Receiver Edwards Will Take an Appeal.

Special, 11th., to Chas. Oversee.

In United States Circuit Court January 18th, Judge Pritchard signed a final decree in the matter of the Union Trust Company, Robert L. Forest et al complainants against the Southern Saw Mills & Lumber Co., defendants, and also the Carolina Northern Railroad Company against the Southern Saw Mills and Lumber Company. The two cases were consolidated some time ago. The decree was signed upon the report of Special Master H. F. Seawell.

The litigation has been in the courts for the past two years or more. It was a long continued suit with many connecting interests. The property was placed in the hands of a receiver in December, 1902, in a suit brought by the Carolina Northern Railroad Company. The mortgage bondholders, however, did not appear in the suit. W. J. Edwards was appointed receiver and remained in charge two years. In October, 1905, the bondholders brought suit to foreclose, and asked for the removal of the receiver.

In Judge Pritchard's decree the cost of the above proceedings, and other handings were placed upon Receiver Edwards.

Mr. Edwards has engaged able counsel and will appeal the case to the Appellate Court in Richmond, and endeavor to get the handings set aside. Receiver Edwards' report on file in court show a successful operation of the property. The special master's report shows that Receiver Edwards turned over to his successor accounts receivable and lumber to the amount of $15,893.61 to apply against any debts of the company, and the same report shows that he added new property in way of buildings and machinery which was paid for out of the earnings of the company and standing timber for which cash was paid to the extent of more than 12,000,000 feet, amounted to $20,249.07. In addition to this there was paid by him in cash from the earnings of the company $2,827.16 in way of prior claims, precedent from this payment was taken from receiver's certificate given by the court in similar payments. The findings of the court are chiefly made up of these prior claims.

The court's accountant in auditing the books of the receiver found the accounts in good shape and a balance of $4.51 in Mr. Edward's favor.

KNEW DOLLY MADISON.

Daughter of Chief of Cherokees Visited White House Often—Son a Postmaster in Indian Territory.

Musk gee (T. Car. to the Greensboro News.

Mrs. M. J. Ross, mother of Postmaster Ross, of Fort Gibson and who lives at that place, has just passed her seventy-ninth year, and is in fine health. Mrs. Ross is perhaps the most distinguished Cherokee woman now living, and comes of good Cherokee and Scotch lineage. She was born in Georgia, and came here when a child. Her father was Louis Ross, brother of John Ross, unquestionably the most noted chief of the Cherokees, having ruled over forty years. Mrs. Ross has seen John Howard Payne, author of "Home Sweet Home," at her father's house.

Mrs. Ross was educated in the State of Pennsylvania, and was frequently in Washington with her father and Chief Ross. While in Washington she was a welcome visitor at the White House, and was a favorite with "Dolly Madison," wife of President Madison, who was perhaps the most distinguished mistress of the White House. Mrs. Ross was acquainted with Jeff Davis, afterward president of the southern confederacy, when he first came to Fort Gibson, a young lieutenant, and also with Betty Taylor, daughter of General Taylor, who were visitors at her home, and she has frequently seen the two sitting before the big fireplace in the Sanders' home in Fort Gibson, which house is still standing.

Mrs. Ross is a brilliant conversationalist, and never tires of relating incidents in her early life among the Cherokees, when Fort Gibson was the western outpost of the government. She was acquainted with the wife of Sequoyah, the "American Cadmus," and perhaps the greatest of all Indians.

She is very retiring in disposition, seldom goes abroad, and has never allowed her pictures to be published. Her husband, W. P. Ross, established the Cherokee Advocate in 1844, a weekly paper devoted to the interest of the Cherokee Indians, and especially those who do not speak English, the paper being printed half in the Cherokee language and the other half in English.

Her father was among the greatest and best Cherokees, and was elected chief of the nation after the death of his brother John Ross.

IGNORANT OF THE LAW.

Bigamist Boards With First Wife, Who Acts as Bridal Maid to Second Wife.

New York Special to Greensboro Industrial News.

Declaring that he was utterly ignorant of the laws relating to marriage and bigamy, William E. Blauvelt pleaded guilty to having two wives in the county court of Brooklyn. According to his remarkable story, he voluntarily surrendered his first wife to another man because he loved her so much that he would not stand in the way of her happiness, and she, he declared, acted as a bridesmaid at the ceremony that united him to his second choice for a helpmate.

The innocent victim of this arrangement is Miss Florence E. Fitzgerald, who, with her mother, lives at Brooklyn, and who brought the complaint against her husband. She went to the Raymond street jail with her attorney after Blauvelt had pleaded guilty and personally served him with the papers that began an action for the annulment of her marriage.

In April, 1905, Blauvelt wedded Sarah A. Smith at her home in the Avenue Center, E. 4. A year later they separated, after he gave her a paper which he claimed was a divorce. He then assisted her in carrying out her wish to become Mrs. Grover C. Cammer on March 8, 1906. On May 10 of the same year he married Miss Fitzgerald, and wife No. 1 was bridesmaid, while her new husband was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Cammer took a house at Brooklyn, after her last marriage, and Blauvelt and wife No. 2 boarded with them. Then the four led a happy existence until the mother of No. 2 began to ask questions. This had the effect of causing Blauvelt to desert his new wife.

This man bought a supply of tobacco without acquainting himself with the distinctive taste of SCHNAPPS Tobacco, which has the cheering qualities that gratify his desire to chew, and at less expense than cheap tobacco.

SCHNAPPS has been advertised in this paper so that every chewer has had an opportunity to get acquainted with the facts and know that drugs are not used to produce the cheering quality found in the famous Piedmont country fire-cured tobacco, and that SCHNAPPS is what he ought to chew. Still there are chewers who accept other and cheaper tobaccos that do not give the same pleasure.

Some say they get a taste of the real thing when they chew SCHNAPPS long enough to get the real feeling themselves.

SCHNAPPS is sold everywhere in 5 cent packages. Buy it. Be satisfied.
