,

GEO. B. McLEOD, )
W. S. JOHNSON, ) Committee.
J. E. CARLYLE, )
C. C. MOORE, Acting Pres.

With Our Advertisers.

J. B. Pitman, administrator of J. W. Raybon, publishes a notice of sale.

That interesting ad. that John T. Biggs & Co. has been telling you to watch out for is out in this issue. Read it.

In our advertising columns today will be found the advertisement of Geo. O. Gaylord, of Wilmington. In this particular ad. is mentioned headlight overalls and many other things. Mr. Gaylord runs about the largest department store in the city of Wilmington. Besides carrying a complete line at all times he is now getting in shapes to make Santa Claus' headquarters in his store. Mr. Gaylord's store is in fact a department store and it might as truly be said that it is a systematic store, for everything has a place and everything is in that place. In addition to good prices at all times and on all things Mr. Gaylord gives premiums on sales amounting to so much. To out of town buyers he gives instead of the premium the price of the railroad fare for certain distances. Write him or call on him for particulars.

Read and give your special attention to W. J. Prevatt's ad. and you will be interested. It means a continuation of his big sale for awhile.

Dr. N. A. Thompson will pay cash for 500 chickens delivered at his sanatorium.

J. E. Britt offers a two-horse farm for rent.
