Chocolate Party.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was a Chocolate Party, given by Mr. Mike Caldwell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Caldwell Friday evening from 8:30 to 11:30. The beautiful home was brilliantly lighted and at the appointed hour the parlor and hall were filled with vivacious guests, their lively conversation and careless laughter resounding through the house, mingling harmoniously with the instrumental music which was furnished during the evening.

Punch was served in the parlor by Little Misses Louise Townsend, Marie Linkhaw and Mary Lee Caldwell, three little nieces of the host, who were charmingly attired for the occasion proved most attractive little waiters. Two contests were the source of much study and amusement. The first, a bottle containing peas; the number to be guessed. In this Miss Jessie Lennon guessed most accurately, there being 58 peas in the bottle. Mr. F. P. Gray was awarded the booby. Following this the couples were paired off for supper by drawing like numbers. Adjourning to the spacious dining room, the guests gathered about a table laden with chocolate in every form to be thought of, all kinds of delicious fruit, pickles, olives, sandwiches, cakes etc. The table was tastily decorated and arranged.

Returning to the parlor, paper, with pencil attached, were given each couple, who were to guess the twenty questions contained, each representing a kind of nut. Miss Elizabeth Woodward was the fortunate winner, and Mr. A. P. McAllister was recipient of the prize for consolation. Mr. Jas. D. Proctor, with a few well-chosen and suitable remarks gracefully presented the prizes, which were as follows: Miss Jessie Lennon received a handsome bead necklace, Mr Gray, a package of Blue-Jay corn plasters; Miss Woodward a large box of Huyler's candy, and Mr. McAllister a box of rouge.

Mr. Caldwell is an ideal host and gave his friends an evening of rare pleasure, who when the midnight hour approached and warned them that time is fleeting, were loath to depart. They all feel deeply indebted to their host and Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell for one of the most pleasant evenings of their lives.

Those who attended were Misses Flora Neil McMillan, Pearle Floyd, Elizabeth Woodward; Mary Pope, Dora Smith, Mary McNeill, Jessie Lennon, Dottie Boone, Mattie Lee Pitman and Alma Rancke. Messrs. D. D. French, Walter Toon, Jas. D. Proctor, A. P. McAllister, G. Ed. Rancke, Dennis Biggs, S. F. Caldwell, D. Page, Lloyd Townsend, E. B. McMillan and Mike Caldwell.

Picnic Dinner.

The crowd will be so large at the unveiling of the Confederate Monument on next Friday, that it will be impossible for the people of Lumberton to furnish free dinner to all, therefore it has been decided to furnish free dinner only to old Veterans and the military. The hotels and board-houses will do their best to provide dinner for all who care to take their dinner at these places. It has been suggested however, that the people coming from the surrounding country bring dinner with them and that in this way, an old fashioned picnic dinner may be enjoyed.
